RECRUITS WILL MUSTER TODAY

To Select Their Companies at the Armory This Morning.

THEY WILL LEAVE HERE FOR THE CAMP AT MT. GRETTA TOMORROW MORNING—A TOTAL OF 250 NEW MEN ARE AVAILABLE, OF WHICH 150 WANT TO GO WITH THE HONESDALE, MONTROSE AND PROVIDENCE COMPANIES—THEY WILL TRAVEL IN SPECIAL CARS.

Recruiting for the Thirteenth regiment was as good as finished Saturday night. Today the recruits already selected will report at the armory and tomorrow they will be taken to the camp of the Pennsylvania division at Mt. Gretna.

During Saturday Colonel Courson instructed the regimental recruiting officers to cease work when the number of men passed by Dr. W. G. Fulton had reached 200. That number had qualified physically during the evening. It made a total of 250 available men when added to the 50 each already enlisted for Companies E, of Honesdale; G, of Montrose, and H, of Providence. The recruits secured for these three companies have been examined by physicians in their respective localities.

Colonel Courson yesterday telegraphed to Lieutenant Colonel Mattes, in command of the regiment at Camp Hastings, asking information as to the exact number of men needed by each company. This inquiry was suggested by the absence of official information here as to the number rejected for physical disqualifications at camp after having volunteered. Lieutenant Colonel Mattes replied that the information had been telegraphed to the captains.

ASSIGNING TO COMPANIES.
So when the recruits report at the armory at 9 o'clock this morning the work of counting noses and assigning them to particular companies will be undertaken. As already explained, the Honesdale, Montrose and Providence companies are already provided for. At the armory the representative officers now here of each of the five other companies will get their recruits together and give them instructions regarding tomorrow's departure.

To allow for possible rejection by the army surgeons at camp each company will take seven more men than are actually needed. Each recruit will be told to report at the armory at 9 o'clock tomorrow morning with a lunch, extra underclothing and a good, coarse, pair of shoes.

Anything but a cordial reception to the recruits on Saturday morning to this city. The fact that most of the number had wives, mothers, children and sisters depending upon them had no effect on crowds of hissing and jeering people who took a chance at discomfiting some individuals who might be bothered to explain why they didn't volunteer.

The Thirteenth's non-volunteers were accompanied as far as Wilkes-Barre by non-volunteers from that city's Ninth regiment. Crowds of boys followed those who left the depot and hurled all manner of invectives at them. In Scranton the demonstration was not as insulting, but the comments made on the subject of the blue-uniformed fellows were far from pleasant.

A later train brought to Scranton those of the Thirteenth who had volunteered but were rejected by the surgeons.

PATROLMAN SAUL VERY ILL.

He Was Stricken Just Before Going on Duty Saturday Night.

Patrolman James J. Saul tonight suddenly fell Saturday evening at 6:45 o'clock while sitting in the West Side police station, just previous to going on duty with the West Scranton detail. He was laughing and chatting with his fellow patrolmen, when suddenly his face blanched, became distorted with pain, and he slid from his chair to the floor, apparently stricken with apoplexy or paralysis.

It required the combined strength of three muscular fellows to keep him quiet and prevent him doing injury by his awful writhings. Dr. F. C. Hall was hastily summoned and a quieting drug was administered.

He was taken to his home at 1023 West Linden street, where he has since been under the physician's care. Late last evening he was pronounced much improved but a very sick man.

TROUBLE AMICABLY ADJUSTED.

Men at the West Ridge Colliery Will Resume Work Today.

On Saturday the workmen at the West Ridge colliery who went on strike Friday had a conference with Superintendent R. E. Kingsley, at which the trouble that caused the strike was amicably adjusted.

WEALTH IN TIMBER.

A Lumber and Wood Bouanza That Is Controlled by the New Mexico Railway and Coal Company—The Timber Supply of Three States and of Northeastern New Mexico Practically in Its Hands.

El Paso, Texas, April 30. It is very evident that the people of the North do not fully appreciate the timber question in the Southwest. It is easy to say that nearly the entire lumber supply for all the region, from either from Oregon and Washington on the Pacific, or from southeastern Texas, more than 1,000 miles away. And yet the average Northern reader, if he thought at all on the subject, would be likely to say that this is a rather small supply of timber.

It is a matter of fact there is a section reaching from the Capitan in the north to the Sacramento on the south, and including all ranges, which is rich in scrubby and of little account.

LAST CASES HEARD IN ARGUMENT COURT

Attempt Made to Have Two Election Districts in North Abington.

ATTORNEY JOHN F. SCRAGG ARGUED THAT THERE SHOULD BE TWO DISTRICTS IN THE TOWNSHIP, AND ATTORNEY B. F. ACKERLY HELD THAT THERE SHOULD BE THREE—ARGUMENT ON REPORT OF AUDITOR MARTIN IN THE CALLAHAN ESTATE MATTER.

In argument court Saturday Attorney B. F. Ackery asked to have the forfeited recognizance stricken off in the case of the commonwealth against Wilson S. Fogley. The defendant was in business on Spruce street, and he secured $1,000 worth of goods fraudulently from Kann & Kann, of New York. He was arrested and put under $1,000 bail, and skipped out after he secured W. J. Whyte as a bondsman. Attorney George D. Taylor opposed the striking off.

Attorneys John F. Scragg and B. F. Ackery appeared for the division of North Abington township into election districts. Mr. Scragg represented a petition asking for two districts, and he asked that the case be returned to the latter charged Mr. Scragg with being in the employ of one or two men who wanted things their own way, and that the proposed division into two districts would work an injustice to Mr. Ackery personally. Mr. Scragg answered that he was in the employ of some prominent men, as a look at the petition he represented would disclose; but he had no objection if the court would give Mr. Ackery a district all by himself.

Argument was made on the exceptions to the report of Attorney M. J. Martin, auditor in the P. C. Callahan estate. The estate was made up of the building on Lackawanna street where Daxley & Griffin's clothing store was. It was owned by P. C. Callahan's first wife and in her will she left it to her three sons and one daughter, and named her husband as trustee. When he died she was likely to say that this is a rather small supply of timber.

Mr. Whyte not long ago purchased the sons' interest. The second wife's claim was not recognized. Attorney Newcomb argued that as the property came into Callahan's hands as a trustee he could not will it to his second wife. Attorney C. H. Welles argued that the widow is entitled to her interest in the property.

CORNELL MAN IS ILL.

H. L. Hibbard Came Here With Other Students.

H. L. Hibbard, of Akron, O., one of the twenty Cornell students who came here to take mechanical and electrical readings, is a patient at the Lackawanna hospital. He became seriously ill at the power plant of the Scranton Illuminating, Heat and Power Co. The mental and physical strain involved in making the readings, which began at 11 o'clock Friday night and lasted twenty-four hours, and a disorganized stomach caused Hibbard's illness. He was taken to the hospital. He was for a time unconscious.

At the hospital Hibbard's complaint was diagnosed as a bad and acute case of cramps. He began to convalesce yesterday and will probably be discharged today.

TWO MURDEROUS WEAPONS.

John Dill Used Them in Attacks on His Wife's Parents.

It wasn't John J. Dill's fault that Mr. and Mrs. C. D. Hetzel, who reside in the Eleventh ward, were not killed in separate murderous assaults he made upon them. Dill is the son-in-law of the Hetzels. He assaulted Mr. Hetzel with a pair of blacksmith tongs Friday evening and attacked his mother-in-law with a piece of iron pipe on Saturday.

Special officer Clifford arrested Dill Saturday on a warrant issued by Alderman Howe. Dill was sent to jail in default of bail.
