LOCAL EXCURSIONS.

One hundred and eighty-three persons attended the Presbyterian Sun-day school picnic at Jefferson park yesterday. The unpropitious weather of the morning deterred many from taking the trip. While the resort is in its infancy, a good time was had and the general impression was favorable. It has been intimated that if the excursion business in this direction warrants it, a branch will be constructed to Fiddle lake, a distance of one mile

The excursion of the Ladies' Catholic Benevolent association to Farview yesterday was largely attended. The clearing weather increased the afterdinner contingent. The Mozart orchestra furnished music for dancing.

COMMERCE WITH HAWAII.

About Two-Thirds of Its Imports Are from the United States-This Country Has Also Had the Lion's Share Since the Reciprocity Treaty of 1876.

From the Washington Star.

The Hawaiian Islands, their commerce, productions and population, form the subject of a series of tables which appear in the summary of finance and commerce issued by the bureau of statistics. From these it appears that the United States has, since the reciprocity treaty of 1876, had a large share of the commerce of these Prior to 1876 our annual sales to the Hawaiian Islands had never, save in two exceptional cases, reached $1,000,000. With 1877, however, the million-dollar line was permanently passed, and since that date our exports to the islands have steadily grown, passing the two-million-dollar line in 1879, exceeding $3,000,000 in 1883, $4,000,000 in 1890, passing the $5,000,000 ine in 1891, and promising to reach nearly $6,000,000 this year. Of the total imports by the Hawaiian Islands in 1875 a little over one-third was from the United States. In 1876 the reciprocity treaty went into operation, and in 1877 the United States supplied one-half of the imports into the Hawaiian Islands. which then amounted to $2,500,000. By 1880 the imports had increased to over $3.500,000, of which over $3,000,000 worth came from the United States; in 1884 they were over $4,500,000, of which more than $3,000,000 were from the United States; in 1890 $6,962,000, of which $4,711,000 came from the United States, and in 1896 $6,063,000, of which about $4,000,000 came from the United

Of the exports from the Hawaiian Is lands the United States has also had the lion's share since the reciprocity treaty of 1876. In 1875 only about 57 per cent of the exports from the Hawaiian Islands came to the United States. In 1877, the year following the treaty, over 90 per cent came to the United States, and has since continued in about the same proportion. Of the $200,000,000 worth of exports from the Hawaiian Islands since the reciprocity treaty of 1876, more than $180,000,000 have come to the United States, and of the $160,000,000 worth of imports into the Hawaiian Islands during that time about $70,000,000 were from the United

The jury which was empanelled to States. CHIEFLY SUGAR EXPORTED. Sugar of course appears as the chief article of exportation from the islands, though rice has been for years an item of considerable value, and of late coffee, pineapples and bananas have taken important rank in the exportations of the islands. Of the $15,500,000 worth of exports in 1896 almost $15,000,000 worth of sugar, though in addition to this was exported over 5,000,000 pounds of rice, 225,000 pounds of coffee, 126,000 bunches of bananas and 147,-000 pineapples. The increase in sugar and coffee has been rapid in the past few years, coffee increasing from 5,300 pounds in 1887 to 255,000 in 1896, and sugar from 212,000,000 pounds in 1887 to 443,000,000 pounds in 1896. The tendency in the past twenty years has apparently been to a reduction in the number of articles produced. In 1876 the list of exported articles included besides sugar and rice, wool, tallow, molasses, peanuts, hides, goat skins, sheep skins, whale oil, whalebone, ivory, sait, sperm oil and many other articles, but now sugar, rice, coffee, bananas and pineapples are the chief exports, though the total value in 1896 was six times that of 1876, when the articles were much more numerous.

IMPORTS TO HAWAII.

The imports, as above indicated, are ostly from the United States, those of 1876 being divided among the great nations as follows: United States, $5.461,000; Great Britain, $755,000; Chl-na, $299,000; Japan, $276,000; Germany, $448,000; Australia, $114,000. The largest items in the list of imports are gro ceries and provisions, $520,885; machinery, $343,105; fertilizers, $332,239; coton goods, $311,891; clothing, $292,559; hardware and agricultural implements $278,267; grain and feed, $273,753; lumher, $255,242; tobacco, $194,836; $169,000; building materials, $102,639, and besides these scores of articles, ranging in value from $100,000 down-The population at the latest ward. stantly heard from residents of May- sumptuous repost was also served. census was, in round numbers, 109,000, Scranton, Pa.

of whom 31 000 were Hawaiians, 24,000 Japanese, 21,000 Chinese, 15,000 Portuguese, 5,200 Americans, 2,250 British and 1,436 German. The receipts of the government are about $2,000,000 annually, of which about one-third is gathered by tariff taxes, one-third by internal taxation and one-third from miscellaneous sources, the expenditures being slightly less than the receipts. Our commerce with the islands ex-tends over more than half a century, one of the tables showing imports from them as early as 1826 and exports to them as early as 1837, though the latter seem to have been only occasional prior to 1853, when they amounted to $4,406, and by 1863 had increased to $548,730. In 1873 they were $672,191, passing the $1,000,000 line in 1877, immedi ately after the enactment of the reciprocity treaty; the $2,000,000 line in 1879, the $3,000,000 mark in 1882, the $4,-000,000 stage in 1890, the $5,000,000 in 1891 and promising to be nearly $6,000,000 this fiscal year; while our imports from the islands will this year be the highest on record, despite the general eduction of imports from other parts of the world, the total for the year being likely to exceed $15,00,000, against $13,687,000 last year and $11,757,000 in the preceding year.

OIL FROM THE SEA.

It Is Pumped from the Ocean on the California Coast. From the Scientific American.

The early settlers in Calfornia were familiar with indications of the existence of oil which were seen at various points along the cotst, while asphaltum, which oozed up from beds at the bottom of the sea, formed an important factor in the household economy of the aborigines, and in almost every ourial place on the coast asphaltum is found. The natives on the islands obtained their supply from the water, and at the present day the rocks at various places can be seen splashed with asphaltum which has drifted in. This is particularly noticeable after an east vind, showing that there is a large area in the deep Santa Castalina channel from which asphaltum oozes up. Oil wells were sunk at Santa Paula some years ago, and, later, an oil-producing belt was discovered at Puente. and again at Summerland, below Sana Barbara, where a singular state of affirs exists.

locality that the oil-bearing stratum stretched out into the sea, and drill tooking like windmills scaffolding. without sails, began in a short time to extend down the little canyon and to creep up the shore in the direction of Santa Barbara. At first they kept along the sides of the hills which breast the sea there; but gradually they turned seaward until one more adventurous than the rest rose from the water.

Work was started at an extremely low tide, and finally the tall scaffolding appeared twenty or thirty feet from the shore, rising from the sea. At present there are three borings, which even at low tide are in the water, but at flood tide are completely surrounded, the men working on platforms of various heights, which they successively ascend as the sea rises.

The drills are worked in the water from an engine on the beach, the fuel being the oil pumped out of the sea, but undoubtedly the entire coast overlies an oil-producing stratum.

Off what is known as More's wharf, half a mile out, oil rises to the surface in several places. A spring of fresh water also rushes up there with such velocity that it can be taken up and used if the slightly brackish taste is not objected to. A similar spring is known to exist on the Florida coast.
