BRINGING THE REMAINS EAST.

Body of Mrs. Thomas Dondican, of Dunmore, Will Arrive Tomorrow. A telegram received in this city yesterday announced that the remains of Mrs. Thomas Dondican, of Dunmore, who died in Denver, Colorado, will arrive in this city tomorrow.

BOROUGH SECRETARIES AGAIN.

Winton Sends More Municipal Bothers Down to Court. The borough of Winton, by James Strong, its secretary, yesterday secured a writ of alternative mandamus to compel Thomas F. Walsh, the former secretary, to deliver over the books and papers pertaining to the office which he refuses to give up until the borough settles a claim he has against it.

HAD CHICKENS IN A BAG.

Two Young Men Arrested on Suspicion of Stealing. Two young men giving their names as Martin King and James Patterson, were arrested on Lackawanna avenue at 2:30 o'clock Sunday morning. They had some chickens concealed in a bag which they claimed were given them by Thomas Healey, of Minooka. Healey was communicated with, and it was learned that the chickens, as surmised were stolen from him. King acknowledged his guilt and was held under $500 bail for court. He exonerated Patterson and the latter was released.

BILL OF PARTICULARS QUASHED.

New One Must Be Filed in County Treasurer Contest. Court yesterday made absolute the rule to quash bill of particulars filed by W. B. Langstaff in his contest for the county treasurer's office. Court had been so impressed with the fact that the contestant's omnibus bill was not specific enough that it did not require any further enlightenment from Mr. Kelly's counsel as a consequence the only attorney heard was Mr. Holgate, of counsel for the contestant.

BEFORE BREAKFAST.

It is suggested that "Look out for Pickpockets" will be a good sentiment to place on the bulletin boards now-a-days when people are too much absorbed in the news of the hour to think of pickpockets.

Mrs. Cottrell and the Misses Cottrell who have made such a pleasing impression in a social way in this city by reason of their wide culture and many charms of personality, returned to their home in Albany yesterday after spending some time as guests of Mrs. A. de Orville Blackinton.

It is hoped that Mr. J. H. S. Lynde has passed the crisis of his illness. His very critical condition was the occasion of much alarm on Sunday, but although still delirious and very weak he was somewhat better yesterday.

Men need not entertain the hallucination that they are the only ones competent or disposed to discuss the war problem. The subject is analyzed as thoroughly in the drawing room and kitchen as in the office, workshop, and as a rule with equal intelligence. The results of the discussions among the women do not vary materially from those of their masculine relatives and friends. Both do a deal of talking and say: "I think" a vast number of times, without coming to a definite decision as to how long the war will last. Both hedge a little just now when the question comes up regarding the certainty of an American walk-over from the start.

Generally speaking, the women of this country stand up for McKinley. Generally, too, they are outspoken in their dread of war. One little body, whose hero awaits his call to arms, remarked pathetically Sunday morning: "I haven't a nickel for the church collection. I've spent every cent I could get on 'extras.' The way these newsboys have swindled me during the last week is sinful. I believe they know me, for they're always chasing me with starting yells of important dispatches and they even come to our houses and howl around in the night. All I do nowadays is to buy extras and try to get to the front of the mobs around the bulletin boards."

"I've never had such a good time in my life as for the last two weeks," declared a young member of Company C, yesterday. "Father doesn't growl when he sees me go off on my bicycle, that being his idea of the supreme folly of the times. He puts his arm around my shoulders sort of as if he liked me, and paid a roasting big bit of mine the other day without a kick. My sisters hug and kiss me until I wish I hadn't been such a little devil and chased off all the fellows that used to come to see 'em. Mother gets the church collection. I've spent every cent I like to eat every day lately and doesn't say a word about cigarettes or mud tracks; and often when she thinks I'm asleep she sneaks into my room and cries by the side of my bed. And the girls well now if you wouldn't think I was a peach to the church collection, I've got eighteen pin cushions and seven pairs of embroidered silk suspenders to take to war. Talk about popularity! Prize fighters and golf champions aren't in it with me, and as for the President, I like to eat every day a lay out in his whole blooming career as I've had this last week."

Thus it is that the gravity of the situation is continually bringing to the surface the devotion and tender considerations which still are the strongest guiding sentiments of the feminine heart, notwithstanding the practical latter day philosophy supposed to be an attribute of the up-to-date woman. While she is frank to confess that this year her summer vacation will be spent chiefly in the interior of our big country, she is thinking just now a deal more about the horrors and perils of war than of spring gowns and summer frivolities.

In Scranton, as elsewhere, there are patriotic women who will endure the separation, the fears and the anxiety which must ever dwell with one who stays at home to wait the return of her soldier. There are others who have not to suffer all this but whose hearts are heavy with pity and forebodings for those who do bear the brunt of the burden, but no community contains wives, mothers and daughters more certain that their country has undertaken a righteous war.

THIRTEENTH IS ORDERED OUT

The Regiment Will Leave This City Wednesday Night at 9.30.

GENERAL GOBIN'S COMMAND

Directs Col. Cursen to Take His Men to Mt. Gretna.

They Are to Be There on Thursday Morning--Will Go by Way of the Delaware and Hudson and Lehigh Valley Railroads and Will Arrive at the Mobilizing Ground Early in the Morning--Major W. S. Millar and Major J. W. Oakford Also Receive Orders to Report at Mt. Gretna Thursday Morning.

Marching orders for the Thirteenth regiment were received by Colonel H. A. Cursen at 11 o'clock last night from General J. P. S. Gobin, of Lebanon, commander of the Third brigade.

Colonel Cursen is directed to have his regiment at Mt. Gretna Thursday morning.

Soon after the telegram reached him, Colonel Cursen was seen by a Tribune reporter at his residence, on North Washington avenue. He said his command is in excellent shape and that no difficulty will be experienced in getting the regiment to the mobilizing ground on time.

The regiment will leave this city about 9.30 Wednesday night and arrive at Mount Gretna early Thursday morning. It will go by way of the Delaware and Hudson and Lehigh Valley railroads.

At the armory last night a meeting of the officers of the regiment was held, at which plans for getting the regiment together and transporting it to Mt. Gretna were considered, as well as many other matters of detail. At that time there was no positive information as to when the regiment would be called out, although it was expected at any moment.

Major W. S. Millar and Major J. W. Oakford, of General Gobin's staff, received telegraphic orders last night from the commander of the Third brigade to report for duty at Mt. Gretna Thursday morning at 10 o'clock. They will go with the members of the Thirteenth.

Ex-Inspector of Rifle Practice H. B. Cox will succeed W. J. Tracey as quartermaster. The appointment will probably be made today.

Although there was no very exciting news from the front, war excitement ran higher in this city yesterday than at any time since the inception of the Spanish-American difficulties. All day long and until late at night great throngs hung around the Tribune bulletin board, where the latest authentic news was displayed as soon as received.

SIGNS OF WAR FEVER.

Yesterday afternoon Paolo Silliano, of Archbold came into The Tribune business office and offered his services as a soldier, cavalryman, sailor or in any capacity in which he will have an opportunity to fight under the United States flag against the Spaniards. Silliano is employed as a miner at the Ridge, in Archbold. He has been here six years and holds his citizen's papers and a certificate of a miner. He is a native of Naples, Italy, and is 31 years of age. He was a trained soldier honorably discharged from the Arico-Italia army about ten years ago. He was wounded in Africa and was in the hospital for six months as a result. He served under the famous General Bliardiere Oviardie. He comes of a family noted for its longevity. His father died three months ago at the age of 107 years. His mother is still living, being over 90 years old. He declares he is afraid of nothing.

W. J. Colvin, a member of Light Battery F, Fourth artillery, was in the city yesterday. He is on a three months' furlough from his company, which was stationed at Fort Riley, Kansas, when he left two months ago. It is a family noted for its longevity. He has been summoned to that point. He is a son of A. Colvin, of Factoryville, and has been visiting his home. Yesterday Colvin was notified to report for duty, and he is in the city awaiting transportation. He expects to leave for Washington today. Colvin has been in the service four years and says his summons means that his company will be transported to Cuba within a short time.

Not old enough to join the army service, nor yet too young to realize the meaning of the war, a band of thirty breaker boys from Pine Brook colliery got up an impromptu parade yesterday just after the blowing of the noon hour gong. Begrimmed with the coal dust, they sallied out from the breaker in columns of twos. Heading the procession were two boys with wheelbarrows. Following came the color bearer carrying a ten foot pole from which proudly floated a large national flag. The boys kept up a continual cheering as they marched along.

Jacob Bladderman, of Stone avenue, was at the office of the chief-of-police yesterday afternoon for the purpose of enlisting in the army. He thought it was a recruiting station. Bladderman served for three years in the German army and has been in this country four years. He resided in Honesdale until six weeks ago when he removed with his family to this city.

The term of Dr. W. G. Fulton, the surgeon of the Thirteenth regiment having expired, an order was issued by Colonel H. A. Cursen yesterday naming First Lieutenant Charles R. Parke assistant surgeon, as major and surgeon of the regiment. Dr. George A. Blanchard, of company D, was appointed first lieutenant and assistant surgeon.

Manager Morton has fourteen men with him, having released John O'Neil, who has gone to Courtland, N. Y. The players are in fairly good shape, considering the disadvantages they have been under, and hope to be able to benefit from the practice games here. The boxing order of today's game with the Y. M. C. A. team, will be as follows:
