Morgan Walters Brutally Beaten by William Sharp.

PARTY OF YOUNG PEOPLE PAID A VISIT TO THE STEEL MILL—INTERESTING MEETING OF THE HAWTHORNE LITERARY CIRCLE. FUNERALS OF MRS. J. MADDEN, MRS. MARY T. WILLIAMS AND MRS. JANE RAYMOND—EDGAR LEPPIN ARRESTED FOR AGGRAVATED ASSAULT AND BATTERY.

Morgan Walters, 12 years old, was the victim yesterday afternoon of a vicious and brutal assault by William Sharp, who is about six years older. A warrant will be issued today for Sharp's arrest. The lad is suffering from a bad cut in the forehead, his left cheek is scratched, both eyes are swollen shut, and his arms and shoulders are somewhat bruised. It seems that young Walters and his companions were playing on Washburn street when Sharp came along and interfered.

His interference was resented. Just how the trouble occurred no one seems to know, but Walters alleges that he struck Sharp for striking him and then he was thrown down and kicked in the face. Sharp resides on Washburn street, while young Walters resides with his parents on South Lincoln avenue.

STEEL MILL SIGHT SEEING. A party of the younger social set of West Scranton young people enjoyed a trip through the South steel mills last evening under the cleavage of Hon. John H. Fellows. The trip lasted about an hour and a half and everything worth seeing was viewed. The program of dances was well selected and all thoroughly enjoyed themselves. The party was comprised of the following: The Misses Lelia and Pearl Porter, Louise Fahrig, Frances Kennedy, Edna Saxe, Edna Williams, Carrie Hutchings, Grace Acker, Jane Fellows, Nell, Lolla, Edith, Edie and Gertrude Fellows, Elizabeth Heiser, Arch Meers, John Howell, Charles Sweet, Turvey Breeze, Bert Fellows, Frank Jones, John Beamish, Lester Losey, Howard Williams and Reuben Staples.

WAS RUDELY AWAKENED. Though the long curve from Jackson street into Robinson street is well known to be a rather dangerous curve at any time, so far as the street cars are concerned and that great care is used by the street car men at all times to prevent any accident, still drivers of vehicles grow careless.

An instance of this sort was brought out yesterday and nearly resulted in a fatality, or at least bad injuries. As it was, only a broken spring, damaged fender, badly frightened man and a surprised horse were the sum total of results. The accident happened about 11:20 o'clock yesterday morning. Just as car 202 of the Luzerne street line inward bound was leaving Jackson street, turning in on the curve, about 200 feet further on, Motorman Fox saw a horse, attached to a light spring wagon, coming leisurely along the tracks toward him. He rang his bell loudly and expected to see the driver turn out. Not he, for he was fast asleep. By this time the car was dangerously close and Fox tried to stop his car. It slid and crashed into the wagon. The fender was bent up, body spring on wagon was broken and the now thoroughly awakened driver was lying on his back in the wagon, where he had been thrown from the seat by the jar. The horse escaped injury by turning out far enough to be missed. Fortunately, the car was going very slow or some other result would hereby have been chronicled.

NERVOUS DEPRESSION.

A woman with the blues is a very uncomfortable person. She is illigible, unhappy and frequently hysterical. The condition of the mind known as "the blues" and is the result of nervous results from diseased organs of generation.

It is a source of wonder that in this age of advanced medical science, any person should still believe that mere force of will and determination will overcome depressed spirits and nervous indications in women. These troubles are indications of disease.

Every woman who doesn't understand her condition should write to Lynn, Mass., to Mrs. Pinkham for her advice. Her advice is through common sense and is the counsel of a learned woman of great experience. Read the story of Mrs. F. S. BEXNETT, Westphalia, Kansas, as told in the following letter:

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM—I have suffered for over two years with falling, enlargement and ulceration of the womb, and this spring, being in such a weakened condition, caused me to flow for nearly six months. Some time ago, urged by friends, I wrote to you for advice. After using the treatment you advised for a short time, that terrible flow stopped.

"I am now gaining strength and flesh, and have better health than I have had for the past ten years. I wish to say to all distressed, suffering women, do not suffer longer, when there is one so kind and willing to aid you.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is a woman's remedy for woman's ills. More than a million women have been benefited by it.

THE FORBIDAIBLE VESUVIUS. Could Blow Up Anything Within Radius of Quarter Mile. From the Chicago Record.

The dynamite cruiser Vesuvius, which has just left Newport to join the squadron off Havana, is an experiment in warfare which will be watched with great interest by naval authorities all over the world, and will undoubtedly give an opportunity to demonstrate her merits before the war is over. She is supposed to be one of the best in battle than any of our battleships. The Vesuvius is a very compact, maneuverable and torpedo boat, the most destructive agency in the entire world, and she is the only craft of her kind in existence, but her efficiency has been so stubbornly questioned that the government has not duplicated her. If she should prove equal to the promises her defenders have made every nation in the world will add similar vessels to their fleet. She is small, swift and easily handled, and carries three pneumatic guns, each of which discharges 200 pounds of nitroglycerine every five minutes. Nitroglycerine has five times the explosive power of gun cotton and twenty-five times the explosive power of ordinary powder. No ship could stand a moment against an explosion of this kind, even though it occurred in the water 100 yards from her hull. Captain Zalniski, who invented the gun, has described the effect of their discharge as "Hell let loose," and even that does not seem to do full justice to the destruction that would be caused by scattering three-quarters of a ton of dynamite every five minutes in a city or a fortress or among a fleet of vessels.

The projectiles are so arranged that when they strike anything they will explode and scatter the dynamite which contain in a shower over a large surface. They can also be made to explode automatically by clockwork. Imagine seven or eight such shells dropped into a city like New York or even Havana, or in the midst of a fleet of warships. So long as her guns are in condition for use no vessel would dare attack the Vesuvius without inviting total destruction. If only this craft were pursued it is only necessary for it to stand still and await the proper moment, when the discharge of one or all of its guns would annihilate its pursuer. A cruiser or a battleship might as well sail straight over Niagara. But the critics of this little craft insist that she will be absolutely harmless in rough water and her machinery is so delicate and complicated it will be apt to get out of order when it is needed the most.

PRAWNE HISTORIC BILL'S WILD WEST

GREAT MEXICAN BULL FIGHT.

Nanticoke, Saturday, May 21. Wilkes-Barre, Monday, May 23

It has been suggested that the Vesuvius can be made useful in destroying the mines that have been placed in the harbors of Havana and other cities, because her projectiles can be fired under water as well as in the air. It is also suggested that she can easily be protected from heavy seas by sailing on the lee side of a monitor or battleship. Her guns are elevated at an angle of 18 degrees, so that they could fire over any ship that might be beside her for protection.

Never Tested. "If there is one thing that I highly prize myself on," said the young man, "it is my own temper."

Chilly Hospitality. "Look here," said spring to winter, "I've no objection to your lingering in my lap, but if you're going to have wind colic and howl like that you can just root somewhere else."
