THIS AND THAT.

The following from the Binghamton Herald of Wednesday has reference to the marriage of young people who have many friends in this city: "A pretty wedding characterized by its simplicity was solemnized at 6.30 o'clock this morning at St. Patrick's church, when Miss Annie Esmyah Rooney was united in marriage to Mr. James W. Den-nis by Rev. James P. Foy, assistant pastor of the church. They were unattended, and despite the early hour a large number of friends and relatives were present to witness the ceremony, The bride was attired in a very pretty costume of white organdie and point lace. After the ceremony a wedding reception was tendered the immediate relatives at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. P. F. Rooney, No. 9012 Murray street. Mr. and Mrs. Dennis left during the morning for an extended bridal tour in the eastern part of the state."

SISTERS' INSTITUTE

Rev. T. F. Coffey, Mrs. Burke and Miss Burke Are Heard.

Rev. Thomas F. Coffey concluded his talk on the Liturgy of the mass vesterday morning at the teachers' institute. After a tribute to the significance and pre-eminence of the mass over all other forms of penance and adoration, Father Coffey declared that the coming together of people in the service of the mass produces important results; in receiving holy comant results; in receiving noty munion there is one table and one only for the common use of rich and only for the common use of rich and young, with the Scranton vitrified wire cut brick with the S The fact that mass is celebrated in the Latin tongue is often discussed. There are many reasons for it. The mass in the early history of the straight curb per lineal foot, 55 cents; circhurch was said in Latin. The faith cular curb per lineal foot, 65 cents; does not change nor the language in which that faith has its chief expression. Another reason why latin is used is that if mass was said in the vernacular, in the tongues of various nationalities the catholicity of the church would be lax, the unity of the fold would be impaired. A third advantage is that those who qualify to celebrate the mass in Latin enjoy the literary benefits of the ages that are The literature of the early church was all in Latin, and has been handed down in its purity to present The altar is generally built in the

SOME SUGGESTIONS.

In the center of the altar is the tabernacle about which gather suggestions of St. John in the desert, Mt. Sinal, The Last Supper, recalling thoughts of Calvary, the Real Presence and Christ among His People. It is surmounted always by the cross at the front of which Mary stood.

In civilized lands a priest may not say mass without a server who represents the people assisting in the sacrifice. The description of the sacrificial details were very interesting. This morning Father Coffey will speak on "Church History."

Mrs. Burke read a greeting from the Sisters of St. Francis at Lacrosse, Wis., after which Miss Burke took up the subject of geography, in which she emphasized teaching actual facts instead of the abstract ideas, often gained from this study. She advised getting as far as possible from the danger of allowing the children to think of cities as dots and rivers as crooked lines. Miss Burke is particularly interesting and helpful in her

After intermission Mrs. Burke continued the subject of grammar. She advocated parsing, but spoke strongly against diagramming and warned teachers not to place too many incorrect expressions before the child. Let him see the good in grammar and companionship, not the bad. In fact false syntax should not be used in the lower grades. Mrs. Burke asserted in the course of her remarks that twice as much money is spent on chewing gum as on text books, while the amount spent for candy was fourteen times greater. PAVEMENT CONTRACT HAS BEEN AWARDED

COMMITTEE RECOMMENDS PRO-POSAL OF M'DONALD.

His Proposal Was the Second Lowest-The Lowest Bidders Were Not Considered Responsible - Objections Raised in Both Branches of Councils to the Award of Contracts for Fire Department Apparatus, but Holloway Got the Award. Minor Business Transacted in Each Branch.

The contract for paving Providence road and North Main avenue now awaits Mayor Bailey's signature. Last night the award was made to George McDonald by councils, both branches of which were in session. Councils' action ends the strife among rival brick concerns, the Scranton vitrined brick being included in the award. The lowest bidder was James B. Rellly & Co., but it was found that their proposal was based upon a misconception of the specifications and ordinance and they were released at their own request.

The joint pavements committee, however, could not ignore the Reilly proposal in the face of the following opinion of the city solicitor: CITY SOLICITOR'S OPINION.

Scranton, Pa., July 28, 1868. Thomas O'Boyle, Esq., Chairman Paving Committee. Dear Sir: Your committee has no auhority to permit Rellly & Co. to withdraw their bid for paving North Main avenue and Providence road or to direct the return of the certified chick accomentirely within the province of councils who may reject any or all bids as their discretion may dictate. Yours very respectfully, M. A. McGinley, City Solicitor. In view of the foregoing the comnittee decided that Reilly & Co. were not responsible and submitted to se-lect council the following resolution which was adopted: Resolved. By the select council of the ty of Scranton, the common council concurring, that the contract for the paying of Providence road from court street to North Main avenue and North Main from e and the same is hereby awarded to George MacDonald at the prices named in his proposal, viz.: Scranton vitrified wire cut brick, $1.72 per square yard; straight curb with tile drain per lineal foot, 60 cents; circular curb with tile drain per lineal fot, 65 cents; sewer pipe, 12-inch, per lineal foot, 29 cents; receivers, each, $7. The opposition of certain property owners along a part of the route to having the pavement laid before a sewer is built, has not been abaned to represent them will apply to court for an injunction to restrain the city from permitting the pavement work. This was stated by members of the committee who visited The Tribune editorial rooms after last night's meeting. On the committee are O. V. Palmer, George Brown, Peter Cerine, C. S. ALL KINDS OF TROUBLE. All kinds of trouble arose in awarding to Charles T. Halloway the contract for a chemical apparatus for Columbia company and for a combination hose and chemical wagon for Relief company. The Holloway proposals were $1,470 and $1,200, respectively, for the combination and the chemical apparatus, as against $1,400 and $1,175 bid by The Fire Extinguisher (Babcock) Manufacturing company, of Chicago. The joint fire department committee presented two resolutions that the awards be made to Holloway, each resolution providing for "improvements suggested by committee." When the resolutions were read Mr. McCann offered objections to their passage, as they did not provide awards to the lowest bidder.

Mr. Thomas, chairman of the fire department committee, said the Holloway engines had been in use in the city and were considered satisfactory; the qualities of the Babcock apparatus were not known to the members of the committee who favored the next higher bid because the Holloway apparatus would contain several new de-

SOME OBJECTIONS.

It was claimed the awards should not be made in the absence of written and specific information as to what the 'improvements" meant; that the wording of the resolutions gave the manufacturer the privilege of doing the work at low cost unless the proposed "improvements" were specifically written and, finally, that the contracts should be awarded to the Babcock company, as it was the lowest bidder, a responsible concern and had bid according to specifications.

Mr. Zizleman said the "improvements" chiefly consisted of a change in the specifications providing for a device for speedy refilling of the chemical tanks. He and Messrs. E. Wenzel and Grier argued that the excellence of the Holloway apparatus was known in the city and that the Babcock was not, and that the Babcock bid was not strictly according to specifications.

A motion to table the awards was

Mr. Oliver insisted that the proposed changes in the specifications be made in writing, claiming the contracts would not be properly furfilled unless this was done. He finally offered an amendment to strike out the "improvements" clause in the resolution then before the house, that relating to the combination award. The amend ment was defeated by a vote of 7 to 14 and the resolution adopted by an ayand nay vote. The chemical award was then made.

Mayor Failey's nomination of Thos. A. Potter to succeed John Hawks as police patrolman, was received by select council and referred to committee. Potter is a bricklayer by trade and resides on Penn avenue in the Sixteenth ward. OTHER NOMINATIONS

Other nominations by the mayor vere confirmed as follows: George Rosen, inspector of the South Side sewer; T. F. McCann, inspector of the Eleventh ward sewer, and ex-School Controller William G. O'Malley, member of the board of health to succeed Henry Zeigler, whose term has expired. Among the new resolutions introduced were the following: Providing for cots for William Connell Hose company; directing the city solicitor to furnish an opinion as to the right of the Scranton Railway company to lay a double track on South Main avenue between Jackson and Washburn Ordinances passed first and second readings as follows: Awarding to Thomas B. Jackson damages; for paying a portion of Dix court in the rear of the city hall; for a sewer on Wheeler avenue; for a sewer basin on the northeast corner of Wyoming avenue and Spruce street. The ordinance for grading Delaware street between Washington and Wyoming avenues passed third reading. In common council, among the new resolutions adopted were the following: Directing the city engineer to prepare estimate and specifications for a flagstone sidewalk and curbstones on both sides of Gibson street from Capouse to Washington avenue; directing the building inspector to make repairs at Neptune Engine house. The sewers and drains committee re-ported favorably the resolution awarding to Flanagan & O'Hora the contract for re-building the Bromley avenue sewer between Washburn and Jackson streets at $1.49 per lineal foot, Some objection was offered to its adoption on the ground that several proposals, all equal as to price, were submitted and that only one of them complied with the plans and specifications.
