BIG FIRE.

Valuable Barns Burned at Waymart Yesterday Morning.

Yesterday morning the people in Gruver's hotel and adjoining buildings were awakened by the crucking of the burning wood and the noise made by terrified borses kicking against their stalls. On looking cut they discovered that one of the big barns next to the hotel was in flames. There were two of there structures, one of them built with two L projections, being equal to five ordinary barns. In addition to this there were many sheds in the immediate vicinity. When the fire was discovered it was already too late to stop the progress of the flames with the means at hand. A stiff gale was blowing from the west and the greatest excitement prevailed on all sides as it was feared the hotels and the cottages of C. E. Spencer and E. R. Rosse, of this city, on the opposite side of the street would also be

Luckily none of these suffered se verely owing to the saturated conditions mentioned above. Blazing shingles and great glowing cinders from the burning barns fell on the roofs of all but were extinguished by ready hands before they could ignite anything.

The barns were burned to the ground and the handsome shade trees at their front were ruined. By prompt action the horses, wagons and harness were taken out before the flames reached their quarters. No clue as to how the fire originated has yet been had. The fact that Waymart had previously been visited by a number of large fires of late leads some to the conclusion that there are firebugs in the village.

The view of the conflagration from Farview was a magnificent one, To day the lawns surrounding the dwellfings of the Carbondale cottagers are covered with debris, showing the narrow escape of the buildings from destruction. The amount of insurance on the barns could not be learned.

During the entire evening Professor Firth rendered a choice selection of music and the occasion was one of the marked social successes of the season.

Mr. Newman alleges that on the 17th day of February, 1898, at a place called Cardner's cross-the Delaware, Lackawanna and Western railroad, he was driving along the public highway at a place where it rosses the rallroad, when, by the neglect of the company to blow a whistle or ring a bell or to properly manage its train, he was run down, his horse killed, wagon and harness destroyed, ribs broken, leg and arm broken, and he was otherwise severely injured, by which he has suffered permanently in both body and mind." Our base ball team play Port Jervis next Wednesday, and St. Bonaventure's college, Allegheny, Pa, next Saturday afternoon. Both games promise to be more evenly contested than we have been witnessing of late. Honesdale has only lost one game this season, and that one has always been in doubt. Our boys are certainly playing in great form, and deserve better support than has been given thus far. Now, let's all turn out tomorrow and give our friends from Port Jervis such a thrashing that they will beg a game with Carbondale.

Early yesterday morning the body of John Houston, of Avoca, was found near Bennett's coillery, near Dupont, with a terrible wound in the breast and his face badly distigured, the result of a gun shot fired by some unknown person. Deceased and his brother Jerry worked in the Pickaway colliery, several miles distant, and having no home, they preferred keeping "bach" in that neighborhood. Saturday being pay day they came to Dupont and visited several places together. A woman from Dupont said she saw them at about 11 'cleek on that evening and one of them carried a gun. This is supposed to be the weapon that caused his death. His brother says they were separated dur-ing the evening and he cannot account for the cause of the tragedy.
