Novel Plea of an Attorney in a Tax-

Title Case.

tax title case, says that Atwood, as a Democratic politician, had long been the target for Colonel Anthony's criticism, but was called on to try his case because Senator Baker, who was Colonel Anthonys' attorney, was in Washington. Atwood's eloquent plea about the case is that your honor can-this suit. From the standpoint of personal merit, nother of them ought to win. Neither of them came into court with clean hands, and I have doubts about their feet. But Anthony has paid the taxes for many years on the prop-novelty. But since he is playing this part he ought to be encouraged in it by being permitted to win this suit.

FOREST CITY.

By the unanimous vote of the members and congregation of the First Baptist church, of which Rev. J. L. Williams is pastor, petitions will be sent from here to the congress of the United States for the passage of the following measures: 1. To prohibit the sale of alcoholic liquors in all government buildings, affecting not only the government buildings in the District of Columbia, but soldiers' homes, "canteens" at army posts, emigrant stations, etc. 2. An anti-cigarette bill to forbid cigarettes going into a state in orig-inal packages under the head of the cially at winter horse racing, which is conducted mainly in the interest of pool rooms which are operated not only where the races are, but in states where such gambling is prohibited, and, by having bets telegraphed to another state, the unlawful act is ostensibly performed there, and thus the state law is evaded.

4. "The age of protection bill." Mrs. Julius Freedman and daughter, MRS. GABLE, GRADUATED MIDWIFE, I518 Washburn street, Scranton. En-gagements solicited. Rooms and best attendance for a limited number of pa-Rosa, are in New York to attend the wedding of Mrs. Freedman's sister. A dancing class has been formed here vith a Carbondale man named Collins for instructor. The class meets each Friday evening in the Maennerchor hall

At the last meeting of the Forest City Epworth league a reading circle was organized and it was determined to establish a circulating library for the use of the members. Anyone wishing to donate books or to help in any other way to start the library can do so through Rev. G. B. Stone, D. Stanley Evans or Mame J. Brown. The reading circle will meet next Tuesday evening at the Methodist parsonage The subject of the sermon to be delivered by Rev. G. B. Stone, at the Methodist church, on Sunday morning next, will be: "Is the Methodist Church

THE MARKETS.

New York, March 24 .-- The stock market today was alternatively feverish and stagnant, closing at the lowest with the losses confined to fractions in the railways, but ranging from 1 to 3 points elsewhere. The Cuban situation was the all-important factor today as it has been for a long time in the market's fluctuations. Prices ralled sharply at the opening on the assumption that there would be more delay in dealing with the Cuban question The change of attitude of foreign fin-anciers towards American securities was used by the bears to hammer the international shares at frequent intervals. The pressure against St. Paul, New York Central, Louisville and Union Pacific preferred resulted in recessions of over a point as compared with the high prices established in recent trading. The weakness of Spanish fours abroad did not escape observation as it was coupled with the announcement that the Spanish torpedo flotilla was proceeding westward. Washington selling emphasized the local speculators' interpretation of the activity in the navy department and the declaration in the senate by a recent observer of the conditions in Cuba that the horrors there were impossible of exaggeration and called for intervention, was not without effect. These things taken collectively checked the momentary bidding up of prices which followed the senate's determination to adjourn until Monday. Covering of shorts from time to time hardened the market's tone, but this in each instance failed to last. The selling movement in the final hour brought about the lowest level of the day. The total sales of stocks were 323,500 shares, 82% I once heard a preacher who knew a great deal more about theology than he 2855 did about grammar read a passage of 21/74 Scripture to his audience, and then say "Brethren and sisters, the whole gospel of Christ is all squz up in that one little text." A quarter of a century ago I was teaching school in the hill country (Kentucky. One of my favorite pupils a bright 8-year-old kid, named Geor Mosely-moved with his father's fan to Vernon county, Missouri, When t reached St. Louis and George's eyes grew large with wonder of gazing for the first time upon the Father of for the first time upon the Father Waters, he wrote me a letter. His de-20 80 scription of that majestic stream was "squz up" into this one terse, aH graphic and pregnant sentence: "The Mississippi is a big river!" That de-80 scription sank deep into my memory. It is perfect. Addition would not augment its force. Subtraction, even in the estimation of a hair, would be its ruln. So I could this night respond to the 45 toest "The United States of America" properly, adequately and comprehensively by adopting the laconic style of my pupil and simply saying "The United States of America is a big country," which would be good grammar from a Republican standpoint; or. The United States of America are a big country," which would be correct according to the Democratic standard -blg in area, big in wealth, big in population, big in achievement, big in ambition, big in glory, big in the beneficence of its institutions, big in possibilities, There is one Irish-American or American-Irishman for whom I have the intensest admiration-John Lawrence Sullivan, the Prince of Bruisers. Not so much because with his invincible fist he knocked out all comers until he Po tackled John Barleycorn, whom no man can conquer, but because, when, at the meridian of his fame, he was introduced to his Royal and Imperial Highness, Albert Edward, Prince of Wales, and was told to take his hat off in that august presence, animated by the spirit of '76, he stoutly refused and resolutely kept his beaver on his head, saying bluntly: "I am as eminent in my profession as the Prince is in his"-thereby preaching, in his crude way, the doc trine of human equality. Incomparable Sully! I wish I could infuse his manly spirit into the timorous souls of Americans who advocate the doctrine of "peace at any price," who make far greater professions of ardent love of country.

The constant titillation of the salivary organs kept up by chewing this Lorses, and almost in the same prostuff not only causes a steady drain of saliva, which is most wasteful, but, what is more serious still, in consepuence of the frequently repeated stimulation to which these organs are thus exposed, they fail to respond to the the moisture, has few mules, but in normal excitation which ought to rouse them to action when food is taken. A constant dribble of salivary secretion a difference of a couple of hundred is sufstituted for the healthy flow which should occur only at meal times. The glands fall to respond to any stimulant less potent than the peppermint, anise seed or the constituents found in chewing gum, and the more insipid foods, such as bread and other starchy compounds, pass into the stomach unchanged. This is disturbing to digestion at its very commencement, anl it is extremely probable that the indigestion for starchy substances, which is so commonly met with at the present day, is largely due to the waste of saliva caused by smoking and by the constant chewing of various substances which is going on all around. The chewing of gum is thus not only a nasty clining. habit, but is provocative of lil health cows, 16,000,000; sheep, 38.000,000; swine, 39.000.000. Horses, cows, oxen and swin, and especially horses, decreased below the totals of last year and the year before. The number of sheep and mules increased, and, in proportion to the number of them, mules increased more rapidly than any other. There are now 1,000,000 fewer horses in this country than there were two years ago and the number is steadily declining in consequence of the use of electricity on street railroads, the popularity of bicycles and motor carriages, and the superior endurance and smaller cost of maintenance of mules. The American mule has been criticised adversely by essayists, humorists, persons considering themselves humorists, and superficial observers of American life. manners, and customs, but it is a fact, especially in the states of the South and Southwest, that the American mule is an important factor in agricultural development. He is a willing beast, cheaply maintained, never likely to run away, not subject to the ail-ments and disabilities which unfit the horse for much hard service, and better able to stand the climatic condi-There are four states in which mules states are represented largely by this farm animal. South Carolina has more mules than horses by nearly 50 per cent. Georgia has more mules than portion. The average value of a horse on a farm in Georgia is $48; the average value of a mule is $62; and cows are sold for $20. Florida, possibly on account of the flatness of the state and Alabama the number of mules and of horses is almost identical; there is only between the two in the state, with 130,-000 of each. In the Western states, and particularly in the Northwest, mules are not numerous, being used principally in mines. Recently an ingenious inventor has devised a plan for doing away with this employment of mules by substituting an electric appliance for the cartage of ore. In California, and especially in southern California, in agricultural operations the number of mules is considerable, and it is, moreover, increasing. At the begin ning of 1868 there were only 850,000 mules in the United States. In 1880 there were 1,700,000. Since 1893 the number of horses has been steadily de
