CITY NOTES.

Cards of thanks, resolutions of condolence, obituary poetry and the like will be inserted in The Tribune only when paid for in advance, at the rate of 10 cents per line.

The renovated Center street police station will be reopened tomorrow.

The Delaware and Hudson company paid Saturday at the locomotive shops at Carbondale and the trackage north of Scranton.

The grounds at the Lackawanna hospital have been brightened and beautified by several beds of flowers arranged under the direction of Florist T. B. McClintock.

William McNamara, of Parsons, who received the contents of a charge of shot from a gun in the hands of Frank Gill, of Dunmore, will be able to leave the Lackawanna hospital tomorrow.

The jury empaneled in the case of Anthony Murphy, of Olyphant, who died Thursday morning at the Lackawanna hospital, and in whose death Patrick Cawley is suspected of being instrumental, will meet this evening at 8 o'clock at the office of Coroner Longstreet.

Judge Quaster on Saturday appointed E. G. Smith, civil engineer; Attorney John P. Kelley, and Mayor James J. O'Neill, of Carbondale, a board of viewers in the matter of a road in Fell township. The execution against the old view are permitted to stand over until the present viewers present their report.

For the week ending Saturday, the report of the Scranton Clearing House association was as follows: June 6, $14,015.53; June 7, $16,012.20; June 8, $14,015.53; June 9, $11,185.20; June 10, $11,185.20; June 11, $13,585.96; Total, $108,623.23. The total for the corresponding week in 1897 was $71,659.98, showing an increase of $36,963.25 for this year.

REIBER GAINING STRENGTH.

Dunmore Man Who Was Hit with Club Is Now Conscious.

The indications are that Peter Reiber, who was struck with a club on the head a week ago Friday night by Fred Harper, of Dunmore, will recover. He has been resting very comfortably the past three days at the Lackawanna hospital and is gaining strength.

The nature of his injuries is such that when once he begins to show signs of improvement the prospect of his recovery is bright. For three or four days after the blow was given to him he was delirious when not in a state of coma, but he is conscious now and is taking nourishment.

DIED.

MILLER—In Scranton, Pa., June 12, 1898, Burdette, infant son of Mr. and Mrs. William H. Miller, of 106 Price street, aged seven months. Funeral services Monday June 12, at 2 p. m.

TRACY IS IMPROVING.

He Will Have to Do Without Tobacco for a While.

Attorney W. J. Tracy, who was removed Friday from the county jail to the Lackawanna hospital, is strong enough to want a pipe and tobacco to have a smoke. His wish will not be gratified for a few days more, however.

He has rested well since going to the hospital and did not have any more hemorrhages. He was on the verge of physical collapse, but the treatment accorded him will most likely tide him over it, unless new complications arise.

BROTHER WAS PROSECUTOR.

William Connolly Arrested for Stealing Watch and Clothing.

William Connolly, of Bellevue, was arraigned before Alderman Howe Saturday on a charge of having stolen a watch, a pair of trousers, a vest and two coats from his brother, who prosecuted the case.

Connolly was committed to jail in default of $400 bail to appear in court.

BIG SCHOOL EXCURSION.

Fifteen Hundred Persons Went to Lunenburg Saturday.

The excursion of the Teachers' Mutual Benefit association of the Scranton schools to Riverside park, Lunenburg, Saturday, was attended by fifteen hundred persons. The ride was over the Delaware and Hudson to Carbondale, and over the Jefferson branch of the Erie from there. Two trains were required of eleven and ten cars each, and the run was made back and forth without the least friction.

The park is close to the railway station and is on the banks of the Susquehanna river. Two steamers, the Idlewild and Ermine, made several trips seven miles up the river, and afforded the teachers and pupils the pleasure of the ride and of viewing the beautiful scenery. The park is fitted with merry-go-rounds, see-saws, shoot-the-chutes, and other such features. Ample refreshments were provided, too, but a large number carried lunch baskets.

Edwin Harter, of No. 36 school, won the boys race, the prize being a suit of clothes. The train for home left the park at 5.30 and arrived here shortly before 6 o'clock. About four hundred waited for the regular train due here at 10.25. The excursion was a source of more revenue to the association than any of its past annual events.

TWO SUDDEN DEATHS.

Occurred Among the Foreign-Born Residents of Winton Borough.

Coroner Longstreet was notified yesterday of two sudden deaths among the foreign population of Winton borough; one being the case of Mrs. Annie Lackawanna, an Hungarian woman forty-seven years old, who died at 10 o'clock Saturday night, and the other that of Michael Poloski, a Polish man thirty-two years old, whose death happened at 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon. After inquiring into the circumstances of both cases, Dr. Longstreet decided that inquests were unnecessary. Undertaker George Prokopovitch, of Ulysses, took charge of both bodies.

The woman's husband died ten years ago. She has a married daughter and an unmarried son living in Jessup Flats near the Delaware and Hudson railroad tracks, and she went out among the people of her nationality doing washing and scrubbing. She worked Saturday until 6 o'clock. At 9 o'clock she went to bed with convulsions and died in an hour. Dr. Grover, of Pickville, attended her. She was in the habit of using alcoholic stimulants and it undermined her health. That and the heat are accountable for her death.

Poloski was affected with heart trouble. He was not very rugged. After dinner yesterday he and his bedfellow retired for a nap, and at 3 o'clock he got up as he said, to get some fresh air. He walked into the back yard to get an outdoor airing and fell dead as he was entering it. A doctor was called and he pronounced it a case of heart failure. Poloski has a wife and family in the old country.

FROM WEALTH TO PENURY

Patrick Loughney Has Experienced All Phases of Life.

With a cash account of over $4,000 in his credit two or three years ago, Patrick Loughney today is penniless, homeless, and dangerous to life. He was picked up on Penn avenue at 6 o'clock Saturday evening by a friend, who found him stretched along the sidewalk at the Dickson works. He was brought to Feldman's hotel, at the corner of Penn avenue and Mulberry street, and the same friend paid a week's board for him.

Yesterday his condition was so bad that Rev. J. B. Foley was sent for, and Loughney was given the last sacraments to prepare him for death. The priest, who is a friend of his, and brought on his illness. He was traveling around the streets for a week with but a crust to eat; though there are many persons in the city who would help him along if they knew his plight. The priest who picked him up Saturday concluded his ministry. He has known Loughney many years, and was surprised to see him so destitute.

It was supposed that he was possessed of a large sum of money, sufficient to keep the wolf from the door and to provide against a rainy day. The explanation he gave was that he went down to New Jersey expecting to spend the remainder of his life among relatives, but his money gradually slipped away from him, until it was all gone. He left there then and came back to Scranton.

He worked as a laborer around the shops for thirty years, and was of a saving disposition. His home was at Pine Brook. He is about 65 years old.

TRIENNIAL EPISCOPAL CONVENTION.

Begins Tomorrow and Will Last for Three Days.

The sessions of the triennial convention of the Episcopal diocese of Central Pennsylvania will begin tomorrow morning at Altoona and will probably last three days. Thursday, the ordination of the new bishop will occur in this city, and a brother of Mrs. S. P. Longstreet, of Wyoming avenue, will take place. Dr. and Mrs. Longstreet will attend.

Several delegates from hereabouts will attend. Altoona today. Among these are John Jermyn, H. W. Kingsbury, A. D. Holland, C. E. Sanderson, W. M. Marzelle, J. W. Oakford, R. J. Foster and F. P. Merriam, of St. Luke's; J. Ben Dimmick, B. White, and Thomas E. Jones, of the Church of the Good Shepherd, of Green Ridge.

BISHOP NICHOLSON IN GRACE CHURCH

Delivered a Sermon in Grace Reformed Episcopal Church.

DESIGNATED THE BAPTISM FOR DEAD AS AN ABSURDITY AND NOT A SCRIPTURAL TEACHING—SERMON THAT HAD PARTICULAR REFERENCE TO CHILDREN'S DAY DELIVERED BY REV. D. P. JONES IN TABERNACLE CHURCH, WEST SCRANTON.

Bishop Nicholson was at Grace Reformed Episcopal church yesterday and delivered an interesting sermon, whose topic was an obscure passage in I Cor. 15:29: "Else what shall they do which are baptized for the dead if the dead rise not at all? Why then are they baptized for the dead?"

After remarking that these words had been the subject of general query and discussion, the reverend speaker declared that the text embodied the apostle's decisive and weighty contribution to the arguments for the resurrection and designating the baptism for the dead an absurdity and not a scriptural teaching. He showed the logical alternative of the supposition that there could be no resurrection of the dead. As there was no such thing in the universe as baptism of the dead the apostle uses it to fence against the supposition that no rising from the dead could take place.

An explanation of the supposed baptism for the dead followed. It might be the act of the living on behalf of one who had died without being baptized—viewing the condition of the dead and there was no reality in such a baptism, and it was ridiculed by Chrysostom.

There was another construction to be placed on this passage; the baptism for the dead was a vicarious baptism caused by martyrdom. As fact as Christians were put down by the sword, or extinguished by fire, others by faith stood in their footsteps like volunteers rushing into the places of the slain in an army. But why should any living Christians and laymen suffer if there be no resurrection of the dead? The apostle says in the words following the text: "Why stand we in jeopardy all our lives? It cannot thus be explained, although this is usual throughout the church. This construction is a heavy strain on the translation of the Greek, where it means "in behalf of the dead"—"benefiting the dead"—not filling a vacancy.

The explanation was sometimes made that the apostle referred to Christ, who died for the world's sins, but this construction he held as in the Greek the reference to the dead is plural, therefore not to be applied to one.

The English version in our version of the Bible was then noted. While the English version is not perfect, mistakes have occurred. "Else" as rendered here produces tautology. Literally it makes the passage read: "If the dead rise not at all, what shall they do which are baptized for the dead if the dead rise not at all?" It is a self-made by the translators, rarely indeed, but here evident. In the revised version the interrogation mark is moved backward.

CHANGE IS JUSTIFIED.

"Else what shall they do which are baptized for the dead?" thus relieving the tautology, bettering the English, but not relieving the difficulty of the phrase. Moving the mark thus gives us "What shall they do which are baptized?" which is better still. Are we justified in the change of punctuation? Yes.

Punctuation had no part in the Greek. The inspired writers in most instances, in the ancient Greek and Roman manuscripts there are no marks at all separate the words. Scholars and editors have done the punctuation and interpretation therefore does not especially depend on words as our modern editions do. The words are in the original of the Bible and that which must be the language that no ambiguous phrases appear. Lord Brougham once ordered an alteration in the order of words in one of his long boring speeches. Tertullian in the first century, Chrysostom in the second, Theodor in the fifth and Theophilus in the seventh indicate that the next must have been divided in this way and again it is in the line of the apostle's teaching. The sentiment of the Greek text was to deny resurrection in general, although Christ's resurrection was held. This was perilous.

Paul said: "If there be no resurrection of the dead, then is Christ not risen. If Christ be not risen, then is your faith vain. Ye are yet in your sins."

EFFORT IS DISCOURAGED.

All Christian effort is thus discouraged. There is nothing for the future but dead bodies and sinful souls, with the conditions forever of blackness and sorrow of future wretchedness. Christ does not give strength, hope and salvation. His death was our redemption. His resurrection is the certificate. His death was the payment for our debt. His resurrection is the payment received. God is no longer hidden behind the impenetrable veil of nature, but has stepped into view as the great supernatural force. In Christ risen we are not as orphans, but through and above and over all is our Father.

In His risen life is the spirit of victory when a weakest saint becomes a hero. In Christ's risen life is the beginning of a new creation. We begin on earth the perfection in the skies.

SERMON OF REV. D. P. JONES IN TABERNACLE CONGREGATIONAL CHURCH, WEST SCRANTON.

RECRUITS FOR THE REGULAR ARMY.

Lieutenant Dentler Sent Away His First Batch Saturday.

Thirty-eight men left here Saturday to go to Fort McPherson, Atlanta, Georgia, where they will be armed and clothed and drilled and later attached to the Eleventh United States Infantry now stationed at Tampa, Florida. The party forms the van-guard of the recruits for the regular army now being taken by Lieutenant C. E. Dentler, at the Mears building, and represent the selection of three days previous to Saturday.

Thomas Hughes, an ex-member of the regular army, and mustered out a few years ago ranking as sergeant was in charge of the party. They left via the 2 o'clock Delaware, Lackawanna and Western train and many friends were present to bid them God speed. Lieutenant Dentler expects to forward another detail Tuesday as quite a number have been sworn in.

Those who left Saturday were: Thomas Hughes, John Gillmore, George Smith, S. W. Little, scouter, George Casper, W. Crowell, Richard Kelly, William Andrews, David Donovan, George Twaddie, Elvin V. Morrison, Martin J. Healey, Samuel Press, John P. Olsson, Edward J. Ruane, Martin Monahan, Charles Bean, William Arthur, Michael Whelan, Thomas W. Walters, John F. Horn, George Taylor, Philip Steinmetz, Daniel Shipp, James R. Barrett, Henry J. Jones, Samuel Rodgers, Thomas P. Connor, Webster A. Walker, George Kelly, Joseph Kennedy, Thomas Graham, Thomas J. Davies, Michael Gill, John Bloomer, Evan Pickeloff, David Powell and Robert A. Barrett.

At the armory, where recruiting the recruits of the Thirteenth regiment Pennsylvania volunteers, is going on, 120 names have been secured and Dr. W. G. Fulton will begin examining this morning. Captains Robbing and McCausland desire to have all who intend going to hand their names in immediately.

DROWNED WHILE BATHING

William Weatherlogg, of Hampton Street, Met Death in the Roaring Brook.

William Weatherlogg, 22 years old, of Hampton street, West Side, was drowned Saturday afternoon in the new dam of the Lackawanna Iron and Steel works, at the Roaring Brook. He and three other young men were bathing, and he dived into water much beyond his depth. Being unable to swim, he sank, came to the surface and struggled and splashed, and sank again to his death. None of the other boys could swim well enough to lend him any assistance.

The dam had to be emptied to recover his body, and at 10 o'clock Saturday night Undertaker Tague removed it to the home of the parents. Weatherlogg was employed at the Lackawanna colliery, and it was customary for many young men employed at the same place to go after working hours or on idle days to the dam to bathe.

Those who could not swim selected the upper end of the roaring brook, and Weatherlogg was with them, but he waded to a stump that put him in the water, and dived from it. In his effort to swim out, he struggled into a depth of ten feet. At first, as he had said he could swim, his companions thought he was playing off and that he was fully capable of taking care of himself. The truth of the matter did not dawn upon them until the young man went down to rise no more.

TO DISCOURAGE BLASPHEMY.

Object for Which the Holy Name Society Was Organized.

Between three and four hundred men were received into the Holy Name society at St. Peter's Catholic church, and all along the brook from the blast furnace to the tunnel bathing spots are frequented. Coroner Longstreet viewed the remains and decided that an inquest was not necessary.

MEN IN FINE CONDITION.

Ryan and Bartley Prepared and Eager for Tonight's Fight.

Tonight in Music Hall will be decided the 20-round boxing contest between Tommy Ryan, of Philadelphia, and Frank Bartley, of Binghamton. Jack Steddy, manager of the American Sporting club, reached here Saturday afternoon and has since been arranging the many details connected with so important a bout. Ryan arrived late yesterday afternoon with his trainer, the well-known Harry Tutbill; Bartley is due here with his handlers at 9:45 o'clock this morning.

A large number of Ryan's friends called to see him at the Grand Central hotel last evening, but at 8:30 o'clock he went out with Tutbill and did four miles and return, eight miles in all, over the Dickson City boulevard. They were back in the hotel after an hour's absence. When Ryan was stripped and put through the rubbing process it was noticed that he had scarcely turned a hair. Those who saw him were loud in their praise of his condition. He was never better. There was not an ounce of fat on him. His muscles showed like whiteboards, and every inch of him showed the good effects of a long siege of hard and faithful training.

Prominent among those who visited Ryan was Frank Eckles, the New York traveling man who has managed to be here and near Ryan's corner in every contest the Philadelphia has waged in Scranton. Eckles, Tutbill and "Spikie" Sullivan, who will arrive from New York with Referee Sam C. Austin at 5:45 o'clock this afternoon, will be back by Ryan tonight.

Bartley will reach here with a large crowd of personal friends early this morning. He may be seen at the St. Charles Hotel up to 12 o'clock, noon, but after that hour he will be resting, excepting at 2 o'clock when the men weigh in. Jimmy Barry, Tim Hurley, P. H. Fitzgerald and Michael S. Bartley will comprise the main part of the Bartley party.

Sam Tonkins, who was beaten by Jim Judge before the Fifth Avenue Athletic club, has forwarded here a challenge, which will be announced through the employment of the referee. It is positively stated that no tickets will be sold until the doors open at 7:30 o'clock this evening.

VERDICTS IN COMMON PLEAS COURT.

They Were Returned by Three Juries on Saturday.

Three verdicts were returned Saturday in court and the list for the second week of the common pleas term was cleared up.

In the replevin suit of Swartz Bros. of New York, against R. W. Osland and others a verdict for the plaintiff was found.

A verdict for the defendant was found in the ejectment suit of Michael Flannery and others against P. F. McDonnell and others.

In the action of A. B. Tyrrell & Co. against W. P. Taylor a verdict for the plaintiff in the sum of $1,765.89 was returned.

In the case of Wilson Green against Jones & Moore judgment was entered against the defendants for want of an appearance.
