

SCRANTON MAP PRIOR TO 1840

In Those Days "Sloum Hollow" Was Much Isolated.

HYDE PARK, PROVIDENCE, "MAIN ROAD" AND "BACK ROAD" WERE THE MOST THICKLY SETTLED COMMUNITIES-ONLY EIGHT PUBLIC THOROUGHFARES THEN EXISTED IN THE BROAD STRETCH OF TERRITORY NOW SCRANTON. MAP CONTAINS SOME FAMILIAR AND SOME STRANGE NAMES.

A curious map was displayed in the office of the city engineer yesterday. It bears the inscription "The Territory of Scranton Prior to September, 1840," despite the fact that the word "Scranton" appears nowhere else upon it. Probably the relic hasn't seen the light of day more than a dozen times in the last fifteen or twenty years unless for the purpose of examination by some curious antiquary. It wouldn't have been brought out yesterday only for the fact that an heir of the late Joseph Church was making claim to land along the North Main avenue and it was necessary to determine what the original width of that thoroughfare was.

The map shows all the territory within a mile north of Providence "corners," a line about the same distance west of the "Back Road," another line about a mile and a half below the junction of Roaring Brook and the Lackawanna river, and an eastern line about a mile east of Roaring Brook. Imagine all the Dummore territory missing from the center and Bellevue and Round Woods missing from the other corner and you have a mind picture of the map.

ONLY SEVEN ROADS. Only seven roads are shown in all that big expanse of territory. Three paralleling the river are the "Back Road," the "Main Road" (Main avenue) and another not named but which might be Cedar avenue running into an imaginary road through Court House square and thence to Caprons avenue, Sanderson avenue and on to near the easterly bank of the river at the Driving park and northward. Only two thoroughfares connect the "Back Road" with the territory where the city's business district now lies. In fact, these are the only two roads running east and west south of Providence and only one runs east and west in that section. The latter road leads from Dummore "corners" to Providence "corners" and on up Leggett's creek. Add a road leading from the west side now by the Lackawanna Iron and Steel company store to Dummore and you have all the roads in this vicinity at that time, excepting a short cross road above the Driving park and reaching from North Main avenue to the road on the east side of the river. "Sloum Hollow," as it is mentioned on the map, shows only six buildings. Two are designated "mill," two "sloum," one "mill" and one "school house."

On the road toward Dummore are indicated the houses of "Hitchcock," the brick house now owned by W. W. Watson, "Goy," "Cory," "Hornbaker" and "Swartz."

Hyde Park "corners," "Back Road" and Providence "corners" appear to be thickly settled communities within three little "Sloum Hollows" completely in the background. In Hyde Park are the names: Corbin, W. Merrifield, Merrifield, Hurlst (hotel), Orr, Decker, Kuster, Knapp, Washburn, Dully, Kernsman (G), Green (hotel), Hotelکش, Aberton, Engler, J. Kinlockbarck and Griffin.

Providence contains these names: Kinney, Williams, Gardner, Griffin, Drake, Vaughan, Jeffries, Lakey, Gilio, Chase, Bloom (hotel), Cottrell, Newton, Carson, Potter Tea Trapp.

North of what is now Pine Brook the four houses of Lutz, Carey, Howard and Praster are grouped together on the road running north from Sloum Hollow. There are then only houses between Sloum Hollow and a point near the road between Dummore and Providence.

On the "Main Road" (Main avenue) the following houses appear in the order named going north on the west side of the road from Hyde Park to Providence: Winton, Sukman, Trapp, Griffin, Griffin, Dr. Robinson, Van Storch, Stewart.

Between Hyde Park and "Back Road" on the two thoroughfares running through to Sloum Hollow are Kinlockbarck, Hurlst, Winton, Bloom, Atwill, Taylor, Popper, on the "Back Road" going north are Luckey, Dodge, Alis, Washburn, Gray, Briggs (G), Meat, S. Church, Townsend, Brown, Lockwood, Kilmer and Wheeler.

North of Providence each side of the river are Spencer, Hitchings, McDonald, Stevens (G), Griffin (C), Moore, Meads, Wedeman, Beecker, Swartz, White, Miller.

A comparatively small part of the territory shown in the map is cleared land. Woods are everywhere excepting near the groups of houses for some distance east and west of the "Main Road," north of Providence, and east of the river opposite Providence.

A Case of Systematic Catarrh Which Defied the Doctors.

"I cannot say enough in praise of your medicine. I was very bad with stomach trouble. I doctored with three of the best doctors, but they did me no good. I grew weaker and suffered more than I can tell. I would be so sick that I would vomit blood; was so weak I could scarcely stand on my feet. I could scarcely eat anything and could not drink a bit of water, tea or coffee. I cannot tell how long I lived. I was nearly a year that way. Finally a cough set in and my friends thought I had consumption, and I thought I could not live long. I saw your advertisement of Peppina and Man-a-lin. I got a bottle of Peppina and had taken about a third of a bottle when I felt better. In all I took two bottles of Peppina and three of Man-a-lin, and I positively think that it saved my life."—Libbie E. Simon, Detroit, Mich.

Send for a book written by Dr. Hartman especially for women. It is a handsomely illustrated pamphlet and treats of female catarrh in its many phases and complications. It will be sent free to any address by The Peppina Drug Manufacturing Company, Columbus, Ohio.

SPAIN'S BALANCE SHEET.

Financial Obligations of the Cuban Autonomic Government.

The financial prospect under the new form of government is so unsatisfactory that it can hardly fail to strangle all progress and development, even if peace could be assured. Under one of the additional clauses to the home-rules constitution of the public debt of Cuba, including the expenses incurred for past and future military operations, is to be borne by Spain and Cuba in such proportions as may be hereafter determined. This clause before the revolution broke out was $72,909,099. Up to the end of 1907 the military operations cost $20,000,000. At the present time the expenditure is between $3,000,000 and $5,000,000 monthly. The total arrears now owing are about $7,000,000. At the close of 1908 the debt will be, therefore, not less than $28,000,000. The total service for interest and sinking fund can be calculated at $2,500,000. If Spain is content to assume one-half of these obligations there still remains a yearly payment of $10,000,000 to be made by Cuba. The maintenance of the rights of the Spanish crown has to be paid for by the Cuban treasury, and today this is costing, as has already been stated, a sum equal to $100,000,000 annually. This cost could, of course, be very greatly reduced if peace were established on a permanent basis; but as the prospects of peace are more than doubtful at present, this sum of $100,000,000 annually must be allowed in all calculations for the next three years. If Cuba remains a Spanish colony, the cost of the administration of the colonial government is estimated at some $10,000,000 yearly, and no doubt can be carried on for that sum if conducted on prudent lines. To meet all this heavy financial burden is only a colonial revenue of $20,000,000, or thereabouts. Previous to the outbreak of the insurrection the revenue was a little less than $25,000,000; but Cuba was then exporting five times as much produce as it now does, and some years must necessarily be charged before the trade of the island recovers from its present state of chaos. To sum up the matter briefly, the financial condition for the next three years under the new constitution is this:

Annual charge for service of debt	$12,500,000
Maintenance of the right of the Spanish crown	$10,000,000
Cost of colonial administration	$3,000,000
Total annual expenditure	$25,500,000
Total annual revenue	$20,000,000
Annual deficit	$5,500,000

At the end of three years the accumulated amount of these deficits will reach $16,500,000—clearly an impossible position to maintain for the colonial government.

The Spain remains with Cuba this sum of $27,500,000 is what she will be called upon to pay between now and 1901 in order to hold her colony. Of course, the service of the debt may be allowed to go into default, and the army stationed in Cuba might be recalled to the rights of the Spanish crown may be kept unpaid for a very long period; but if such a course is taken, it only makes the position of Spain more difficult in the end.

HE LIKED THE STYLE.

B. & O. Passenger Locomotives the Best in the Business.

Not a great while ago the General Superintendent of Motive Power of one of the largest railroad systems in the northern part of the country happened to visit Baltimore. Being of a courteous disposition, he called on Baltimore and Ohio railway officers to pay him his respects and he was given an opportunity to see the new locomotives that have been purchased during the past two years. He devoted a good deal of his time to an inspection of the monster iron wheels, examining the engines that are used between Philadelphia and Washington on the sixty-mile an hour Royal Blue train. When he was ready to depart he turned to one of the company's officers and remarked:

"I have always been of the opinion that there was nothing on the Baltimore and Ohio road that was worth patterning after, but I am very glad to say that I have seen today the most advanced types of locomotives in the country. I know of no railroad in the country whose motive power is equal to yours." Within a month after his visit to Baltimore this official ordered a number of his locomotives, only stipulating that they should be built after the plans of the Baltimore and Ohio engines.

Four Years for an Express Agent.

Wooner, O., June 2.—Charles Cutton, of Orrville, the express agent who embezzled $100,000 from the Adams Express company in March, was sentenced today to four years in the penitentiary. Cutton was arrested in Mexico City a week ago and was lodged in jail here yesterday. He admitted his guilt and turned over $2,000 to the company.

Writ of Habeas Corpus for Shaw.

Philadelphia, June 3.—Justice Garrison of the New Jersey Supreme court, today granted a writ of habeas corpus to Eli Shaw, who is in the Camden jail awaiting trial on the charge of murdering his mother, he having been acquitted on the charge of murdering his grandmother. The writ was obtained by his counsel and is made returnable June 7.

SCHOOL CHILDREN FILED IN TERROR

They Were Attacked by a Mad Dog During a Picnic in the Woods.

PATRICK GAUGHAN, THE EIGHTY-ONE-YEAR-OLD SON OF MARTIN GAUGHAN, OF MINOOKA, WAS BITTEN ON BOTH LEGS—ONE OF THE CHILDREN WITH A STICK SUCCEEDED IN SEPARATING THE DOG FROM HIS VICTIM AND THEN DISAPPEARED.

A hundred or more pupils of No. 1 school, Minooka, were on their way to the woods yesterday morning to enjoy a lunk picnic, it being the closing day of the term, and a vicious dog made a dash at a group of them and bit Patrick Gaughan, the 8-year-old son of Martin Gaughan, inflicting serious lacerations on both legs.

The other children became terrorized and scattered in confusion. Many of them took refuge in trees, and it took some time for the teachers to restore them to calmness. The report that a mad dog had run riot through the crowd of children was circulated among the parents, and consternation prevailed until all returned safely from the woods.

The facts appear to be that five or six Polish children from Greenwood were playing in what is called the "picnic grounds," which is a grove of trees lying west of St. Joseph's cemetery.

Young Gaughan and several companions were romping on ahead of the other pupils and the dog set upon them. Gaughan was the nearest. The dog knocked him down and then began to bite his legs.

One of the Polish children took a stick and gave the dog several blows before it desisted, and then it scampered off through the woods. The teachers, Misses Colia Nallin, Mary Egan, Katie Jeffers, Mamie Langan and Anna Bosnow, were a distance of three blocks away from where the dog attacked the boy, but before they could render any assistance the brute had run away. It was a big shaggy creature, and its appearance was enough to frighten any child.

The injured pupil was attended at first the circumstances would permit with emergency bandages and brought home. Dr. Haggerty was called and he said the boy will be well in a week, but the nervous fright was severe, and he was suffering much from it last evening.

An occurrence of the kind admits of such exaggerated detail that the wilder rumors were spread during the forenoon through Minooka; and the nervous tension of the people was pitched to a correspondingly high degree.

The pupils assembled at the school room at 9 o'clock in the morning as usual, and after the announcements were made by the teachers that the term was at an end, all prepared to enjoy the picnic in the woods. The ages of the pupils were from 6 to 14 years, the most of them girls.

ACK OF PORT AU PRINCE.

How Morgan's Recaptured Captured the Cuban City.

When the fleet arrived at the nearest harbor Morgan landed his men and marched toward the town, but he did not succeed in making a secret attack, as he had had a Spanish prisoner had led himself drop backward, and swimming ashore, had warned the governor of the attack. The private troops of a number of the towns of the coast, led by the road by which the pirates must come, and when he found a suitable spot he built a formidable fortification with his soldiers were posted, with their rifles and their cannon, within Frank R. Stockton in St. Nicholas.

PLAIN COLORED ORGANDIES are ruffled with a better result than figured ones, and either, one very deep gathered flounce having a narrow roll as a heading, or many narrow ruffles is a matter of taste. Under all circumstances the edge is finished in some way, and contrasting colors, such as ruffles of another hue, and this was illustrated by a pale green organdy, ruffled with lavender organdy. The skirt had three narrow, plaited flounces, the upper one headed by a beautiful green and lavender silk lace-trimmed, the lower one by a narrow green and white border, and the reverse (all around the shoulders) was of lavender ruffles headed by the vine, with sleeves in keeping.

THERE IS A DECIDED TENDENCY in favor of sheer muslin or organdy underskirts in preference to silk which has just become evident, and some white spangled net costumes are rendered additionally charming by soft, fleecy underskirts, with a plain net ruffle and two chiffon points which edge the skirt. Independent waists were never so popular, particularly those made with tucks throughout, and silk already tucked and bordered in harmonious contrasts, sixteen and a half inches wide, retails at $2.00 per yard. When expense is not considered, the tucked silk is used for the entire waist, with the border arranged round the lower outline of the bodice yoke or guimpes and brought down each side of the front, as a loose flowing pelerine; the border also meeting at the outer seam of the sleeve.

AN ECONOMICAL DEVICE is to use plain silk for the back and the tucked at the front, and in this case justly combined. Black, spangled net blouse fronts are now shown, commencing at $2.75, and set off a plain waist wonderfully well, or beaded and spangled gowns lined with satin, cover up many defects.

White and black creases crossed both ways with narrow black velvet, or plain satin with several tucks or rows of shirring across the front, rival chiffon or soft silk, are extremely stylish, and a change from silk or chiffon.

Combinations of red, blue and blue have been seen on all sides, the most striking being blue silk waists with red vests, and blue and white revers. These three colors are combined in various other ways, especially in misses' or children's wear, and plaid, hound, knots or small designs are sold by the thousands. Sofa cushions are the latest addition to patriotic displays, some having the red and white stripes on a blue satin pillow, or stars in three colors worked on a neutral tint.

average 1,000 francs, or $200, in the country. In other words, the foreign visitor spend in the country every winter the sum of $54,000,000. The English are put down as contributing one-third of this amount; the French themselves contribute another third; Germans, Belgians, Dutch, Russians and Americans contribute the remainder. From being a poor country when it was annexed to France, in 1850, Nice has become one of the richest departments of the republic.

Some figures recently compiled of the revenues of hotels from tourists in Paris show the average number of foreign visitors to be 60,000. It is customary to estimate at 10 francs, or $2, a day the hotel bills of strangers in Paris. Estimating at $2 a day each the hotel bills for 60,000 guests, and at about as much more their other outlays, it is to be seen that tourists in Paris can be put down for an expenditure of nearly a quarter of a million dollars a day.

The total sum expended by tourists in Europe in a year is probably not very far from $700,000,000, and a very considerable portion of this comes from the pockets, the purses, and the bankers' balances of Americans, who are proverbially the most liberal among travelers. Russians come second, Brazilians third.

NEW YORK FASHIONS.

Bridal Costumes—Graduating Dresses. Organdies—Tucked Silk Waists. Combinations of Red, White and Blue.

Special Correspondence of The Tribune. New York, June 3.—Many June brides will wear dresses of soft white Brussels or any other fine net, made over sheer organdy, with few or many ruffles according to individual taste. White chiffon and her exquisite fabric for this purpose, is also popular and trimmed with broad bands of Renaissance lace and endless narrow double chiffon ruchings, a charming effect is produced. The guimpes for round yokes are also prevalent in original costume, and an economical as well as pretty idea is to have the guimpes and long sleeves made separately, and at the first reception after the wedding tour, they are dispensed with, and the wedding dress worn low-necked.

AS MANY PRISONS.

prefer white satin to any other material, it is by no means out of style, and large amounts may be expended on duchesse or point lace, or a satin costume may be very simply made; always with a blouse effect, high neck and long sleeves, and either a square or round train. Bridal suits of three pieces are examples of fine handwork and vary in price from $75 to several hundred dollars. Some particularly pretty sets, show the reverse of the night dress lace, and to meet the demands of refined taste, they are delicately perfumed by Murray & Langman's Florida water, which is a soft fragrance that remains unaltered, while in these days of outdoor sports, no emollient is so delicious for a summer complexion as this old-time favorite.

SOFTNESS IS ALSO THE LEADING FEATURE.

In graduating dresses, null, or the organdy (over organdy) underskirts fitted to any extent, and having especial favor; white silk linings with null are however an optional matter. Tucked or full, gathered sleeves are indispensable, the ornamentation on the guimpes not necessarily matching the sleeves. Plain or fancy striped white satin sets (four yards being sold for a pair) are always worn with a pure white costume, and satin ribbon bows on the shoulders must be in harmony. Choice is not limited to the fabrics just described, as the muslin, China silk or soft net are used with excellent effect; the main objects being softness and simplicity.

In a modest and unobtrusive way there are few better conducted hotels in the metropolis than the St. Denis, which has a quiet room readily to be traced to its unique location, its homelike atmosphere, the peculiar excellence of its cuisine and service, and its very moderate prices.
