CHANGES IN THE SOUTH STEEL MILL

Tuesday It Will Shut Down for Possibly Two Months.

DURING THAT PERIOD THE MILL WILL BE OVERHAULED IN A GEN-ERAL WAY AND NEW AND MOD-ERN MACHINERY FOR MAKING STEEL RAILS INSTALLED-WHEN THE IMPROVEMENTS ARE COM-PLETED CAPACITY OF MILL WILL BE GREATLY INCREASED.

On Tuesday the South mill of the Lackawanna Iron and Steel company will shut down for a period of perhaps two months, during which time extensive changes will be made in and H. A. Knapp. The bendsmen are as fol-about the mill which will make it the lows; equal of any in the country and enable the company to compete more successfully than ever in the steel market. It was the intention to close the mill down today, but a small urgent order was received and to fill it the mill will be kept running a few days longer than was contemplated. One of the greatest changes that will be made in the mill will be the in-stalling of appliances for handling large ingots, which will do away with considerable handling and heating of steel. The ingot now used is fifteen inches square, and it is proposed when the improvements are complete to have an ingot eighteen inches square. It will be a little shorter than the ingot now in use, but will contain considerably more in bulk. With the new ingot the least number of rails that will be made from it will be four, and these will be of the 100-pound class.

After the ingot has been rolled to a ertain length it will be cut, and one ection will be run into the finishing rolls after the other. It is possible with the proposed improvements to have the output increased nearly one third. The present capacity of the mill is about six hundred tons in twelve changes will be made. In the receiving and assortment of the raw materials, a system of unloading will be introduced that will do away with the stock yard. In the converting department a radical change will be made and the "pit" will follow in the wake of the stock yard. In the "pit" the steel is poured into the moulds, as they are standing in a circle along the edge of the excavation in the vessel room which, in the parlance of the steel workers, bears the name of "pit." After the moulds are filled, under the present system, they have to be holst ed to cars upon which they are laid porizontally. The car is then moved to the furnace, where the ingot, the con-tents of the mould, is hoisted by a hydraulic crane, and is guided to the fur-naces by the tongs wielded by the fur-

The proposed change in this department contemplates having the ingot ast on cars; that is the moulds will be filled as they stand in a vertical position on cars. Lowering them into the pit and hoisting will be eliminated from the process. Having been filled the moulds will be run along to the furnace, and here electricity will be introduced. An electric ingot extractor morrow morning and evening in the Fust will take the ingot from the moulds and with steam "hoists" it will be conveyed to the furnaces, where it will From the city, definite arrangements have be charged or reheated by electricity Steam hoists will replace hydraulic hoists in this department. After heating in the furnace the ingot will be taken to the rolls and will be attic matically started through the machinery that moulds them into rails.

ELECTRIC CRANES.

Electric cranes will be introduced in the rolling department and "blooming" trains will be a new feature also, In the rail mill many minor changes will be made. This department more recently than any other part of the nill underwent the changes that placed it far ahead of the other departments in the way of modern appliances. The South mill was built in 1881 and although many changes have been made in it since, it is now hardly in ine with the most advanced ideas with reference to steel making. Much of the new machinery that will be installed in the mill has already ar-

The shutting down of the mill for such a period will cause no little disquiet on the South Side, where many of the men employed there reside, Many of them, however, will be employed in the work of installing the new machinery.

BEATTY USED AN AXE ON DAWSON

Fractured the Latter's Skull and He May Not Recover.

MEN WERE NEIGHBORS AT SMOKE-TOWN, THROOP BOROUGH, BUT QUARRELLED OVER TESTIMONY BEATTY GAVE AT A HEARING BE-FORE JUSTICE OF THE PEACE SCOTT-DAWSON SPOKE HARSHLY TO BEATTY AND THE LATTER RE-TORTED BY HITTING HIM WITH AN ANE.

Daniel Dawson, of Smoketown, Throop borough, was struck on the head with an axe Thursday evening at 7.39 o'clock, and is in a critical condition at the Lackawanna hospital. Charles Beatty, who struck the blow, is in the county jail. He was brought there last night at 10.30 o'clock, com-mitted by Justice of the Peace M. W. Cummings, of Olyphant, on the charge of felonious wounding, but he will be held without bail, awaiting the result of Dawson's injuries.

Dawson was brought to the hospital at 4 o'clock yesterday morning. The doctors examined him and found his skull was fractured above the left ear. He was struck with the blunt side of cipal musicians. The regiment will the ax, or if it was the edge was used consist of twelve companies, divided the ax, or if it was the edge was used it was a dull one. The skull bone press-ed upon the covering of the brain and his right arm was paralyzed. An operation was performed on him esterday, and a piece as large as a dollar was cut from the skull to relieve the brain pressure.

HE MAY RECOVER.

the use of the arm, and if the brain injury is not such as to set up an inflammation and cause meningitis, he will probably recover. Injuries to the brain are so serious, be the shock ever so slight, that there is no telling what the result may be; and in his case it will be a week or more until his recovery can be ascertained.

He is perfectly conscious and told a Pribune reporter last night how it happened. He said it was a family affair. His wife's uncle, Thomas Lyons, of Throop, took Dawson's five-year-old ey some time ago and put him in St. Patrick's Orphan asylum. Dawson went there last week and took the child home; and Lyons swore out a warrant before Justice of the Peace Scott, of Throop, against him on the charge of abduction.

The hearing in the case was held on Thursday afternoon, and Beatty was a witness for Lyons. The upshot of the case was that the child was taken from Dawson and returned to the asylum. After supper Dawson walked out and net Beatty on the street. They live in the Delaware and Hudson company houses close by each other. Dawson recosted him as follows: "Beatty, I knew you were a two-faced skunk, but I never thought you were such a low-down cur."

This was met with a challenge to fight. Dawson said he didn't want to fight, and was going to start toward home to save himself, Beatty being a much larger man, but he had no sooner turned, he says, than he got the blow on the head and fell to the ground. MRS. DAWSON ESCAPED.

Mrs. Dawson ran out of the house creaming when she saw the blow Beatty followed her with the axe, but she got away from him. Dawson thinks but for he went after er he would have given him another blow, and, maybe, killed him. Dawson admitted that the boy is in etter hands when the sisters of St. Patrick's have him in charge than if ie were at home, but he does not want his wife's uncle or any one else to dictate to him about his child. Dawson is 37 years old and has five other children. Beatty is 28 years old and has a wife and twelve children. Both men worked in the mines.

Misses Black and Garagan never sang better and Miss Jordan was specially good in the solo "My Little Love." The ladies' chorus of six voices, sung by Misses Gearhart, Black, Guernsey, Garagan, Coyne and Jordan was effective and the blending of the voices and tone shading were very pleasing The Misses Guernsey and Saxo did remarkably well for young voices in the trie "Fbb and Flow." Misses Black, Garagan, Coyne and Jordan rendered a quartette, "The Father's Lullaby," with artistic expression Their voices blended like one and Miss Jordan's low notes were rich and gave a good foundation to the other three solos and duets of Misses Black and Garagan were up to the usual high standard of the work of these lovely

Mrs. Wilcox is to be very highly complimented for the most excellent programme given. And her pupils deserve the hearty expressions of a delightful evening's entertainment given by all who were present. Mr. Shafer, the piccolo player of Lawrence's orchestra, gave a brilliant solo in fine style. Mr. Charles Doersam was the accompanist, and his work was very sympathetic and artistic.

It Was Authorized by a Special Act of Congress.

"It was stated yesterday that the men who have been enrolled for engineering corps will not be included in the state's quota of the new call for troops," says yesterday's Philadelphia Ledger. "The organizing of a brigade of engineers was authorized by special act of congress, and, it is believed, can have nothing to do with the state's quota. There have been enrolled here for the brigade 700 names, and perhaps 300 have been enrolled in other parts of the state. "The work of organization will be carried forward as rapidly as possible, after which the brigade will go direct into the service. The examinations of applicants for commissions will be held shortly, in the United States army building, New York, and it is probable

OVERTAXED HOSPITAL.

Since that he has partially recovered | Lackawanna Institution is Being Used Beyond Its Capacity-Extra Beds and Cots Are Used.

> Not since the Lackawanna hospital vas built had there been more patients in its wards than the week just ending. Its ordinary accommodations provide for sixty patients. Last night there were seventy-three, and that number is two less than on Wednesday. The place is so crowded that no more medical cases can be admitted, at least not for awhile until some of the cases go out, or until more room is provided, and the latter is impossible until an addition is built.

In Ward I twenty beds is the limit, yet every available inch of floor space has been utilized to crowd in eleven cots among them. That is the surgical ward, where accident cases are kept In the male ward upstairs eighteen beds take up nearly all the room, but five extra cots had to be crowded into In the children's ward, where there should be no more than 4 cribs with any degree of comfort, there are 6, and a cot for one adult.

In the women's surgical ward every bed is occupied, but there are no cots, Three cots had to be placed in the corridor downstairs, as there was no room for them elsewhere. There are seven ritical pneumonia cases now in the nospital, and seventeen out of the ighteen patients in the men's medical ward are unable to leave their beds at all. This is very unusual, but it makes the crowded condition more pressing. Miss Kraemer, the superintendent, sent out an appeal a week or so since for light clothing and straw hats for boys, but the response was limited to four hats. Usually the charitably-disward in responding to such appeals, out this time they appeared to have overlooked it. Miss Kraemer will be glad to receive donations such as she isks for the children, or donations of whatsoever nature. A visit through the hospital is all that is needed to convince one of the vast amount of good it is accomplishng for those who have not the means to help themselves in sickness. Miss Kraemer's direction it has in-creased in efficiency to a high standrd, and is in every way deserving of liberal remembrance.
