County Jutt. Take overs were sent to A pair of yesterday in default of the county j bail. Bert Thorne made the complaint that brought them to grief. The story has its origin away back in January 1897. At that time Thorne, who is a resident of this city, appeared before Alderman Jones and gave information on which a warrant was issued for a man named John Miles. Miles, Thorne alleged, had alienated his wife's affections. And not content with winning Mrs. Thorne's heart, he had induced her to run away with him and leave her forlorn husband to ponder on the insult added to his injury.

The warrant for the arrest of Miles has been in the possession of Constable E. J. Neary ever since, because the runaway pair had so completely lost themselves. Recently the officer received information that they were living up in Susquehanna county, beyond Lenoxville. Miles was started for this city and his infatuated partner chose to accompany him.

At the hearing the injured husband told his story anew. Miles offered no defense nor denial. Mrs. Thorne attempted to justify her actions, and her husband, who up to this time had made no charge against her, decided to include her in the prosecution. A warrant charging her with unfaithfulness was issued. She tried to justify herself by saying that she had as much right to live with another man as her busband had with another woman; and she alleged that he has been doing so since the warrant was issued for Miles. That, however, had nothing to do with

BUSINESS BAROMETER.

Dull Times as Shown by the Falling Off in Postoffice Receipts.

The inability of Uncle Sam to supply the demand for war tax stamps is materially increasing the postal revenue. The local banks and many individuals have been using postage stamps on their checks to avoid any possibility of incurring the penalty of the inter-

When this fact was incidentally mentioned to Assistant Postmaster Nealon resterday he said the department needs all the business it can get from whatever source. Continuing he declared that the Carbondale office ran $200 behind in May and June. During April the business was up to the standard.

The postoffice is a pretty good baremeter of the general trade conditions of a town and without becoming an alarmist it may be confessed that its Indications are not favorable.

However, changes of the past few days have produced hope. The mines and Gravity are working three-quarters time, though any day may see them go back to half.

HE WAS TORPEDOED.

Harry Stephens, the II-year-old son of James Stephens, of Darte avenue was severely wounded today by the explosion of a railroad torpedo. The boy found the dangerous contrivance this morning about 11 o'clock, and being desirous to hear its report pounded it with a stone. The flying particles that were sent in all directions by the explosion struck him in the face and ripped his left cheek open, tore off the top of the little finger of his right hand and badly lacerated the thumb, and cut the palm severely. The wound in his cheek required eighteen stitches to close up. Dr. Mark Bailey dressed the wounds. The torpedo is of the variety used on railroads for signalling. They are placed on the rail and exploded by the engine wheel, warning the train crew of something ahead.

THE POSTOFFICE.

Who will get the postoffice? 'That is a question that very naturally arises. a noticeable fact that President McKinley has found time between war bulletins to make some appointments. and as the Carbondale appointment was expected in June, much further delay doesn't seem probable. Among the aspirants are: Irving Davis, W. D. Evans, both retired, and E. D. Lathrop, manager of the Leader, with chances in favor of John H. Thomas. The choice will be awaited with interest.
