SOUTH SCRANTON.

Several of the young men who attend the Hickory Street Presbyterian church have organized a Bachelors' club, and at a meeting held yesterday afternoon Peter Kellerman was elected president; William Schunk, secretary, and August Guenters, treasurer. The aims of the new organization do not in the slightest sense conflict with any who are matrimonially inclined, but in the event that any of the members marry he is obliged, according to the by-laws of the club, to treat his brother members to a sumptuous feast, and the dues collected monthly from the memory street church. The club is composed of these young men other than the officers above mentioned; Charles Bahr, Adam T. Fruchtel, H. A. Asperschlager, Frank Schmidt, Henry Lewert, George Fruhan, Will Heitrich, George Wirth, Jacob Emick, John Schneider, William Kirst, George Lewert, William Berghauser and George Heitrich.

Lieutenant Zang and Patrolman Gesheidle were summoned to the home of Michael Duggan, of Alder street, early yesterday morning and arrested Duggan, who was intoxicated and abusing his sister. In police court later in the day he was fined $2.50, and in default he will be committed to the county fail this morning.

In several of the many halls of this side post-Lenten dances and concerts will be given, and the committees in charge of the various affairs have arranged programmes of no little ex-

They Turned Him Over to His Anxious and Worried Father .- H. D. Years of Business Life in This Part of the City--Funerals of James Murphy, Humphrey Williams and James Burge.

Little Anthony was only five years la and going too far away from home he got lost. At first he did not mind, later, when he reached the corner of Jackson street and Main avenue he became frightened at the prospect behim. Cars rattled by, horses vening at the home of Rose Brooks, raced up and down and none but strange faces passed him by. Naturally he sought refuge in tears and this soon attracted attention to him. The weeping lad, dressed in kilt skirts and dirt-begrinned face where he had rubbed his fists in his eyes, was handed over to Patrolman Lowry. He knew who he was but not where to go home. His name was "Tony" Savage, anyhow, Soon after a worried father, who proved to be Anthony Savage, sr., a Polish hotelkeeper, of West Lackawanna avenue, hurried into the station house, and the tears of the child turned to smiles. It was his "Daddy" and nothing could scare him now. His papa was just as delighted to find his lost son, and his words of thankfulness to the patrolman were profuse.

A MERCHANT THIRTY YEARS.

Thursday, April 7, marked the thirtieth anniversary of the day upon which ex-City Assessor H. D. Jones, of North Hyde Park avenue, launched into the grocery business. And, moreover, the whole thirty years are consecutive and were spent upon this side. bers will go into the fund of the Hick- Twenty-five years in one building, where he still is, at 1109 Jackson street. Few, if any, of the business men of this city, can boast of that many consecutive years of actual business career, and yet Mr. Jones is not looking forward to an early retirement. His fifty-six odd years rest lightly upon his shoulders, though his hair and moustache are long since gray.

His store is a rendezvous for some of the old pioncers of this section and many an interesting tale one can hear by dropping in some afternoon when business is slack and a few of the older mes are exchanging comparisons of what is" and "what has been." Born on December 28, 1941, at Carendale, he was one of a family of ten hildren of Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Jones. His father was one of the earlier mine operators and very successful, though when the war occurred he lost nearly everything. Shortly after Mr. Jones' birth, the family removed to Newcastle, Schuylkill county, but after a two years' residence there they moved back to Carbondale In 1853 the subject of this sketch worked in the old rolling mills and later in the "Sandy Banks," or the present Pine Brook mines. The coal was taken from a drift then and the screens were worked by hand in the "coffee pot" breaker. He later spent a couple of years learning the tailor trade under Tailor George Evans amous in the early days of Scranton. In 1857, after returning from a west ern trip, he entered the employment of the well-known firm of D. T. Richards and Esdras Howell, who kept the big grocery store near the old "White Tay-He was with this firm six years, and two years more with Thomas Eynon and company. He again went west and returned in the early part of 1868 determined to go into business for him-

April 7, 1868, he bought the firm of Stark and Cannon, at 105-7 South Main avenue, and conducted his business there for five years. He then removed to the store property at 1109 Jackson street, which he had purchased and has Grand Combination Inducements. emained there since.

Mr. Jones has been an active Republican and was city assessor for several years. He is a Mason, belonging to The Earliest Show of the Season the Hyde Park lodge, a member of the and the Greatest Sale of Black Franklin Engine company, the Republican clubs, and the West Side Board of Trade. He has served upon the official board of the Simpson Methodist Episcopal church since 1855. The one thing outside of his business which Mr. lones remembers most clearly is the vicissitudes of being the first vigilant of the Fifth ward in 1866, appointed to the office by Mayor E. M. S. Hill.

THREE FUNERALS.

The funeral of the late James Murphy was held Saturday afternoon from the residence, on South Seventh street. The remains were borne to the Holy Cross church, where a blessing was pronounced by Rev. John Loughran. Many friends and relatives were in attendance, and the floral tributes were beautiful. The remains were borne to the Hyde Park Catholic cemetery and interred. The pall-bearers were: John Finnerty, Anthony O'Hora, James Murphy and John Roderick. No. 3, 20 Pairs Silk Finish Mohair

Many friends attended the funeral services for the late Humphrey Williams, which were held vesterday afternoon at the residence, 1617 Jackson street. The floral tributes were numerous and very fine. Rev. D. P. Jones, pastor of the Tabernacle Congregational church, officiated and preached an eloquent funeral sermon. The services concluded, the remains, accompanied by a large cortege, were borne to the Washburn street cemetery and interred. The pall-bearers were: Evan Jones, Harry Morgan, Thomas Jones,

John James, James W. Evans and William James. The funeral services for the late James Burge were held yesterday afternoon at the residence, 520 Roberts court. The attendance of friends and relatives was large, and representatives from Keystone lodge, No. 37, Loyal Knights of America, and the Ancient Order of Britons, No. 1, were present, the deceased having been a member of these orders. Rev. Thomas De Gruchy, pastor of the Jackson Street Eaptist church, officiated and preached a short funeral sermon. The services concluded, the remains were borne to the Washburn street cemetery and interred. The pall-bearers were: Thomas Price, W. Williams, Thomas Edwards. James R. Thomas, David H. and Purifying.

As spring approache s. beore filt. ed towards the sun, which brings the sun more di rectly overhead. The rays becoming more perpendicular, are highly charged with electrical power. This new relation between the earth and the sun produces a class of physical disorders peculiar to spring. The symptoms are quite unlike in different cases, but the most common ones are general lassitude, played-out, tired-out, used-up, run-down feelings, combined with a more or less heavy, stupid, listless mental condition. Relish for food the ability to digest food seem to be lost. Skin eruptions, sallow complexion, billiousness, coated tongue, fitful irregular sleep, help to complete the picture which is so common at this season. Life is a burden, business a dread, pleasure a mockery, friends a bore, and social privileges a tedious round of disagreeable tasks. Pe-ru-na o exactly meets all these conditions that the demand is so great for this umedy at this season of the year that t is nearly impossible to supply it. Carloads of Pe-ru-na are shipped north, outh, east and west to meet the everincreasing demand of the people for it. It never fails to bring immediate relief. Mrs. B. A. OBITUARY.

Last evening at 8.30 o'clock, Mrs. Catherine Dunn, mother of Rev. J. I. Dunn, of St. Paul's church, Green Ridge, passed away, after an illness of several n duration, at her home, 1519 North Wash ington avenue, at the age of 69 years. After the death of her husband in Wilmington, Del., a year ago last December Mrs. Dunn came to live in this city, that she might be near her son, who was the only other surviving member of the fam ily. She made a host of friends here during her brief residence, who will regret severely that she was not longer spared to them and her beloved son, in whom she was so proud. No arrangements for the funeral have been made other than that the remains will be taken to Wilmington to be interred alongside those of her husband.

Miss Jennie Mowery, widow of the inte The System Needs Renovating Howard Mowery, died Saturday morning at the residence of her sister. Mrs. John Miller, of 512 North Filmore avenue. THEATRICAL ATTRACTIONS.

A Contented Woman.

'One of Hoyt's best comedies, "A Contented Woman," with Miss I le Archer as the woman, will be produced at the Lyceum this afternoon and evening. Miss Archer is a beautiful young woman who has not been seen here for several seasons. She is surrounded by an unusually clever company. One of the members of it is M. W. Scanion, of this city. The comedy is staged in the same sumptuous manner as when produced in Hoyt's theater in New York. Tonight is the 450 performance of the comedy, and in honor of the occasion souvenirs will be presented

Wite for Wife.

At the Academy of Music tonight a company of versatile artists headed Miss Alma Chester will begin a week's engagement by producing "Wife for Wife." During the remainder of the week afternoons and evenings a number of strong dramas will be presented. Special scenery, wardrobe and electric effects are carried for the difyesterday, as the delegates of the St. ferent productions. Numerous specialties are introduced at each performance.

The Passion Play.

At the Lyceum on Wednesday and Thursday, afternoon and night, there will be shown the American cinematograph production of the "Passion Play." These pictures are direct from the Eden musee, New York, where they have scored an instantaneous hit, and where they are playing to crowded houses nightly. They have been reproduced from sketches taken at the time of the last presentation of this Biblical drama given at Oberammer-

Shea's Company at the Linden.

Manager Brooks has made a happy strike in bringing into his theater the celebrated Shea company. Mr. Shea's popularity alone ought to pack any house in Scranton. His company this year is said to be much stronger than on his last visit, Will Holmes, W. C. Slater, Katie Maldon and Josie Morton are the only members of the old company left. Their clever work is still fresh in the minds of Scranton theater-goers. The ladies and children who form the largest percentage of a Linden audience will herald the re-opening of their favorite report with pleasure. The 10-cent matinees which Manager Brooks instituted have become extremely popular.

PRESIDENT'S WAR POWERS. He Cannot Declare But Can Accept War It Offered.

rom the Troy Times.

By the constitution congress alone has power to declare war. The constitution confers on the president the whole executive power. He is bound to take care that the laws are faithfully executed. He is commander-inchief of the army and navy of the United States and of the militia of the several states when called into actual service of the United States.

The president has no power to initiate or declare war either against a foreign nation or a domestic state. He is authorized to call out the milita and use the military and naval forces of the United States in case of invasion by foreign nations, and to suppress insurrection against the government of state or states

If a war be made by invasion of a foreign nation, the president is not only authorized but bound to resist orce by force. He does not initiate the war, but is bound to accept the challenge without waiting for any special legislative authority. The battles of Palo Alto and Resaca de la Palma, in the Mexican war, had been fought before congress passed an act which recognized "a state of war as existing by the act of the republic of Mexico." act of congress not only provided for the future prosecution of the war, but was itself a vindication and ratification of the act of the president in accepting the challenge without a previous formal declaration of war by congress. (Prize cases, 2 Black's U. S.

Reports, 635.)

It has been judicially declared that the civil war commenced April 19, 1861 (Swinerton v. Columbian Ins. Co., 37 N. Y., 147; Burnside v. Matthews, 54 N. Y., 78), when the ports of the confederate states were blockaded by the naval power under a proclamation of the president bearing that date. Still, we know that hostilities commenced before that date, for on April 12, 1861, by the special order of the secretary of war of the confederate states, fire was opened on Fort Sumter. April 15 President Lincoln issued a proclamation calling forth the militia of the several states to the number of 75,000, and declaring certain states in rebellion, Still, congress did not "declare war" until July 13, 1861.

Thus it will be seen that while the president has no power to initiate or declare war, he is authorized to resist force by force, and to accept the challenge of any power to battle without waiting for congress to act.
