SCRANTON, APRIL 9, 1898.

Thomas Estrada Palma has sacrificed a fortune for Cuba and given the best years of his life to the cause of his country's liberation.

The Laws of War.

In a recent article condensed from the Washington Star attention was called to some of the legal consequences of war as affecting Spaniards in the United States and Americans in Spain.

The regulations we are told, declare that the presence of a hostile army proclaims martial law over the territory occupied and over which authority can be exercised.

War is not carried on by arms alone. It is lawful to starve the hostile belligerent, armed or unarmed, so that it leads to the speedier submission of the enemy.

Commanders, whenever admissible, inform the enemy of their intention to bombard a fortified city, so that non-combatants, and especially women and children, may be removed from danger.

As regards confiscation, the American army is authorized to appropriate all public money, seize all public and movable property, and sequester for its own benefit all the revenues of real property belonging to the hostile government.

There will be a lot that Lee can tell when he gets home, but we suspect he is not constructed on the pattern of Hannibal Taylor.

President McKinley is everlastingly right in proceeding upon the principle that when the Cuban question is settled taken from him and appropriated at the discretion of the commander, after deducting a reasonable amount for the prisoner's support.

Spain's long sowing of the wind gives every promise of culminating in the proverbial whirlwind harvest.

It remains to be seen whether Spanish "honor" will be bullet proof.

Different Points of View.

In order to reach an accurate comprehension of pending movements it is necessary to bear in mind certain fundamental points of difference between the Anglo-Saxon and the Latin races.

On the other hand, the Anglo-Saxon is slow and stern. He is least dangerous when most vociferous. It has become a proverb with him that "the barking dog never bites."

Magistrates and officers declining to take such oaths would probably be expelled from the island, or at least removed from office.

The Philadelphia Press is wasting a lot of unnecessary sympathy on Representative Coray. Mr. Coray is quite well qualified to take care of himself.

Information.

Mr. Thomas Brown, Jr., of Forest City, asks us to answer the following questions: (1) At the time the battleship Maine was floating in the harbor of Havana, just previous to her destruction, did she not carry a full supply of ammunition?

There seems now to be no room for doubt that the Quay element of this state will control the next state convention, and it remains to be seen whether that will be a matter for regret or otherwise.

this time it must be settled so that it will stay settled.

John W. Griggs hasn't been in the cabinet long but facts show that since he has been there he has been the right man in the proper place.

Mr. Bryan says he believes President McKinley is "honest, conscientious and pure." The sequel will show also that he is able.

Abuse of McKinley does McKinley no harm but it does reveal some extraordinarily narrow minds in congress.

Spain's long sowing of the wind gives every promise of culminating in the proverbial whirlwind harvest.

General Grosvenor ought to be too experienced a campaigner to take Populistic ranting seriously.

It is a safe guess that Horatio S. Rubens will not be the first attorney general of Cuba.

In a certain sense it looks as though that joint note had gone to protest.

The Pearl of the Antilles needs a new setting.

General Lee will see Havana later.

TOLD BY THE STARS.

Daily Horoscope Drawn by Ajaxchus The Tribune Astrologer.

Astrolabe Cast: 4:30 a. m., for Saturday, April 9, 1898.

In the opinion of a child born on this day, booze, cigarettes and Cuban war talk are responsible for much of the agony of the present age.

Suburban jiggies who are making war on the administration may not be quite so anxious to fight when the Spanish guns are to be faced.

The forist will joyfully shake off the cloak of penance today and double the price of roses.

Aiacehus' Advice.

Let us rejoice that warm weather has been predicted.

The spring overcoat may be carried on the arm, but it is best to keep the winter flannels next to the skin.

Our Legal Right to Intervene in Cuba

From the Chicago Inter-ocean.

INTERNATIONAL law is not, and never can be, arbitrary. A code enunciated and defines the rights of persons and of things, and prescribes remedies for injuries inflicted by infringement of those rights.

But we are not without precedent. Russia, Prussia and Austria, believing wisely or unwisely, true or untrue, that the perpetuation of an independent and often turbulent monarchy in Poland threatened the peace of Europe.

Land where Freedom hath unfurled Her banner to historic fame. And Liberty to all the world. The Stars and Stripes will'er proclaim!

NATIONAL ODE.

Land where Freedom hath unfurled Her banner to historic fame. And Liberty to all the world. The Stars and Stripes will'er proclaim!

APRIL A WAR MONTH.

From the Philadelphia Bulletin. April is peculiarly a war month in American history. The war of independence was opened in the skirmishes at Lexington on the 19th of April, 1775.

THE LESSON OF HISTORY.

From the Tunkinnoek Republican. There seems now to be no room for doubt that the Quay element of this state will control the next state convention, and it remains to be seen whether that will be a matter for regret or otherwise.

most emphatically declare that he has a choice, and that choice should be a man who can accomplish the necessary work at the polls. A man of whom it cannot be said he was "shoved."

MR. CONNELL'S CANDIDACY.

From the Scranton Times. Hon. William Connell has at last made official announcement that he is a candidate for the Republican nomination for governor.

Now, that no question of Mr. Connell's attitude remains, we have not the slightest doubt that every delegate from every district in Lackawanna county will be instructed to use every honorable means to secure Mr. Connell's nomination.

The Times is for Hon. William Connell in his candidacy for the Republican nomination for governor, not only because he is a Scrantonian, but because we believe him to be the superior of Warramaker, the superior of either of the Stones, the superior of any other candidate named for consideration of the Republican party in this county.

A Strong Candidate.

From the Pittston Gazette. Hon. William Connell, of Scranton, has made formal announcement of his candidacy for the Republican nomination for governor.

Luzerne's Second Choice.

From the Wilkes-Barre Times. Next to our own county's candidate, John Leisenring, Hon. William Connell should be the choice of Luzerne's voters.

All Share the Honor.

From the Elmhurst Signal. Within the past few weeks a great deal of strength has developed for Mr. Connell, many believing that it is he who is the standard bearer of the Republican party.
