They All Agreed to Go Anywhere Uncle Sam Might See Pit to Send Them -- George Pedley Severely Injured in the Cavuga Mine .- Storrs Breaker is Undergoing Repairs of an Extensive Nature .. Notes of a Diversified Character.

Company H held their last drill last evening in their armory prior to their departure in defense of the national lag. Scarcely had the doors of the armory been opened before a great crowd, among whom were mothers, fathers, brothers, sisters and sweethearts of the brave boys in blue, surged into the building to get a glimpse of the gallant members of Company H. So dense became the crowd that the doors were tocked and the members had barely room in which to practice

After the roll call by First Sergeant Chomas Parry was completed and the full quota of the company found to be present, the faithfulness of the memers was greeted with applause by their admirers. The marching orders issued from headquarters were readand received with enthusiasm by the Captain Corwin then put the men through a severe and exhaustive test of drills, after which they were dis-

The company's headquarters were besteged with former members, and several new applicants, but as the comof men, these offers were refused by Captain Corwin. Every man in the company volunteered their services and are willing to go anywhere that Uncle Sam may send them. The company will assemble this evening at 7 o'clock sharp in the armory in heavy marching order and, after completing necessary arrangements, will proceed to the centrat city, where they will join the other companies of the regiment.

MINE ACCIDENTS.

George Pedley, a miner in the Caynga mine, sustained a budly lacerated foot yesterday. He was working in his chamber when a large piece of rock fell from the roof on his foot. He was removed to his home on Oak street, where the injured foot was dressed. A Polander employed as a laborer for John Mitchell, a miner in the Maryine mine, was severely crushed by a fall o roof yesterday. His milner cautioned him about the unsafe condition of the roof where they were working and suggested that they stand a prop underneath to ward off the danger. The laborer disobeyed this command and began loading a car, The roof came down in a large mass, seriously, if not fatally, injuring him. He was removed

WONDERFUL DEMONSTRATION

This Part of the City Was Ablaze With a Patriotic Ferror Last Night. It Has Been Decided to Disband

the Oxford Accidental Fund -- Cario Octow is Still Held in the Police Station .. Movement on Foot to Organize a Chorus.

West Scranton residents, at least those who were fortunate to be there. will never forget last evening's popudemonstration at the corner Main avenue and Jackson street. No one knows how it started and no one dreamed after it had started how far the affair was to be carried Company F held its last regular drill for some ime in these parts, and many had gathared to see them. The crowd was composed of countless small boys and muny older folks. The drill began early and most of it was held on Main The evolutions brought out the tiest hurst of cheering and it must have been the leaving that later worked the crowd up to its climax of fenzy.

The soldier boys marched as if on the we of battle. Orders were given sharp and quick. Action was equally quick. Then it was all over. The company returned to its quarters and the crowd began to disperse. But there was more to follow. Quietly marching down Jackon street in files of two came 80 scholars from Public school No. 18, Proudly in the van stepped Master James Mc-Conan struggling beneath the weight of a flag which floated in the breeze. on either side of this lad walked two bright girls the Misses Hattle Ellis and

Kate Stemicke, as a color guard. For an instant the crowd remained silent and then cheer ofter cheer rent the air. It was the flag of free Cuba Hats were tossed up, handkerchiefs waived and a general pandemonium seemed imminent. The police cleared way through the crowd and quietly and in perfect order, the children, for ages did not exceed 12 years, walked up into St. David's hall and entered the company room where the on pany was drawn up at attention as the children filed in and stood oppo-

The color bearer steped to the front, attended by the color guard and the ecempony which up to this moment renhained a mystery to nearly everyone was begun. When they were through, the flag was paptised with an expression of enthusiasm which fairly shook the armory.

Captain Fellows, in a few words fraught with emotion, accepted the gift tendered by the little folks under such heart thrilling circumstances, and Color Bearer Frank Rymond, of the company, was ordered to step forward and receive the gift. Yesterday morning some of the chilhen from the rooms taught by the Misses Agnes Murray and Sarah A. A fitting climax was made when the teachers were called up in front of the company and they and their cholars saluted and given three rousing cheers. Miss Stemicke, James Mc-Cowan and Chester Thomas are from Miss Jones' room, while Miss Hattle Ellis and Lewis Justin are pupils of Miss Murray. The flag is a beautiful one, eight feet long, seven feet wide and attached to a ten-foot pole.

When word was passed outside what was going on inside, cheers followed, some one turned in the fire alarm from Lace at Half Price ox 35, the companies responded, and olored lights, rockets and fire crackrs were set off at The Tribune bultin at Jenkins' pharmacy.

OXFORD FUND TO DISBAND.

In pursuance of the call issued yeserday morning a large number of the members of the Oxford Mine Accidental fund, met yesterday afternoon at the Oxford office and considered the advisability of disbanding the fund. In view of the fact that there will probably be no employment in the Oxford mine for some time to come, and it would therefore be entirely unnecesessary to longer continue the fund, it was decided to dissolve and distribute the amount now in the fund's treas-Worth More Than Double ury.

Rev. Thomas B. Barker died early yesterday morning, of heart disease at the residence of his nephew, Mr. F. S. Barker, at 335 Madison avenue this city. Mr. Barker retired Monday evening in apparently good health, but upon his not appearing yesterday morning, his nephew attempted to arouse him, and upon failing to do so entered his room and found him lying peacefully in his bed, apparently asleep, but he could not arouse him. Dr. Connell was immediately sumed, but said he could do nothing as Mr. Barker had likely been dead two or three hours. Mr. Barker had been afflicted with heart trouble for a number of years, and while he was to all appearances a strong, hearty man, he often spoke of the probability of his death in this manner. He will be much missed by his relatives and a large circle of friends, by whom he was much beloved. He was the only surviving brother of the late Samuel G. Barker, and the last of that family He was an active member of the Elm Park Methodist Eniscopal church
