

TROOPS ON THE MOVE

Part of Gen. Duffield's Brigade Has Left for Newport News.

OTHERS FOLLOW SATURDAY

Yale and Harvard Will Take Them to Santiago.

OTHER BRIGADES ARE TO FOLLOW AS SOON AS TRANSPORTS CAN BE SECURED—RECRUITING DETAIL RETURNED TO CAMP LAST EVENING BRINGING A DOZEN RECRUITS WITH THEM—ONE OF THE NUMBER WAS THOMAS MILES, WHO WILL BE CHIEF MUSICIAN.

Special from a Staff Correspondent.
Camp Alger, Va., June 22.—General Duffield and half his brigade, the Thirty-third Michigan, and one battalion of the Thirty-fourth Michigan, are now on the Potomac, bound for Newport News to take ship for Santiago, there to aid General Shafter until General Miles is ready to move on Porto Rico.

The other half of the brigade, the Second battalion of the Thirty-fourth and the Ninth Massachusetts, will leave Saturday. The Yale and Harvard will convey them to the front. Other brigades from here will follow as fast as transports can be secured.
The recruiting detail returned to camp at 6.30 tonight, bringing the last of the recruits, a dozen in number, with them. Thomas Miles, the new chief musician, was one of them. The band went out this evening on dress parade and made a good impression.

ABUSE OF A PRIVILEGE.

The abuse of the privilege granted commissioned officers of having beer and wine delivered to them in camp has caused General Graham to issue a stringent order forbidding intoxicants being brought within the lines under any conditions. It is not to be understood that the commissioned officers are all guilty of abusing the privilege, although some of them doubtless have. It is rather the dealers who have transgressed the rules. They brought their delivery wagons into camp loaded with beer assuring the provost that they would not sell to anyone but commissioned officers. Once inside the lines and out of sight of the provost they sold to whoever would buy, the only condition being that they present an order from a commissioned officer for whatever they wanted to purchase. Printed forms were distributed and as anybody could get hold of these it did not take the enlisted men very long to have them filled out. Some officers did not hesitate to seize as many of these orders as were brought to them, but when an officer's signature was not forthcoming the private would force it and as the beer men did not have detectives around to look out for these forgeries, the men soon learned that genuine orders were no more efficacious than forged ones and as a consequence there was after a time no restriction whatever on the sale of beer.

In addition to this the camp was overrun with walking saloons—gangs of men carrying whiskey flasks in their pockets and selling them to the men in secluded places about the grounds. Wagons also brought loads of the stuff to the adjacent groves and did a thriving business selling liquor by the quart and even gallon. Scarcely a day passed but what a number of arrests were made by the provost's men, sometimes as high as seven culprits being captured in one day, as was the case yesterday and again last Saturday. These are turned over to the civil authorities. How General Graham proposes to successfully enforce the new rule is a difficult thing to see, but as he is a very determined man and generally succeeds in what he sets out to do it is likely the liquor traffic in Camp Alger is about at an end.

FINCH WAS UNLUCKY.

Passed a Pawnbroker's Place in Time to Get Arrested.

By happening to pass at an unlucky moment the door of a pawn shop where he had pawned a watch several weeks ago, H. S. Finch yesterday put himself in the hands of the law for the alleged theft of the timepiece.
On the day of the Pawnee Bill show in this city Michael Loftus, of 1657 Sycamore street, was relieved of his watch and a small sum of money at the St. Denis hotel. He related his loss to his wife, who waited until a sufficient period of time had elapsed and then made a search of the pawn shops. Her efforts were rewarded by finding the missing watch at Radin's on Penn avenue.
While Mrs. Loftus was in the establishment, the proprietor saw Finch passing the window. He was the man who had pawned the watch. Mr. Radin sent for Patrolman Walsh and then engaged Finch in conversation. When the patrolman arrived, Finch was arrested and taken to police headquarters.
Later Loftus identified Finch as one of the men who were with him at the St. Denis. Finch was arraigned before Alderman Miller and sent to jail in default of $500 bail to await trial. He describes himself as 31 years of age and a laborer by occupation. He came to Scranton from Binghamton about two years ago.

BEER WAGON STRUCK.

Driver P. F. Durkin Was Cut on the Head.
A street car on the South Side and Pittston line at 12 o'clock last night struck a beer wagon and the driver, P. F. Durkin, was seriously injured. The collision occurred near the Greenwood school.
One of the hind wheels of the wagon was in the track and the car smashed it. Durkin was sent hurling from the seat to the ground and his head was badly cut up. He was bleeding profusely when carried into one of the adjoining houses. Durkin drives for the Michael Hand ale brewery on the South Side. The car was inward bound and was in charge of Conductor Charles Fox.

JAMES CLEMMER WEEPS IN COURT

Overcome by a Recital of His Unfaithfulness.

SCRANTON BARKEEPERS WON.

Defeated the Pittston Glass Jugglers by a Score of 11 to 7.

Barkeepers of Scranton and Pittston, otherwise known as mixologists, played ball at the Driving Park yesterday afternoon. The game was arranged for amusement only, and that the contestants might not get overheated from the violent and to most of them unusual excitement, a bar was arranged under the grand-stand, where cooling beverages were dispensed.
The Scranton barkeepers had the bad grace to defeat their visitors by a score of 11 to 7, but they endeavored to soften the pang of defeat by winning and dining the Pittston contingent after the game was over. A section of the Lawrence band accompanied the ball players to the park and played a number of selections during the game. The members of the team were:
Scranton—Cook, 2c.; Keegan, c.; Posner, p.; Ketruck, lb.; Roche, ss.; Zang, 2b.; McGovern, rf.; Cavanaugh, cf.; Tigho, lf.; Evans, substitute.
Pittston—Muldreg, p.; Reap, c.; Murray, lf.; Jones, 2b.; Hochlin, lb.; Burke, 3b.; Reilly, ss.; Gibbons, cf.; Austin, rf.; Bamford, 2c.

MANDAMUS ASKED FOR.

Trying to Compel City Controller to Sign Sewer Contract.

Dunn Bros., by Attorneys I. H. Burns and M. J. Martin, petitioned court yesterday for a writ of alternative mandamus to issue to City Controller Robinson directing him to certify the contract made by the plaintiffs with this city for the construction of the sewer in the Seventeenth Sewer district. Judge Edwards granted a rule for a mandamus and fixed next Saturday at 9 a. m. as a time for the hearing.

and Mr. Kane began the final address for the defense. He dwelt upon the possibility of a mistake being made in case Clemmer was convicted and pictured the position Clemmer's wife would be in, husbandless and with five children.
