WEST SCRANTON

Plans.

THE ONE THAT WAS APPROVED

It Contemplates a Structure on the Southerly Side of the Avenue .- Old Officers Re-elected -- Marriage of Sadie Morgan and Arthur Benore. Funeral of Margaret, Daughter of and young Mr. and Mrs. Henry Davies .- Personals and Minor News Notes.

The session of the West Side board of trade last night was well attended both by members and by non-members The interest, too, was more evident than usual. Invitations, both special and general, had been issued by the board for the purpose of a conclusive consideration of the viaduct question and thereby, the arrival at at a definite conclusion upon the matter as con-erning the residents of West Scranton. Naturally, this being the main feature of the meeting routine business was quickly disposed of, and the viaduct question in all its various phases taken up. To facilitate matters, President Holmes suggested that each person present offer his views or opinions upon the matter and at the conclusion an understanding would be gained and the board could then put itself on record conclusively and definitely. This suggestion was carried out and each person as called upon spoke. City Engineer Phillips, Select and Common Councilman Horatio T. Pelows and Joseph Oliver, of the Fifteenth ward; Select Councilman R. H. Williams, of the Fifth ward, and Common Councilman C. F. Wenzel, of the Fourteenth ward, were present, the malority of them being also members of the board; and they were given first privilege to speak by the president. The other gentlemen followed in order called upon.

During the course of the discussion our distinct plans or methods of building a viaduct were brought up, namely: The one, to occupy the present street from curb to curb; one which should occupy the southerly side of the street by an increase of 60 feet of its width; one, which should extend from the eastern end of the West Lackawanna avenue bridge across the river, Central Railroad of New Jersey tracks eventh street. Delaware, Lackawanna and Western railroad tracks to Nealis court, and thence to Ninth street for its erminus, and lastly, one to start from Sixth street, along Schnell court, across the Delaware, Lackawanna and Western tracks and Ninth street, to Chest-

Each of the above mentioned methds had one or more advocates, who, in the course of his remarks, men; tioned the reasons for the use of that method. 'The "southerly side" viaduct was agreed upon as the most feasible. A motion was made by Hon. John R. Fact that this method be the one which neet with the entire approval of the board and the motion was unanimously

The other matters considered by the conrd were: The repairs of Luzerne street below Ninth street. This necessary business was brought up by T. Fellows Mason, and it was referred to he streets and bridges committee, This committee will endeavor to have the councilmen of the Fifth and Fifteenth wards expend a portion of the appropriations for these wards upon this needed repair. The repairs at the Mt. Pleasant ravine were also considered. A culvert would be built below the street line and a filling put in and then the roadway and sidewalks could be laid on a substantial foundation. Nominations and election of officers the ensuing term were quickly made. The board expressed its confidence in and appreciation of the old officers by re-electing them for the secand term. They are: A. B. Holmes, president; Dr. P. F. Struppler, vicepresident: Joseph Oliver, secretary, and William Farrell, treasurer, will serve another term.

At the conclusion of the session, mittee of three, comprising T. Felews Mason, D. Elsinger and Hon. J. R. Farr was appointed by the chair on a motion to that effect, to consider the matter of purchase of a new steamer for the Franklin Engine company and report at the next meeting.

BENORE-MORGAN NUPTIALS. Miss Sadie, the only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Morgan, was united in marriage to William Arthur Penore, of Scranton street, last evening at the residence of the bride's parents, 1121 Eynon street. The reremony was witnessed by many of the relatives and friends of the contracting parties.

WHEELMEN MEET.

The members of the Electric City Wheelmen's club held a regular meeting last evening at their club house President W. S. Mears presided. One new member. Sam McCracken, was added to the roll. Nominations for officers for the ensuing term were made and the election will take place at the next regular meeting. There are several candidates for each office. The committee of arrangements for the club's coming benefit concert reported the sale of 390 tickets thus far. The concert will be given at the Jackson Street Baptist church, May 2, and Lov-ctus Boston Stars will appear. The committee, comprising Sam luy Relph David Owens and E. G. Peters, are leaving no stone unturned to insure A committee comprising J Roberts, Art Stover and Duncan Hall were appointed to arrange for a club uniform. At the conclusion of the business session the members enjoyed cigars, provided by President W. S.

INTENTIONS WERE DANGEROUS. He gave his name as David Cook, of Nicholson, and a stone-cutter by occupation, when called up for a hearing before Alderman Davies, in police court vesterday morning. The charge on the docket read simply "drunk and disorderly," but the affair amounted to much more, for the prisoner was held in $200 ball, in default of which he was mmitted to the county jail.

The evening before Cook, while in toxicated, had wandered into Luigi Corazzini's shoe shop on West Lackawanna avenue, at the corner of Ninth street, and tried to talk with the cobbler. Now Corazzini is an Italian and understands nothing in English. His silence must have enraged Cook, for he seized a knife from the bench and thereupon declared war. Everyone fled in fear and Cook remained in possession until made a prisoner by Parcolmen Hart and Matthews, Cook pleaded ignorance, but the evidence of Cobbler Corazzini, through his friend. Peter Lupas, and that of the patrolmen was sufficient.

NORTH SCRANTON

Eisteddfod Was Held in the Puritan Congregational Church.

WERE MANY EXCITING CONTESTS

Five Choirs Competed for the Principal Prize Offered for the Best Rendition of the Selection, "May Day" .- It Was Won by the Choir from the Wayne Avenue Baptist Church -- Lawsuit Over the Price

the Puritan Congregational church was one of the most entertaining held in this place in many years. The competition in the many prizes had grown to such proportions that preliminary tests had to be undergone in order to have none but the best appear on the stage The event was a reminder of the oldtime eisteddfod, and the audience evinced unbounded enthusiasm at the conclusion of each number. The doors were opened at 6.30 o'clock and in twenty minutes from that time every vacant space in the church was filled, At 7.30 the assemblage was called to order by Isaac S. Jones, and after a few complimentary remarks introduced the chairman of the evening, A. A. Vosburg, who had been chosen to fill the vacancy caused by the inability of District Attorney John R. Jones to be present.

ADJUDICATORS INTRODUCED.

Mr. Vosburg made a brief address in cepting the duties of the position The adjudicators were then introduced. They were as follows: Music, Proessor Lewis Watcyn, of the West Side; literature, Edward Roderick; recitations, Miss Cora Griffin. The first number on the programme was a tenor solo by Professor Gwilym Morlais Davies, which was rendered in a pleasing manner. An invitation was then given by the chairman to the bards present to give a few addresses. Several wellknown bards responded and their efforts were greeted with much applause Next came the competition on the solo, "Take Time to Be Holy," for girls under twelve years of age. This was entered by a large number of children and the sacred hymn was rendered in such a manner as to profoundly im-press the audience. The prize was awarded to Miss Richards. The next number was a competition recitation, entitled "You're Better Far Away." This was also spiritedly contested by a large number of young people. Miss Bessie Williams was declared the sucessful contestant. Five male quartettes entered the competition for the best rendition of "Come, Ye Disconsolate." The adjudicator awarded the decision in favor of Gwilym Edwards and party.

The next number, namely, the most words from a given letter, proved a very entertaining feature. Many put to test their vocabulary on this event words. Then followed the competition solo, "Angels Ever Bright and Fair." A number of aspirants tried conclusns, and the prize of $1 was given to Miss Sarah Davis.

SCHUBERT GLEE CLUB SANG. The spell of competition was then broken by a selection by the Schubert Glee club, a well-known musical organization. Then came one of the interesting features of the evening's entertainment, the selection of a solo by the committee, to be contested by people over fifty years of age, brought forth many old heroes of the eisteddfodic arena, who were greeted with hearty applause by the audience Mrs. Thomas Davies was declared the winner. The prize for the competition solo, 'The Old Ship" was divided between Themas Owens and Gwilym Edwards. Much interest, however, was centered in the competition recitation, on "The Charge of the Light Brigade." The inducement offered on this piece was such as to bring heretofore unheard of talent the front, and the thrilling poem was done justice in every respect. Joshua John was awarded the prize. Miss Cora Griffin, who has won an enviable name hereabouts as an elocutionist, then delighted the audience with a recitation. The solo "Bwythyn Back to Gwelles," was hotly contested, and W. J. Hopkins succeeded in carrying off the laurels.

"The Maid of Skey," a solo which has much prominence attached to it was rendered in fine style by several competitors.

Then came the chief attraction of the vening, the competition on "May Day" or choirs. This event was contested five choirs, namely, the Wayne Avenue Choral union, George Davis conductor: Calvinistic Methodist, William Davis, conductor; Welsh Congregational choir, Professor David D. Lewis, conductor; West Market Street Welsh Eaptist choir, David T. Davis, conductor; and the Puritan Congregational uth Main avenue, are entertaining choir, Professor Griffith Davies, conductor. The beautiful glee was renderwith imposing significance and street, leaves this morning for a trip elicted uproarious applause. The adjudicator awarded the prize to the Wayne Avenue Choral union.

TOBY WOULD NOT REFUND.

A bonnet caused a considerable amount of furror last evening in Alderman Fiddler's office. Mrs. Michael Reap, the prosecutrix in the case, averred that in the latter part of the month of March, she visited the millinery store conducted by C. L. Toby, in the central city. While there she espled a bonnet which satisfied her fancy. She purchased it for $2.00. She claimed that they entered into an agreement that if it did not suit she could reurn it and get her money refunded.

After several days had elapsed Mrs. Reap decided that she could not become reconciled to the bonnet, and made a demand on Toby for the return of the money given them. This was refused and at the hearing he emphatically denied any knowledge of the agreement alleged to have ben made by him with Mrs. Reap. The alderman reserved his decision in the case until April 19.

DUNMORE DOINGS.

Funeral of Harry H. Winters Was Very The eisteddfod held last evening in Largely Attended - Moran-Golden Nuptials at St. Mary's Church.

> The funeral of the late Harry H. Winters, probably the largest ever held in this place, occurred from the residence on Blakely street yesterday afternoon. The remains laid in a beautiful coffin, upon and about which was spread a profusion of beautiful flowers. One design which deserves special mention was a wheel with a missing spoke, presented by the members of the Dunmore Electric Light, Heat and Power company, symbolizing that he was missed by his associates in business. Rev. W. T. Gibbons, assisted by Rev. Mr. O'Neil, conducted the services. A quartette composed of Mrs. Simpson, Miss Thomas, Thomas Thomas and Mr. Halleck, sang several funeral odes. At the conclusion of the services Rev. Mr. Gibbons delivered an expressive address, in which he made fitting reference to the character of the deceased and offered consolation to the afflicted
