JACOBUS RETURNS.

Spent Yesterday at Hotel American. Exercising Wonted Sunvity-

G. F. Jacobus, proprietor of Hotel American, who left town so unceremoniously Sunday night, returned bright and early yesterday morning and spent the day exercising his wonted suavity. Rumor at once became current that he is to take charge of Hotel Anthracite. This made the perplexing tangle still more confusing and his conduct utterly inexplicable, except by those who have inside information.

Some facts which have not yet been printed are these: For the past month negotiations have been going on between the Anthracite Land and Improvement company and John and S. H. Williams with a view to closing Hotel American and giving the Anthra-The cite a chance to make money. truth simply is that the building of two modern hotels the same year at a cost of $70,000 and $90,000 respectively. has killed the business.

However, Mr. Jacobus heard of these negotiations and told Messra, Williams they need not hold off because he had a three years' contract with them, and that if they would pay him $3,100 for improvements he made on the house he would release them. This they would not do and as he was losing money. he determined to leave the house

It seems pretty certain that Mr. Jacobus is to take the Anthracite though the owners do not know it. Mr. Fabel, the present proprietor has a lease until April, 1859, with a privilege of four years more. He also has the privilege of stepping out. He can turn the hotel over to Mr. Jacobus if he chooses When interviewed last night he seemed to think that inasmuch as the American is without a license and his hotel is filling up, it is a good time to hang on. It is further known that a party did get an option on Mr. Fabel's privlleges a few days ago, and the belief is that it was for Mr. Jacobus. It should be understood that the Anthracite Land and Improvement company. of which Hon, E. E. Hendrick is the head, has had nothing to do with the matter.

It has been learned that Mr. Jacopoll tax. bus pays his rent-about $2,800 a year -quarterly, and the present quarter's will not be due until May 10. His motive for moving the goods was to prevent their being held on the three years' lease, which will expire in two years. Lawyers were busy last night trying to effect a settlement of the case. Mr. Jacobus says his creditors shall be paid.

As to the liquor license, it is said late proprietor, retiring. that one may yet be procured, as it was applied for and granted.

comes to the front as an important factor in a war of the future. The secretary of war has received word from chief consul of the Indiana divion, League of American Wheelmen, Wallace Sherwood, that the latter is ready to raise five companies of wheeln, each company to be composed of fifty men, who will be thoroughly drilled in bicycle tactics and be willing to go to any part of the country that is threatened by an enemy, or if neces-sary to go abroad to fight.

Following the offer of Wallace Sherwood have come similar offers from various parts of the country. The great army of wheelmen seem brimful of eagerness to turn their bicycles o use in defending the flag. All the offers have been placed on file in the way office, their number showing that in case of war the government would have an ample force of this new type of modern auxiliary on hand.

Thomas Battle, the new member from the Second ward, misunderstood, and did not appear until after council had adjourned.

Last year's rules were adopted. The following resolution, introduced by Mr. Nealon, was ad pted:

"Whereas, by the expiration of the terms of office of Select Councilmen Messrs. J. B. Gilhool, J. J. McNulty and S. A. Dilts, the select council of the city of Carbondale has lost three of the most earnest and efficient members, who by strict attention to the many duties of their office and by the efficient manner in which they have represented their several constituencies have established a standard of excellence which will over remain to their credit, and therefore the select council of the city of Carbondale doth hereby resolve that a vote of thanks and our best wishes be and are hereby tendered to the retiring members."

The political complexion of the councll will now be in favor of the Republicans, their number being four to one Democrat and one Independent.

THE FIGHT FOR CLERKSHIP. John Brink was made chairman of common council and then the fight for the clerkship commenced. George Evans, who has been acting clerk for two and W. Frank Wolcott were the candidates. The balloting resulted as follows: inv.

Prompted by charitable inclinations and business acumen G. S. Kimball secured from Chase & Sanborn, the firm which he represents an agreement to donate to the hospital one-half a cent on every pound of their coffee sold with Brothers Frank, Eimer and Thomin this city. The offer will be good for six months.

A similar proposition has been made by the local merchants handling the firm's goods-as will be seen by the following circular sent out yesterday:

The directors and trustees of the Carbondate Hospital association, are pleased to announce to the public, that in addition to the half-cent a bound John Seigle, collector of wampum; Hosto be donated by Chase & Sanborn on mer Fowler, keeper of wampum; John all coffees sold in Carbondale on their H. ARCHBALD.

A regular meeting of the Archbald borough council was held last evening with all members present. The minutes of the previous meeting were adopted.

A communication was received from Dr. Van Doren, health officer, stating that John Philbin resigned from the board of health in 1897 and M. J. Kearney, who was appointed to fill the unexpired term, has declined to act. The communication urged an appointment to fill the vacancy, so that the board may organize. The communication was received and placed on file. A petition was received from residents of Souta Main street, asking the council to make the Traction company place the tracks in the center of the road instead of on the side, as they now are. After a lengthy discussion by the members, it as decided to have the road commitvisit Mr. Flynn, of the Traction

RAPID PROGRESS.

In order to thoroughly test the question of the cycle's usefulness in war times, Lieutenant Moss, of the United States army, made a tour through the West with a corps of men, and his report to the war department showed John D. Davis, of Avoca, circulated conclusively that the cyclist, unhampered by the necessaries of a cavalry regiment, could make astonishingly rapid progress through a country where roads were in fairly good condition.

An attache of the United States war department has just prepared and submitted to the Washington officials a statement showing the fighting effectiveness of a force of cyclists equipped with the special guns made for use by the wheeling division of a modern

It is shown that the ordinary bicyclist with a magazine rifle strapped to his wheel ready for action instantly makes a valuable man for quick work in war, while the fire of a squad of these cycle soldiers supplemented by that from rapid fire gues that can be transported on tricycles is a formidable factor in a fight.

The rapid-fire gun favored is one combining the features of the Maxim and Nordenfeldt weapon. It is capable of being mounted on the rear of a tricycle between the two wheels, and can be transported with very little additional effort on the rider's part, as its weight is light. The rapid-fire guns would be stationed at intervals along the line of dismounted bicyclists, the tricycles serving as gun-carriages. The rider will dismount and kneeling, fire the gun at the rate of 1,000 shots in two minutes. It requires no effort of the imagination to see what a terrible fire could be maintained by a troop of cyclists armed with magazine rifles and a number of these rapid-fire guns.

A NOVEL SUGGESTION. The gun has an automatic feeding arrangement. The cartridges are thrown into a hopper and the action of the gun when fired thrusts them into the barrel. Two men can keep the gun going Dougher, Henry Revels, J. J. Kelly, M. as long as the ammunition holds out, one man firing, the other loading the

It is a phase of modern war that has never been tried in action, and, like a good many more of the new ideas in fighting, may prove when tried in earnest, to have many drawbacks that have been overlooked. It is not thought, however, that these can offset the numerous advantages that the cyclist soldier will have over the cavalryman. tor's report was read and placed on If the latter's horse is killed, he runs the risk of capture. If the cycle soldier's wheel is smashed he runs the cil next Sunday, so that they could go same risk, but the bleycle stands less chance of being disabled than the horse, for it presents a very small mark for a builet, and, laid flat on the ground, is almost safe from being hit. The cyclist can make better time on a good road than a horse, and can keep up the pace longer. In rough country, where the wheel could not travel, the horse would again have the advantage. The bicycle needs no provender and is
