Fire was discovered in a closet on the bedroom floor of the residence owned and occurred by Daniel E. Fdwards, of 51? North Rebecca avenue about 9.30 o'clock yesterday morning. alarm was sent in from box 33, corner of North Bromley avenue and Swetland street. Meanwhile the flamer had been extinguished and though the Franklins and Columbias responded they were not required.

It was very fortunate that the fire did not spread as this section is well built up with frame dwellings and a serious fire might easily have resulted. Then, too, the need of a fire alarm box in that section was shown. The nearest box is over four blocks distant By the time an alarm was sent in, the companies respond, and be directed to the fire it might have gained a good headway.

John McNeely, employed as a driver at the West Ridge colliery, narrowly escaped being killed Saturday morning while at work. As it is he is seriously injured. He was attempting to sprag a flying trip of loaded cars and tripping fell alongside of the trip. He was badly wrenched and bruised about the legs and side, and a mule stepping upon him while prostrate, cut an ugly gash in his knee. He was removed to his home on Tenth street where a physician dressed his wounds.

OPEN-AIR CONCERT.

West Scranton was accorded the privilege Saturday evening of enjoyng one of Professor Bauer's open-air concerts given by his band. This concession to the public on the part of Professor Bauer has become a popular and much looked for enjoyment and it is gratifying to have had one right in An audience of over a thousand persons heartily applauded the concert. The concert was given on North Main avenue in the vacant lot opposite Clarke Brothers' big stores. The platform was erected by this enterprising firm who are always ready to advance a public interest. The programme comprised marches, medleys, opera airs, and was concluded with the "Star Spangled Banner" which, of course, aroused intense enthusiasm. It might not be amiss to suggest here that Professor Bauer give another concert on this side and used the large lawn in front of the West Side hospital. The patients could enjoy the music and a silver collection could be taken in the crowd and donated to the institution.

The lamented Bishop Newman, who is now in process of canonization, was then bishop of the diocese that since has been divided into Philadelphia, Harrisburg and Scranton dioceses, and he, when coming here to administer the sacrament of confirmation, was always
