The thirteen annual excursions of the Home for the Friendless in the past have never in any instance given promiss of auch popularity as at present. To some extent this is due to the bicycle faces at Binghamton one week from today. I was chiefly on account of this interestin event that the date of June 8 was secored. The Orcen Ridge Wheelmen will probably go in a body and at least one other club has signified a similar intertion. Nearly a score of applicants for aid have already been made to the officers of the Soldiers' Relief association. The work of investigating them promises to be so laborious that the employing of an agent will be proposed at the regular meeting tomorrow afternoon. Hon, John R. Farr, T. H. Dale and the secretary at present constitute the relief committee. Mr. Farr has been out of the city several days and the business demands upon the time of the other two members have been such that the relief work has been at a standstill. It would be easier, too, if every applicant could receive a sum of money or an order for provisions on demand, but we alone can be the judges of what is needed and it will take time, trouble and money to do it.

The committee feels that it must onform strictly to business principles in handling the money of its patrons. Our position is one of trust and we are obligated to the givers as well as to the applicants in seeing that the means at our disposal are well ap-

The bank went to the wall in 1894. Major Everett Warren and Attorney S. B. Price represent Mr. Kelly and Attorneys I. H. Burns and W. S. Diehl, the plaintiff.

Mrs. Callender's husband claims that the bonds were given to M. J. Stone, the cashier, to tide him through a financial stringency, and the defendant alleges that they were given to the bank as part payment of a stock subscription of $25,000. The case will occupy a few days longer and maybe all
