There will be a few changes on the coal branches, especially among the minor officials. There will be a number of removals.
"The company has decaded on a policy for a year. After the unnecessary ofthe public must know that a railroad, like any other corporation, must make these prunings—then the public will be given to understand that bedrock has een reached and a permanent improvement will result.

"The Lehigh Valley company is virtually interested in the prosperity of burg, and possibly between Milford and every town and every person along its Scranton over the bills of Pike. lines. It cannot be expected to do business at a loss and it cannot be expected to keep employes who have outgrown their usefulness or who are unsurances, all in a quiet way, that it was only a question of a few years before a steam railroad would penetrate grown their usefulness or who are un-able to meet the changed business con-this section, but as so many railroad ditions. The railroad of today is no more like the railroad of twenty years ago than the newspaper of today is like that of the war-time paper."

Into this pit 19,000 carloads of gravel-about 109,000 tons -and 500 hundred large hemiock trees, ranches and all were thrown in without having any perceptible affect toward forming a bottom on which a new road-ed could be founded. "Then steps were taken by the con-tractors to find out the depth of the remarkable sink hole. Four piles, each 40 feet long, were driven down, one on top of the other, before solid bottom was reached, showing the depth of the un-stable spot to be 16) feet. This fact established, a row of piles was driven, in the manner of test piles, on both sides of the space required for the roadbed ey were driven close together, so close that the work required nearly $.000 of them. These prevented the escape of anything dumped into the inclosure.

"For four months gravel, rocks and forest trees, entire, were thrown into the pit before the all-absorbing morass was overcome. Acres of hemlock forest were levelled to supply the trees, of which 500 from 50 to 100 feet high, and with a spread of branches sometimes of 25 feet, were used. An adjacent gravel hill, 50 feet high and covering four acres. was levelled to obtain material for build-ing up this remarkable roadbed, and rocks weighing many tons each were tumbled into the depths before a solid way was made across it. It is doubtful if in the history of railroad construction just such a task ever confronted a con-

Calvin Brodhead, an expert railway engineer, offers to build and operate a steam road between Stroudsburg and Bushkill if the right of way is given free of charge or without any expense whatever to him, says the Milford, Pa. Dispatch. This is a flattering inducement and ought to meet with the approval of all who will be benefited in that section. As time advances, the prospects of a railroad through the Delaware valley come more rosy and Editor Hart, of the Dispatch, confidently believes that before the dawn of the twentieth century the steam cars will be in opera-

Wall Street Review. New York, March 26.—The feverishness f the foreign markets and the following New York, March 26.—The feverishness of the foreign markets and the fairy tale that Spain had declared war which was eleculated about the Stock exchange today gave momentum to the downhill movement. Fairly large margins were swept away and large concessions on values ensued on every considerable offering. Sugar, Manhattan and Metropolitan Street Raliway were hammered and slumped about 2 points, Other stocks were sharply depressed. Gradually the market hardened on support given the Grangers and scalped buying of the specialties. A quarter of an hour after the opening the manifest intention of large interests to sustain the list led traders to cover enormous short lines and prices bounded upwards, the short frantically bidding against each other. After an hour's trading prices were well above yesterday's close, business increased with advance and shares were buoyant to the close, which was generally at the best prices. The net improvements approximate 2 points in the Grangers and exceed 1 per cent, in the leading internstional favorites. Total sales were 27,600 shares.

Chicago, March 26.—Grain quotations were in the up grade during the greater part of today's session. Belated shorts wer forced to cover and professional tradwere in the up grade during the greater part of today's session. Belated shorts wer forced to cover and professional traders generally were working for a raily. Wheat for July delivery closed at an advance of 'sale. May unchanged; May corn 'salac, and May oats 'se, higher; pork declined 7½al0e.; lard and ribs 'se, each. The wheat market at the opening today gave some evidence of having entered upon a period of convalescence from its sickness of the several days past. July opened 'sal½c, higher and although there were plenty of selling orders around that figure, the lowest price of the session was made at the opening. Liverpool reported an advance of 'sal½c, the latter in March wheat notwithstanding yesterday's decline here. Injurious wheat preciously repirted from California no impreciable movement only a slight rainfall being reported. The local receipts were 195 cars compared with only seven last year. Eighty-two cars of today's inspection were contract, the balance being transfers from irregular warehouse. Today's addition to the k cal contract stocks of 231,000 bushels makes a total increase for the week of $22,000 bushels. ZUNI CUISINE AND TABLE MAN-

The code of differential politeness in the home, as taught by the matron of the casa, is a very definite and exacting one. No matter how hunger-panged a family may be, it will not dine until all be pres ent or their absence accounted for; and as soon as one has finished eating, all desist. But it is also an unpardonable breach of etiquette if any one is so badly mannered as to stop at his eating while any other has his hunger still unsatis-

The Zuni cuisine is a varied one, and a dinner, as placed on the floor before a family and its guests, will sometimes number a dozen plates, almost any one of which is a puzzle to a stranger. Corn, chiles, meats and vegetables are the main compounding ingredients of most of the dishes, and the results are generally satisfactory, although sometimes surprising to an alien. The greatest delicacy in all the list, according to native judgment, is made of stuffed and roasted sheeps' intestines, with their original and halfdigested contents still remaining un-drawn. A yard or more of the entrails of an animal, with added bits of suct, are wound upon a spindle-like stick and toasted. The outside only is well crisped, and as the eater slowly unwinds his bologna bobbin during the course of a long dinner, he will frequently lean it before the hearth blaze or lay it upon the embers to continue its roasting. Corn and wheat breads are made in great viriety, and the yeast for their lightness is prepared by the women, who cliew samp of corn.

After being thoroughly masticated, the corn is mixed with fine meal and warn water, and fermented in small ollas left standing near the fireplace, when limeflour and some old yeast are added. The sa-ko-we, as Zuni yeast is called, is an excellent leaven, if one will but calmly
