GOVERNOR'S REMARKS UPON THE GREAT PROGRESS MADE IN THE PROCESS OF SOLDIER-MAKING. RECRUITS WHO LEFT SCRANTON YESTERDAY REACHED CAMP HALF FAMISHED AS A RESULT OF SOME ONE'S NEGLIGENCE.

Special from a Staff Correspondent.

Camp Alger, Va., June 15.—Governor Hastings cut short his intended stay at Newport News and came on here today to visit the Pennsylvania soldiers. He and his party, consisting of State Senator J. Henry Cochrane, of Williamsport; Wilbur F. Reeder, assistant adjutant general of the National Guard of Pennsylvania; Private Secretary Lewis Bettler, and George M. Wambaugh, of the Associated Press, arrived in Washington last night and stopped at the Shoreham. This morning they were met by Colonel Corryell, of the Twelfth and Lieutenant Colonel Mattes, of the Thirteenth, and escorted to the camp.

After paying respects to General Graham and leaving compliments at First division headquarters for General Butler, who was unavoidably absent, the governor and his attendants took a hasty drive through the Pennsylvania camp. After dinner, which was partaken at the Sixth, Pennsylvania quarters, the governor made a visit to each regiment, calling first on the officers and then passing through each company street, shaking the hands of the men as they stood drawn up in two lines facing each other. When he had finished shaking hands with the men he told the captain that if he learned of any man in his command having a family at home in needy circumstances, to communicate the particulars to the governor of Pennsylvania and the Keystone state would see to it that the want was relieved.

TOUR OF THE CAMPS.

The governor's tour of the camps was one succession of ovations, each company vying with the other in giving him and the grand old commonwealth a lusty cheer. At 4.30 a review was held in the governor's honor. Colonel Courson should have conducted it, but Colonel Schell, of the Sixth, Pennsylvania, made an eleven-hour claim for the honor, and sooner than have any unpleasant hitch, Colonel Courson took command of the Thirteenth and allowed Colonel Schell to fill the first place. General Graham rode over from headquarters and participated in the review out of compliment to the governor. All the Pennsylvania's greatly appreciated the major general's courtesy.

The Thirteenth led the procession in review, with the Twelfth, Eighth and Sixth following in the order named. The men are being uniformed and are fairly well drilled and made an excellent showing and filled their old commander-in-chief with admiration. He was profuse in complimenting the commanders on the progress that has been made in the process of soldier-making during the short month that the Pennsylvanians have been at Camp Alger. The remainder of the evening was spent in visiting the officers and discussion of the treatment the men are receiving.

The governor and his party sleep in their private car at Dunn Loring tonight and tomorrow will proceed to the forts in and about the District of Columbia, where detachments of Pennsylvania regiments are stationed. The governor said this afternoon that before leaving Washington he will call on Secretary Alger and ask permission to have Pennsylvania's second call quota increased sufficiently to allow the expansion of all the regiments to three battalion dimensions.

BAD TREATMENT.

The sixty-six recruits who left Scranton at 10 o'clock this morning arrived here at 11.30 p. m., after an extremely rough voyage. They had nothing to eat except one basket of sandwiches, and as some of the men got more than their share, some of them did not get any. They would not be allowed to leave the car to purchase food and consequently many of them had nothing to eat from the time they left Scranton until they reached here a little before midnight.

After the water in the one tank that was in their car was exhausted they could not get it replenished and had to travel two hundred miles without drink. As a climax to their hard day's experience they were compelled to trudge two miles through the dark over a rough and dusty country road from the station to the camp. Coffee and plenty of food was awaiting them at the company mess tents. The way they ate was only equaled in vigor by the language they used to express their feelings on the manner they were treated on the trip. They were fixed up with bunks in the mess tents.

Captain E. D. Fellows was this morning presented with a handsome gold watch by the members of his command, Company F. The presentation was made at 7.30 o'clock by Private Frank Jones in the presence of all the company and large delegations from the other companies of the regiment. Captain Fellows was taken by surprise, but made a very timely response, expressing his gratitude and appreciation. There was cheering galore when the speechmaking had concluded and Captain Fellows was visited by his fellow officers with their congratulations. The watch is of solid gold and on the rear case is inscribed: "Captain E. D. Fellows. Presented by Company F, Thirteenth regiment, Pa. Vols., June 15, 1898."

AN ARMY AMBULANCE.

General Butler evidently does not agree with common report that the First division is to move at almost any hour. Today he promulgated an order that looks forward to the regiments being here the first of July. The order is one directing an inspection of the ten commands of his division, one regiment a day, beginning tomorrow. The Thirteenth is scheduled to go up for criticism June 21. First Lieutenant M. C. Butler, jr., son of the major general, is detailed as inspecting officer, with instructions to report in detail any deficiencies in equipment, discipline, and the like.

GOSSIP OF THE CAMP.

Special from a Staff Correspondent. Camp Alger, Va., June 15.—Nearly all the companies have largely diminished ranks at drill owing to sore arms consequent upon vaccination. More than half of Companies E and G are thus incapacitated. Most of these boys, who are from Honesdale and Montrose, never having been vaccinated before, are more seriously affected than the others. Surgeons Keller and Blanchard excuse from drill every man to whom, in their opinion, it would be painful to do duty.

The stomach complaints are on the decrease. The surgeons attribute this to the fact that the men are refraining from indulgent eating at the refreshment stands, and to the further fact that their systems are getting on more friendly terms with the water of this region.

Thanks to the National Relief association and Congressman Connel, the men of the Thirteenth are living high just at present.

The prospect of going to Hawaii is viewed with pleasure by the members of the Thirteenth. As the chances of doing any real war are at present very vague and indefinite and there is a probability of being kept in Florida or maybe here until hostilities cease, the boys would gladly welcome the Hawaii trip. If we are never to be anything more glorious than an army of occupation they say, let it be hoped we will be sent to occupy Hawaii, Garrison duty there, it is generally felt, would be much more pleasant than in Cuba, Porto Rico or the Philippines, and the experience would be every bit as valuable.

Preparations for the reception of Governor Hastings when he comes to visit the Pennsylvanians at Camp Alger are being carried on under the direction of Acting Brigadier Courson. At a meeting yesterday of the Pennsylvania colonels, Mattes, of the Thirteenth; Corryell, of the Twelfth; Hoffman, of the Eighth; and Schell, of the Sixth, it was decided to have a review and if practicable some kind of a reception, at which the officers might assemble formally and pay their respects to his excellency. Very little of a definite nature could be arranged because no word had been received regarding the hour the governor would come or how long he would stay.

Private Schroeder, of Company C, was yesterday discharged from the Fort Myer hospital. It was thought the injury to his groin was of a permanent nature and that he would have to be discharged, but the surgeons brought him around all right and gave him a certificate of reinstatement in his company. He reported for duty yesterday afternoon and was assigned to his place in the ranks today.

Captain Derman and Privates Richard Thomas and George Klesman, of Company A, are home on furloughs. First Lieutenant Johnson is commanding the company during Captain Derman's absence.

The most anxious man in the Thirteenth is First Sergeant Daley, of Company A. His anxiety hangs on the possibility of his securing a furlough, for which he proposes to make application Friday. His anxiety for a furlough is occasioned by the fact that one night last winter he said "yes" and that June was as lucky a month as any. The day was to be set in May, but May found the background longer master of his own time. There was daily correspondence, of course, and it was agreed that the wedding would come off in June, war or no war, providing he could get excused long enough to go through with the ceremony. If he secures the furlough, and Colonel Mattes is not the man to refuse it, there will be a military marriage in Scranton on or about next Monday.

Captain Corwin, of Company H, is officer of the day; Lieutenant Roberts, of Company B, commander of the guard, and Private W. J. Horton, of Company G, orderly at headquarters. Colonel Mattes issued an order today directing that officers' schools be held every morning at 8 o'clock until further notice. He complains that the Thirteenth is not all that it should be in the matter of the little niceties of military etiquette and he proposes that it shall no longer serve in this respect as a contrast for the neighboring regiments, all of which are sticklers in this regard.

Owing to the excessive heat the battalion drill which formerly occurred from 3 to 4.30 p. m. is now held from 4 to 5 o'clock.

Rev. J. F. Feeley, of the cathedral, who is in attendance at the jubilee of St. Charles college, at Elkton City, Md., ran over yesterday to visit the Thirteenth.

Corporal R. J. Bourke, of Company C, has been granted a seven-day furlough, beginning Thursday.

Commissioners Lewis and Dugan upheld the objection, and the contestants asked to have the evidence certified to Judge Archbald. Judge Archbald examined the list of voters and found that the vote in question was recorded "Nich Heen."

He decided that the abbreviation of the first name as it was written could have been taken for Nicholas or Michael and he made an order permitting the contestants to examine Mr. Heen just as if his name were on the bill.

TEN YEARS AGONY FROM ECZEMA CURED BY CUTICURA

For ten years I suffered untold agonies from Eczema, my lower limbs being so swollen and broken out that I could hardly go about. My brother, a physician of thirty years' practice and other physicians of splendid ability, tried in vain to effect a cure and finally failed. I became absolutely discouraged, and had lost all hope, when a friend induced me to give CUTICURA REMEDIES a trial. I used two cakes of CUTICURA SOAP and two boxes of CUTICURA OINTMENT, and it resulted in an absolute and permanent cure.
