

DAY'S DOINGS OF NORTH SCRANTON

Storrs Colliery Has Been Closed Down for Repairs.

DRIVERS DID NOT HAVE AN OPPORTUNITY OF SHOWING TO WHAT EXTENT THE SYMPATHY MOVEMENT WOULD SPREAD—MARRIAGE OF MISS ANNIE KANE TO M. O'CALLAHAN, OF PITTSBURGH, AT HOLY ROSARY CHURCH—FUNERAL OF JONATHAN A. THERTON.

The striking drivers at the Storrs colliery did not have an opportunity yesterday to show what they would be able to do in the way of preventing the mine from working in the event of the old rate of wages not being restored to them. They went on strike Saturday because of an alleged cut of wages and said that there would be a sympathy strike yesterday in the event of the officials refusing to give them the same rate of wages they say has been paid heretofore.

A notice was posted yesterday to the effect that there would be no work at the colliery. Some repairs were made during the day and it is said that the height of the culm resting is to be increased. A seeming verification was given to this report, and the consequent extended shut down, by the removal of the miles from the mine which was done during the day.

MORNING WEDDING.

At Holy Rosary Catholic church yesterday morning Miss Annie Kane was married to M. O'Callahan, of Pittsburg, by Rev. J. J. O'Toole, in the presence of a number of the friends of the bride and groom. The bride was attended by Miss Mamie Ferguson, of Dunmore, and M. J. Bowley, of Pittsburg, was groomsmen.

Guild, pastor of the Providence Presbyterian church, after which the remains were conveyed across the Delaware, Lackawanna and Western railroad to Montrose, where interment was made.

A number of friends from this place accompanied the remains to their final resting place.

TOLD IN A FEW LINES.

After the heavy rain of Monday afternoon a large hole was noticed on North Main avenue, about twenty yards above where the other caves of recent date have occurred. The property holders immediately began action and with the assistance of a couple of teams filled the hole with ashes. An exciting time seemed imminent at the Providence Delaware and Hudson station Monday morning, when a large number of the would-be excursionists to Binghamton made a demand for the return of their money when informed that they would be unable to depart for the above place until 2.30 p. m. Wise counsel prevailed and trouble was prevented.

The Welsh Congregational church held an ice cream social last evening. Miss Mame Thomas leaves this morning for Camp Alger, where she will visit her brother, Richard Thomas, Jr., permanent orderly at brigade headquarters.

A sequel to the case tried before Alderman Roberts last week, when Loretta Sommers was arraigned at the instance of Ambrose Mulley, who charged the defendant with having secured goods from his store by fraudulent means, was furnished last evening when William, Mame and Julia McKenzie were given a hearing by Alderman Roberts. As in the above case, Mr. Mulley was the prosecutor and he preferred charges that went to show that the defendants assisted the Sommers woman in getting the goods. Bail in the sum of $200 was furnished in each case for their appearance at court.

Caleb Williams was arrested at the instance of his wife on the charge of assault and battery. Alderman Roberts heard the case yesterday and fined the defendant $10.

Frank Zackavitch caused the arrest yesterday of Charles Packtuskey on the charge of assault and battery. Alderman Roberts held Packtuskey in $400 bail for his appearance at court. Miss Nellie Foulkes, of Little Rock, Arkansas, is the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Isaac Jones, of Hill street.

John Jenkins, of Wayne avenue, leaves this morning for Washington and Camp Alger.

LIVE NEWS OF WEST SCRANTON

House Occupied by Mrs. William Lowe Was Struck by Lightning.

INMATES WERE BADLY STUNNED BY THE BOLT, WHICH DID CONSIDERABLE DAMAGE TO THE BUILDING—PIECE OF IRON USED IN LOADING A CANNON WAS SHOT INTO THE HOUSE OF MRS. EDWIN LEE—CONCERT IN THE SIMPSON CHURCH.

Mrs. William Lowe, of Bloom avenue, was hit every reason beside the Maine, Manilla and other things to "remember" Monday. That terrific bolt of lightning which flashed out while the sun shone about 12.50 o'clock Monday found its way into her residence. No fatally resulted but the escape of the household is miraculous.

The bolt struck in the gable end near the frame of a bedroom window, tore the frame and windows out, ripped some of the siding off and passed on in striking the chimney it overthrew the part outside and going on down toward all the other things as they were twisted the range in the kitchen partly around. The whole building seemed to quiver with the shock and dust fell from every crevice.

Mrs. Lowe, her four children and a boarder, were at dinner at the time. The food was destroyed by the shock. Mrs. Lowe was rendered almost totally deaf and is still unable to hear properly. One son, William, was thrown to the floor and another son, John, who was standing near the stove, was struck on the nose by a flying piece of plaster and cut slightly.

The others were only frightened and stunned by the shock. In the house near about 40 feet away, and occupied by Mr. Moran and family, plaster fell in every room. Directly opposite Mrs. Lowe's is the house of Richard Philbin. His three children were playing about the room and all were hurled to the floor. Mrs. Philbin thought they were all killed.

No fire resulted and the damage done can be easily repaired. The persons residing in the range of the house are all thankful for their narrow escape from death or injury.

BOLT WENT ASTRAY.

Mrs. Edwin Lee and her daughter, of 52 North Lincoln avenue, are congratulating themselves upon their narrow escape from injury or death. About 9 o'clock Monday afternoon they were busy about some household duties, they were startled by bearing a peculiar rattling crash, which seemed to come from upstairs. They listened a few moments and then went upstairs to investigate.

In a rear bed room Miss Lee found some splinters and plaster lying on the bed and floor. Also on the bed was a large iron bolt. It was 8 inches long and an inch in diameter. A glance around soon disclosed the mode of entrance. The bolt had penetrated the ceiling, had passed through the plaster, and the heavy head of the bolt-end, glancing upward it gouged a large hole in the ceiling and rebounding struck the side wall and fell upon the bed.

Taking the bolt Miss Lee went downstairs and outside to look at the hole in the siding. In the yard she met two young men neighbors who were looking for something they seemed to have lost. It was the bolt and they were thoroughly startled when explanations were made. They were firing a large cannon in their yard just opposite and had neglected to take the bolt as a tamper out. Thus the missile had been shot into the Lee residence and fortunately in an unoccupied part at that moment. The young men will pay for repairs and go further away from residences hereafter to "shoot" their cannon.

CONCERT LAST EVENING.

A free concert was given last evening at the Simpson Methodist church, on North Main avenue, by the members of the Clavin quartette (colored) of the Clavin university, of Orangeburg, S. C. The same quartette assisted at the evening service at the above church Sunday, June 19, when Rev. L. M. Dullon, D. D., of the Freedmen's Aid and Southern Education society, preached.

A large audience greeted their return last evening and the concert was enjoyed to a degree. Plantation melodies, solos, the day's popular songs, and instrumental music, all of first-class selection, were given. The participation of the evening was the best of the "Down South" way. Our own John Courier Morris' music by Parson Price, of New York city. The quartette rendition of it, in their limber southern style, was provocative of great applause and had to be repeated several times.

DRIVE TO LAKE WINOLA.

The members of the K. of K.'s drove to Lake Winola to spend the glorious Fourth. Their lady friends, of course, accompanied them. They started early and arrived at the lakeside before the heat of the day. Dinner was taken at Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Gregory's farmhouse and an enjoyable afternoon was spent on and around the lake. Little rain fell at the lake, but the roads this side were fine for the return drive, the dust having been thoroughly settled. The members of the party were the Misses Jessie Wickes, Bessie Higgins, Jennie Lewis, Lillian and Rhoda Thomas, Anna Lewis, Sara Davies, Mary Thomas, Jennie Davis, Bert James, William H. Robertson, Gus Eynon, Henry Morris, and interested. The party-bearers were the Misses Hattie Ellis, Blanche Greeley, Elizabeth Hurford and Jennie Davis.

ACCIDENTS TO CYCLERS.

Due in Almost Every Instance to Their Own Carelessness. Accidents to bicycle riders can almost invariably be ascribed to inattention and careless handling of wheels. The season is now at hand when all classes are riding and the usual casualties attendant among both club and unattached riders. Last season the careless adjustment of wheels by riders resulted in some unfortunate accidents. Accidents of a minor character, caused by something going wrong with some part of the bicycle, are of frequent occurrence, and riders inattentive to the small details are liable to meet with an awkward or dangerous spill which will frequently do irreparable damage to a bicycle, says the New York Sun.

A party of schoolmen were waiting for the ferry on Sunday afternoon when a middle-aged rider made his way up to the ferry house in a sad plight. The entire left side of his face was scraped clean, his eye swollen to double its normal size, both his hands were badly lacerated, and his clothes were torn and covered with dirt.

His condition was the result of a mishap. It seems that in speeding along to the ferry at a rather fast pace from the railroad station at Port Richmond to catch the boat for Bergen Point he encountered a deep rut in the roadway, and in putting quick pressure on the handlebars to avoid the small excavation, the bars, which had worked loose, swung completely around in one direction, and the rider, without any guiding hand, took a contrary course bringing the rider to the roadway unexpectedly and very forcibly.

The wheel did not suffer any damage outside of the breaking of a few spokes. Accidents of this character are liable to happen at any moment with careless riders. The working loose of handlebars or a saddle-post is due to insecure fastening. The working loose of either of these articles can result in very bad injuries. A loose attachment may cause a saddle to slip to one side or the other without a moment's warning, or what is decidedly more dangerous, to work back off the pin entirely.

The fact that a bicycle is new is no safeguard that such accidents are unlikely. In putting new wheels together workmen are liable to be careless. The proper adjustment of brakes and centers is also important. A local examination and test of all the parts of a bicycle will in a great many instances disclose a looseness or weakness in some one part and save riders from what might be a bad disaster.
