HAPPENINGS OF SOUTH SCRANTON

Walter Szymer Writes a Letter to His Brother from Skaguay, Alaska.

HE DOES NOT LIKE THE COUNTRY

Advices Men Not to Go in Search of Gold in the Frozen North—William Foley Badly Bitten by a Dog

James Phibbin, of Archibald Street, injured While at Work in the South Works—Personals and Other Interesting Items.

Michael Szymer, of 1128 Stone avenue, is in receipt of a letter from his brother, Walter Szymer, now at Skaguay, Alaska, on his way to the Klondike in which he gives some very interesting accounts of the condition of affairs there. The letter is dated March 21 and was received here April 6.

The writer asks his brother to print the letter in the Polish papers that their countrymen may learn of what they will have to contend with in a trip to the Klondike. "Keep them away from here," he says. "Would that I had never left Scranton."

Skaguay is described as a town of canvas with a small population which thrives by swindling the fortune hunters who take that route to the gold fields. Every house—if it can be called such—harbors some kind of a business, scarcely a building having less than one or two signs tacked on its front.

Skaguay is described as a town of canvas with a small population which thrives by swindling the fortune hunters who take that route to the gold fields. Every house—if it can be called such—harbors some kind of a business, scarcely a building having less than one or two signs tacked on its front.

Some one particular kind of passport that the traveler must be armed with, costs $17.50. There are a whole lot of other fees besides and by the time a man is ready to start on his journey he has spent a small fortune at the various government offices.

He says the people are running about the town like sheep, not being decided as to what they want to do. Meetings are held day by day and plans for pushing over the mountain discussed. Parties are formed and the work of preparation for the journey begun, but word will come that the route they have selected hasn't certain advantages that the other has and then there will be discussions and a dividing over more meetings and discussions of new plans.

He would turn back, he says, but for the fact that he has traveled 4,000 miles and gone to a great expense and feels that he might as well see the thing through while he is there.

He advises that his friends do not undertake the trip to Klondike, but if any of them insist on making it, he says that they should not think of going with less than a $1,000 in cash in their pockets.

William Foley, a boy of 7 years, was bitten yesterday by a dog belonging to William McCarthy. The lad was playing with the canine, and in his right hand, between the thumb and first finger, the teeth penetrated. Dr. Haggerty cauterized the wound, and later the dog was shot.

James Phibbin, of Orchard street, was injured in the South works yesterday, by one of the large swinging "loggies" striking his head. A deep gash was inflicted and several stitches were used to close the incision. Mr. Phibbin was taken to his home in a carriage and he suffered greatly from the injury during the night.

George Rosen, the husband of Cedar avenue, was driving his highly prized Shetland pony along Cedar avenue yesterday when the horse fell and injured its spine so badly that it was necessary to kill the animal.

The Tribune is requested to note that the Daughters of America's new assembly meets in Schmitt's lodge room, and not in Storr's hall, as printed in yesterday's issue of one of the evening papers.

Excavations were commenced yesterday for the foundation of the new four-story block at the intersection of Cedar avenue and Alder street. The construction of the foundations for Chas. Kaestner's new hotel is being pushed with rapidity.

Charles Graf, the grocer, has returned from a business visit at Susquehanna, will continue of Gordon's barber shop, is ill and confined to his home on Moose street.

William Hueter, a student at the Wyoming seminary, Kingston, is spending Easter at his home on Cedar avenue.

Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Robinson will spend Sunday in Elmira.

GREEN RIDGE.

Constable Black sold the stock of A. C. Monies yesterday to J. G. McAskie, attorney for G. W. Hornbaker, for $734, the amount of execution and the costs. Mr. Monies will continue the plumbing department, but the hardware will be closed out at once. G. H. Monies will be in charge of the sale.

The Green Ridge Workmen will hold their semi-annual election at their club house on Sanderson avenue, Thursday evening.

Max Clearwater, of Monsey avenue, who is attending school at the Lawrenceville academy, is spending his Easter vacation at home.

C. T. Bellamy, of Delaware street, who has been spending a few days in Poston, returned home yesterday.

Mr. Helwick, of Pittston, is the guest of his daughter, Mrs. Ackery, of Caspary avenue.

Mr. Benedict, of East Market street, is spending a few days with friends in Green Grove.

Mr. and Mrs. John Pickering, of Richmond avenue, were pleasantly surprised by a large number of friends Wednesday afternoon. The forepart of the evening was spent in games of all kinds and then refreshments were served, after which dancing was indulged in until an early hour. Music was furnished by the Green Ridge orchestra.

The Green Ridge library was closed yesterday afternoon and evening on account of it being a legal holiday.

Mr. and Mrs. John Richmond, of Jones street, are the proud parents of twins, a boy and girl.

Mr. and Mrs. Garland, of Dickson avenue, are the proud parents of a little daughter, which was born yesterday morning.

WOMEN PATRIOTIC, TOO.

Ladies of the Grand Army of the Republic Celebrate.

Not to be outdone by the men folks in their patriotic exercises, the ladies of the Grand Army of the Republic, No. 50, held an Appomattox celebration Thursday night at Lieutenant Ezra S. Griffin Post rooms.

There was a very entertaining programme of appropriate exercises, including vocal solos, music by the Village quartette, Miss Irma Walter and Stanley Swartz, and recitations by Misses Irma Walter and Mable Spencer. Mrs. Walter, president of the corps, made an address and at the conclusion of the programme refreshments were served.

THEATRICAL ATTRACTIONS.

A Contented Woman.

Miss Belle Archer, who has made such a hit in the leading character of Hoyt's "A Contented Woman," is well known throughout the city as the author of "Goodwin, the late Satini and in Hoyt's "A Milk White Flag." In the performance of "A Contented Woman," which will be seen here at the Lyceum Monday afternoon and evening, there will be a treat for the musical ear, a delightful hour for the lover of fun and a most enjoyable evening for the admirer of fresh, crisp and novel comedy. Scenery is such as strong cast seen which includes pretty Belle Archer, Matt Snyder, Barry Maxwell, Dustin Farrum, Charles F. Moseley, Edward Craven, M. W. Scamman, Frank Baldwin, W. J. Lanthorn, Harry Byers and Miss Rose Snyder, Henrietta Lee, Bonnie Little, Belle Chippendale, Alf Perry, Jessica Duncan, May Biffin and Leola Dueth.

Miss Alma Chester and Company.

The brilliant artist, Miss Alma Chester, and her excellent company will open their engagement here at the Lyceum on Monday next Monday evening in the beautiful drama entitled "Wife for Wife." Everywhere the verdict has been the same, "Excellent plays, excellently acted. Come again." This season they have the largest and strongest company playing at popular prices. Special scenery, properties and stage effects will be used for each production. Between the acts and incidental to the play refined specialties will be introduced by Will J. Kennedy, Frank H. Fay, Goldie Cleveland, Howard Craven and the celebrated Murray sisters. Seats now on sale at box office.

The Passion Play.

A most appropriate post-Lenten attraction will be given at the Lyceum on Wednesday and Thursday afternoon and evening, when the Cinematograph Passion Play will be shown in this city for the first time. A descriptive lecture on the life and passion of our Lord by Rev. N. B. Thompson and incidental music. These moving pictures have been produced from photographs and notes made of the last Old-American representation of this sublime drama in 1890, and are as nearly correct as it is possible to make them.

POLICE NEWS.

Henry Riker, the Pittstonian arrested Thursday night for the theft of a fur overcoat from Wagoner's store, waived a hearing before Alderman Miller yesterday morning and was held in $300 bail for court.

Mayor Bailey in police court yesterday discharged John Anderson, of Throop, the civil war veteran, whose $200 was saved Thursday night through his arrest by Patrolman Day. Anderson was drunk when being followed by two characters whom the police consider suspicious.

LETTERS FROM THE PEOPLE.

Under this heading short letters of interest will be published when accompanied, for publication, by the writer's name. The Tribune will not be held responsible for opinions here expressed.

Who Miss Green Is.

Editor of The Tribune: I have been asked to many young ladies of the name of "Green" in this city. I wish to state that the Miss Green with whom I am now in litigation is Miss Sitta Green, of Jefferson avenue, daughter of John Green, the painter, of Lackawanna avenue. Yours truly, C. M. Florey.

Resolutions of Directors of the Oral School.

At the regular monthly meeting of the board of directors of the Pennsylvania Oral School for the Deaf, held April 8, 1898, the following resolution was adopted: "The board of directors of the Pennsylvania Oral school for the Deaf records with inexpressible sorrow, and full appreciation of the loss to the institution and the cause it represents, the very sudden death of Mr. William T. Smith, on March 25, 1898.

Mr. Smith was one of the founders of this beneficent institution, under charge of Joseph Green, the president, and from the inception of the scheme of teaching the deaf by oral methods, has been heartily and most efficiently identified with all our efforts to establish the institution in Scranton and make its work successful. He has always stood with its most generous and self-sacrificing founders and
