BRUTAL AFFAIR AT DURYEA.

Tony Parker, Colored, Kicked and Beat an Italian.

"A brutal scene was witnessed in front of the Pullman house, Duryea, this afternoon," said last evening's Pittsten Gazette, "the principal in the affair being Tony Parker, a well known colored character. An Italian was leaving the hotel when Tony accused him of drawing a knife on him. Without waiting for a reply, Parker, with a savage blow, knocked the foreigner from the porch to the ground. "Several times the Italian tried to rise and beg for mercy, but each time he was leveled to the ground. This continued for some time until the foreigner, after receiving a murderous kick in the stomach, was unable to do more that, lay where he had failen. No attempt was made to arrest the savage negro."

WEEK OR TEN DAYS TO PREPARE.

In "Verifying" the Daily Thirteenth Regiment Fake, the Commander Above Announcement -- Company D Has a Meeting at Which Action Is Taken on the Project to Officer the Militin with Regulars.

Last night's fake "Thirteenth" story was to this effect: Colonel Coursen came to the armory, where Company D was drilling, and held a hurried whispered conversation with Captain Gilman, after which Captain Gilman told his men to pack their knapsacks when they returned to their homes, advising them each to place therein a cake of soap, one towell, two pairs of socks, one extra flannel shirt, one extra suit of underwear and a pair of new shoes, and having done this say their good-byes and keep their cars ocked for the bugle call, or words to that effect. The story like many a similar-toned preceding one, was all right, except as to the minor detail of facts. The only particle of truth in it was that Captain Gliman casually told his men at a com-pany meeting, last night, that if they should be called out the articles en-

COLONEL AMUSED. Colonel Coursen was amused when a Tribune reporter laid the story before him late in the evening.

"In the first place," he said, as he proseded to verify the story, "I was not at the armory tonight, but accompanled my wife to prayer meeting. In the cond place, I have not instructed any captain to tell his men to pack their knapsacks, and, in the third place, I do not expect that the state militia will be called out at all, and am assured that if there is a call it will not e a hurried one." When pressed for his grounds of assurance in this last regard, Colonel Coursen said he was not at liberty to speak further on the matter. "Just ay," and he spoke slowly and thoughtfully, picking each word, "that Colonel Coursen is assured that if a call does ome, it will not be a hurried one, but that at least a week or ten days will given for preparation.

He afterwards gave The Tribune rep esentative an intimation, confidentialy, of his license for using the strong word "assured."

Reverting to Company D's meeting, the men passed resolutions that they would not go out unless it was expressly understood that their own of-

HALLSTEAD MINE AFFECTED.

Portion of the Old Workings Caved in Yesterday.

About 6 o'clock yesterday morning a long sharp whistle of the signal in the engine room of the Hallstead mines at Duryea, and the rushing up of the hoisting and fan shafts of a great cloud of dust denoted that something had gone wrong inside. The air hurled backward up the two shafts and blowing of the signal of the hoisting appurtenances could only have been caused by either a big explosion or cave-in. Investigation showed that the latter conclusion was the correct one. A heavy fall had occurred in the old workings in the Red Ash vein. The fall does not affect the new workings. The firebosses had made their usual rounds just previous to the fall and had found everything all right, both in the

"places" and the doors and ventilation, so no gas explosion could have oc curred. This mine, which is operated by the Delaware, Lackawanna and Western ompany has been idle for a week for repairs. It is near the Duryea depot, No complete investigation to accertain the extent of the fall has yet been made. The affected workings are situated to the south of the snaft and between the William A colliery workings and the Phoenix shaft workings. The former are owned by William Connell, of this city, and the latter by the Newton Coal company. The "working" Authorizes the Publication of the the caved portion can be heard in the Phoenix workings and although no danger is apprehended, the mine was not operated yesterday.

END OF THE MARCH TERM.

Number of Cases That were Disposed of During the Week --- Jury in the Kelly Case Has Agreed.

The March term of common pleas ourt came to an end yesterday with the submission of the Kelly-Traction ompany case to the jury at 4 o'clock. It has been a very successful session as far as the disposal of cases is con-

During the first week twenty of the thirty-five cases on the list were dissed of, one by non-suit, one by judgment and eight by trial. Sixteen were cleared from the list the second week. One was discontinued, one, referred; two, settled; two, non-suited; two were nded by judgment by agreement and eight were tried. So far this week there have been two voluntary nonsuits, one compulsory non-suit, three judgments by agreement, five refer-ences, one settlement and nine verdicts. Another verdict, it is expected, will be reached today, making the total numer disposed of twenty-two. In the case of Minnie Depuy against John M. Coleman, a verdict was re-turned yesterday morning for the plaintiff in the sum of $310.34.

There was not a little disappointment n the spectators' seats during the morning, when the form of the proceedings in the divorce case of Will L. Jones against L. M. Jones was changed from trial by jury to a hearing in chambers.

The case has been on the list since 1896, but at each successive term a postponement ensued from one causor another. An effort was made on the part of the defense this week to have continued again, but Judge Archhald would not consent and directed that it should come up yesterday.

When it was called, O'Brien & Kelly the respondent's counsel, renewed their notion for a continuance on the ground that their client was ill and could not appear. A doctor's certificate to this Nect accompanied the motion, but Judge Archbald would not be moved from his determination of earlier in the seek and ordered the trial to proceed.

There being no other recourse, counel for the respondent withdrew their application for trial by jury and departed. The case was thereupon transerred to chambers, Judge Archbald sitting. The respondent was not repreented at the hearing. The testimon; of the libellant was of a very spley character, unfaithfulness being the principal charge which was sought to

The jury in the Kelly case reached an greement last night at 10.30 o'clock and will report the same to court at 9 o'clock this merning. At the former trial of the case the jury disagreed.
