> SERIOUS SHOOTING AFFRAY. It Is Reported to Have Occurred at Marshwood.

County Detective Leyshon was notified yesterday afternoon of a murder at Marshwood, and went up in that locality in the evening to investigate. From what he learned the man is not dead, but there are two bullets in his body. The name of the wounded man is Andrew Podlavitch.

Mr. Leyshon's inquiries were made under great difficulty. Marshwood is a much out-of-the-way place. It was late in the afternoon when he heard of the case, and being unable to obtain very definite information he decided to wait until this morning.

No one seemed to know where the man was taken after he was shot, who shot him, or what doctor is attending him. The story current was that Podalavitch was on his way from Jessup late Saturday night, and was ambushed about half way home. It was dark and he did not know who fired at him.

Serious Results of a Nationality Fight After a Dance at Olyphant-An Arrest Made.

The last number on the programme of a dance at Berger's saloon, Olyphant, Saturday night was an en-counter between Ignotz Wizos and Loponski. The latter is Polish, and the former an Hungarian. The question of nationality and the free-flowing beer raised the issue between the men

They were friendly enough early in the night, so chummy that they danced on the same set several times. The fight proper took place a short distance from Berger's place, toward 10 o'clock. Loponski was beaten so badly that he was not expected to live last night. County Detective Levshon was informed that the man's skull is fractured and compressing the brain from a blow of a stone on the forehead.

A warrant was sworn out before Justice of the Peace Mason. The con-stable had a hard time to arrest Wizos. He plunged through a glass door to escape, and managed to get through it. The constable later on located him under a heap of old quilts in the cellar. He was unable to give bail for his appearance at court and was committed to the county jall.

The charge against him before the ustice of the peace was assault and battery, but he will be detained awaiting the result of Loponski's injuries.

Select and common council are un able to agree upon the form of an ordinance granting a franchise to the Lackawanna Telephone company and each branch appointed a committee of three members to meet and endeavor tal traveler, the grandest mountain to reconcile the differences of the two branches.

The select council believes the new company should be compelled to lay its wires underground at once in the territory embraced within a radius of 1,000 yards of the court house. This provis-ion the officials of the Lackawanna Telephone company say would be prohibitive and prevent the erection of a plant.

Common council took this view of the situation and amended the ordinance to the effect that the new company should be compelled at the outset to lay only 4,000 feet of wire underground.

Members of the select refused to look at the question in that way and com-mon council was equally obstinate in refusing to appreciate the 1,000-yard radius proposition.

CHAIRMAN SELECTED.

Saturday night the conference committee held its first meeting and did little save name P. F. McCann as chair-man. He is one of the select members of it and the other two are T. C. Melvin and H. T. Fellows. The common council is represented by Luther Keller, T. B. Jackson and F. W. Zizelman

Mr. Keller was unable to be present, and as a courtesy to him the other members of the conference decided to members of the conference decided to adjourn until last night when all the members were preent.

After a good deal of discussion, some of which was somewhat heated, Mr. Keller offered as a compromise that the new company put its wires underground at once in the business district of the centrial city, which is bounded by Washington avenue, Linden street Delaware, Lackawanna and Western railroad and the Lackawanna river. This called forth another big batch of arguments pro and con, but the members of the committee would not accept the compromise and at 10.30 adjourned until Thursday evening, when they will hold another session just before the council meeting. There is very little likelihood of an agreement being reached and if the differences that exist between the two branches are not harmonized the ordinance is practically dead. It has occasioned the liveliest fight in council that has occurred since the passage of an ordnance granting a franchise to the Valley Passenger
