Indianapolis Journal. A SONG OF LIBERTY.

"Oh!" answered Mr. N. Peck, "I guess you didn't miss it to amount to anything."

Across the land-from strand to strand Loud ring the bugle notes, And Freedom's smile, from isle to isle. Like Freedom's banner floats.

To answering skies screne; The mountains, sloping to the sea. Wave all their flags of green. The rivers, rushing to the deep. The joyful notes prolong, And all their waves in glory leap

The velvet vales sing "Liberty!"

To that immortal song!

One song of Liberty and life

That was, and is to be Till tyrant flags are trampled rage

Where, throned and great she

Nor fears the war drum's beat;

And all the world is free! From chained and troubled isles. And roars, like ocean's thunder drums. Where glad Columbia smiles.

Beneath her flag of stars. Her heroes' blood the sacred flood That crimsoned all its bars! Hail to our country! Strong she stands,

'he sword of Freedom in her hands-The tyrant at her feet! -Frank L. Stanton, in Atlanta Constitu- | net higher: May, 284c., closed 284c.

New York, April 8.- The Stock oxhange was open today for the first time on Good Friday in over thirty years. When it was decided on Tuesday evening in response to a motion put on the board to forego the usual holiday it was ex-pected that the president's message would be presented to congress on Wednesday and that by Friday the shock of war might have come. The teschains of the motion was discussed when the postponement of the president's me was announced by the action taken. event has proven, there was no disposition to trade even yesterday, the elements preferring to await the developments of the situation. Business was trivial in amount and fluctuations were totally without significance. A large number of brokers shut up their offices and went home when they perceived the condition of affairs. Those who were left on the floor devoted their principal energies to sportive devices and tricks of upon the board member whose motion was responsible for depriving them of the usual holiday. Prices drifted aim-lessly all day below last night's closed. and closed above the lowest but at fractional net losses. Total sales were 121,239
