PERSONAL.

Mrs. C. S. Weston and Mrs. J. Don. Dimmock have returned from Europe. A party went from this city yesterday morning to New York to greet Judge Hand and the members of his family who have been spending some time abroad. They were to arrive yesterday. Lucien Rockwell, of Connecticut, a well-known traveling man, took sick a few days ago at Hotel Jersey, and was yesterday taken to the Lackawanna hospital as a private patient. Dr. Fulton is his physician.

W. T. Simpson, commissary sergeant of the state, has returned from Mt. Gretna, where he was in the work of providing rations for the members of the Guard of the state, now encamped there. He said the first day of the encampment equalled anything of the way of bad weather he encountered during the civil war. Mr. Simpson said he never saw men hail the appearance of sunshine with greater evidence of joy than did the men at Gretna on the day succeeding the blizzard.

MANY RECRUITS ARE ENLISTING

One in Three Falls to Pass Physical Examination.

OUT OF EIGHTY-NINE ACCEPTED BY COLONEL OSTHAUS, TWENTY-NINE WERE DISQUALIFIED BY DR. FULTON WHO IS STICKING CLOSE TO THE GOVERNMENT STANDARD. COMPANY A HAS AN AGENT ON THE SCENE—RECRUITING WILL CONTINUE UNTIL COLONEL COURSEN DIRECTS IT TO BE STOPPED.

Crowds of young men pushed, and shoved and waited impatiently to recruit at the Thirtieth regiment armory yesterday. Much of the enlisting by Colonel Osthaus on Saturday had to be done over again. Then he was acting without any detailed instructions and continued his efforts to recording the names of 153 applicants who presented themselves between the hours of 2 and 7 o'clock. Yesterday each applicant accepted signed an enlistment paper and was subjected to a physical examination by Dr. W. G. Fulton, ex-surgeon of the regiment. This regard to detail necessarily made the recruiting slow as compared with Saturday.

Colonel Osthaus established his office in Company A quarters and Dr. Fulton used the headquarters rooms upstairs. They were assisted by Clerks L. C. Brink and Thomas A. Lewis, respectively. Between the hours of 10 and 12, 2 and 4 and 5 and 10 o'clock 80 applicants who had passed muster before Colonel Osthaus, were examined by Dr. Fulton. Of this number 29 were rejected and 50 accepted, which shows that one out of every three had at least one physical disqualification. Nearly a score were rejected by Colonel Osthaus. On his list are quite a number who have yet to present themselves to the surgeon.

SOME DISQUALIFICATIONS. Before an applicant was accepted by Colonel Osthaus, it was his obligation to satisfy the latter that no family or other persons were wholly dependent upon him, that he had not been arrested for any serious offense and that his height and weight were up to the standard. Numerous other questions as to age, nationality, occupation, etc., were asked.

Dr. Fulton's work had no trifle on it. It impressed a Tribune reporter as unmaking very strongly of the real thing. The examination conformed very closely to the regular army standard which will be made before the men are mustered into service. The government is not overly particular in regard to the details of a candidate's build, but it draws the line very fine on eyesight, heart, lungs and other particular. Many of the volunteers for whom examined yesterday.

The fact that 21 per cent. were rejected indicates what seemingly slight imperfections bar an apparent robust person. It also indicates that the government will accept only sound manhood and not only sound manhood but also sound mind. The volunteer at Mt. Gretna will not go further into service if physical examinations are made.

MEN FOR COMPANY A.

E. R. Robbins, a former sergeant of Company A, was in the recruiting room during the day soliciting recruits for his old company. He was working under instructions from Captain Dimmock, but picked only a comparatively small number from those who called at the armory. From other sources he has obtained a list of nearly as many recruits as Company A will require.

On the West Side thirty-two applications to join Company F were made to Attorney Walter Briggs at the company's armory in a few hours. Until the instructions at Mt. Gretna are finished and the number of volunteers now in the regiment has been determined, the number of recruits needed will not be known. Meanwhile, Colonel Osthaus and Dr. Fulton will continue their work until Colonel Courson directs them to cease.

A regiment of Susquehanna volunteers is now being organized by Captain W. D. B. Almy, of Montrose, the ex-commander of Company G. It will be recruited up to the formation demanded by the government. Although the full quota of men has not been procured, the limit will soon be reached. Through Captain Almy's services of the command have already been offered to High and Governor Hastings. All the following prospective company commanders, who are recruiting in and about their respective towns, are more or less familiar with military tactics: Alexander Ives, Susquehanna; E. W. Boyle, Great Bend; D. W. Cole, M. D., Jaccow; Helmar Stark, Rush; Joseph Barney, Montrose; E. Smith, Biehardville; Mon, George R. Resigite, Harford.

WORK DONE BY MR. BRIGGS.

It is nearly certain that barring an unexpected falling out of the members of Company F, that the full quota of 51 men to which the company has to be recruited will be easily accomplished. Yesterday afternoon between 4 and 6 o'clock and in the evening between 7:30 and 9:30 o'clock, a total of four hours, ex-Lieutenant Walter Briggs took the names of thirty-two men who presented themselves as candidates for immediate enlistment into Company F.

There were more than double the above number who wanted to go, but a quick glance over the candidate by the critical eye of the ex-lieutenant, a few questions and the unfitness of the applicant was decided. So far as appearances go two-thirds of the number taken yesterday will pass.

The average age was 22, the average height 5 feet six and one-half inches, and the average weight 150 pounds. Only one or two had ever been in any military service. One man was married. Eight candidates came from Elm more avenue alone. Only two were from out of town, coming from Taylor. All were satisfied to join the United States volunteer army, and not one seemed to harbor the idea of deserting to the rebels.

The recruiting will be continued this evening at the company's quarters between 7:30 and 9:30 o'clock by ex-Lieutenant Briggs. It is desired to have at least fifty desirable men upon whom to call should it be found necessary. The absence of ex-members upon the list is being quietly arranged to organize a reserve Company F.

NEWS OF THE BIG NAVAL BATTLE

Contained in the Three Editions of the Tribune Issued Yesterday.

THE REGULAR MORNING EDITION WAS FOLLOWED BY ONE AT 7 AND ANOTHER AT 10:30 A. M. WHICH CONTAINED IMPORTANT INFORMATION ABOUT THE BATTLE RECEIVED AFTER THE REGULAR EDITION WENT TO PRESS—SCENES ABOUT THE VARIOUS BULLETIN BOARDS.

Nothing was talked of yesterday about town but the battle of Sunday morning at Manila, where the American fleet won such a decisive victory. Sunday night the first authentic news of the battle was posted by The Tribune, and when the regular edition of the paper appeared on the streets at 5 o'clock yesterday morning, there was such a demand for it that an extra edition had to be put out at 7 a. m. This contained details of the battle received after the regular edition went to press. Afterwards came the important admission of the Spanish admiral that his defeat was a complete one, and at 10:30 The Tribune had an edition on the street conveying the latest details up to that hour.

The avidity with which the editions were brought up showed the eager interest of the public in the outcome of the battle and the appreciation felt for the effort to keep the people of this city in touch with the very latest news about this world-stirring engagement.

The New York papers sold in this city last night and labeled 3 p. m. edition did not contain as late or as complete reports of the engagement as The Tribune's special 10:30 a. m. edition. Around The Tribune's big bulletin board all day great throngs gathered to read the latest developments. The enthusiasm displayed as each succeeding telegram showed that the American victory had been estimated, rather than over estimated, was inspiring.

At the Tribune's bulletins in the suburbs the scene at the Washington avenue board was duplicated. If anything the suburban crowds were more demonstrative and more inclined to give vent to their feelings.

Opinion of Judge Gunster in the Injunction Proceedings.

Judge Gunster in a lengthy opinion yesterday granted Dr. S. C. Sapp an injunction restraining the defendant party from using the words, "New York Dental Parlor" upon or in their notices, signs or advertisements, or in any way indicating that their place of business is that of the plaintiff or under his management or control; and that the defendants should pay the costs.

Dr. Sapp is a graduate in dental surgery in the University of Maryland of the class of 1887, and has practiced his profession in this city since 1895, entering the employ of Dr. G. E. Hill & Son, in Market street, he opened a dental establishment at 134 Wyoming avenue, and commenced doing business for himself. He called and acquired considerable practice.

About four months after Dr. Sapp began business, a similar establishment was opened by some New York parties across the street from him, and they took the same name. Dr. Sapp began an injunction proceeding against them, claiming that their notices, signs and advertisements were calculated to deceive and mislead the patrons of his business. Judge Gunster says in his opinion:

"Under all the circumstances of this case I cannot resist the conclusion that the defendant's use of said name in describing their places of business was with the intent to deceive the public and injure the plaintiff's business." Dr. Sapp was represented by Attorney John M. Harris.

NORMAN McLEOD'S FUNERAL. Will Be Held Tomorrow at First Presbyterian Parsonage.

Dr. and Mrs. McLeod, Miss McLeod, a party of the former's parishioners and the six following Princeton students, who will be the pall-bearers at the funeral: Harry Lathrop, James R. Dickson, Frank Linen and Harold Watres, of Scranton; Everett Crawford, of New York city, and Nicholas Stahl, of Princeton.

The Scranton party met the train at Stroudsburg. Among them were: Rev. Dr. S. C. Logan, F. E. Platt, A. W. Dickson, A. E. Hunt, Miss Hunt, James Archibald, Miss Augusta Archibald, D. M. Hallstead, T. H. Watts and Isaac Post.

The funeral will be held tomorrow at 11 o'clock at the parsonage on Olive street, near Madison avenue. Dr. McLeod and Rev. Dr. C. E. Robinson, and, possibly, Dr. Hodge, of Wilkes-Barre, will take part in the services. Interment in Dunmore cemetery.

CITY SOLICITOR'S OPINION. Only One D., L. & W. Shop Used for Construction Purposes.

City Solicitor M. A. McGinley has furnished the board of revision and appeal an opinion on the Delaware, Lackawanna and Western company's appeal from the recent assessments on its shops and other railroad yard buildings. The company claimed exemption on the ground that the properties were used for repair and not for construction purposes and were non-assessable.

Mr. McGinley, in his opinion, refers to "a long line of unbroken decisions fixing the liability of the one (construction) and the exemption of the other (repairing)." He concludes with the statement that of the shops assessed none used exclusively for repair work could be assessed.

Only one of the company's shops is termed a construction shop. Retirees. At Eatin's, 126 Penn avenue.
