THIS AND THAT.

George Ransberry, of Stroudsburg, returned a few days ago from the Flondike, after a year's absence. He said that the country is much overrated and advises no one to go out there. Mr. Eansberry expresses it in a naive way "as something fierce." As to the condition of Dawson, when he left, Mr. Ransberry said there were about 30,000 people there and nine-tenths of them had little prospects, There was plenty of food, however, Along the river were twenty-six large steamers filled with prospectors. Mr. Ransberry has brought home nuggets of gold, although he did not stake out a claim. He has also several interesting souvenirs and photographs. In reply to a question as to whether he would return, he said most emphatically "Nit!" Mr. Ransberry in making the journey to and from, and prospecting tours, traveled nearly twenty thousand miles.

Col. Meredith L. Jones, of Scranton One of the Committee at Long Branch, L. I.

Colonel Meredith L. Jones, of this ity, was one of the reception committee that escorted Lieutenant Hobson from Long Island to Long Beach last Friday on the occasion of the presentation of a handsome sword to the hero of the Merrimac, Hobson came to spend a short visit with his friend, Edward J. Gavigan, of New York, who was sojourning at the beach.

To a Tribune reporter Colonel Jones spoke in the highest terms of the lieutenant. He is one of the most natural men he ever met; as natural and composed under the strain of the ovation tendered to him as when he was dining with a select few in the palm room of the hotel. If anything appeared un usual in his demeanor while he was un lergoing the lionization process, it seemed to indicate more of wonder and surprise than any other quality that he should be made the center of so much admiration. His speech of acceptance, the colonel said, was the esnce of modest expression.

He is about 5 feet, 10 inches tall, of large but not compact frame. He is pretty erect in build, but not as straight as an arrow. His head is large, his forehead standing out in bold relief. His eyebrows are overhanging, and his eyes are not large, but are very ex-pressive. He has a heavy under jaw, but the general expression of his face is pleasant to behold, and he has a thoughtful, reserved look rather than deep, studious, penetrating gaze. He is a powerful swimmer. He and Mr. Gavigan swam away out beyond the life line and frisked about in that latitude for over an bour. Colonel Jones said that Miss Arnold, of St. Louis, who sought a kiss from the hero before the entire gathering of guests upon his arrival at the hotel, was not envied. Her purpose was to achieve notoriety and she got a surfeit before she was through. She is not, he said, the beautiful girl that the dispatches make her out.

The colonel said if he had to kiss her t would be a duty not a pleasure, and he said parenthetically that he fiasn't any conscientious scruples against the osculative art. She is a girl of plair and unattractive appearance, though she has a wealth of black hair, which the poets say is a woman's crown of

Funeral services over the remains of the late Andrew Nicol were held yesterday afternoon at 3 o'clock at the family residence, corner of Dickson avenue and Delaware street. Rev. Dr. A. L. Benton, of Montrose, officiated. The singing was by a male party from the Green R'dge Presbyterian church choir, led by Chorister Whittemore, and consisted of three old familiar hymns which were favorites of the deceased, "Jesus, Lover of My Soul," "Nearer My God to Thee," and "Rock of Ages." The pall-bearers were those nearest of kin, according to an old Scottish custom, being G. B. and R. A. Nicol grandsons, Green Ridge; D. R. Nicol, A. E. Nicol and J. M. Nicol, Carbondale; R. B. Nicol and Archbald Nicol, Archbald, and J. M. Nicol, Wilkes-Barre, nephews. Many prominent men of his recent associates in the coal de-Hudson Canal company were present.

ANTHRACITE ASSOCIATION TO BEGIN VIGOROUS ACTION.

Executive Committee Met in This City Last Evening and Discussed the Matter-Best of Legal Talent | Powell's music store on Aug. 11. is to be Employed-Other Members of the Association Were in Conference With the Committee, But All Were Reticent and Declined to Give Any Detailed Information.

The executive committee of the Anthracite association met last evening in the office of the scretary of the beard of trade and after carefully considering all the data laid before them determined upon an active and definite line f procedure. They are fully convine a that the carrying railroad comprales are violating both the letter and spirit of the interstate commerce law, to the detriment of the business communities dependent upon the anthracite coal trade, and have decided to employ the best legal talent to enforce the provisions of the act. The association is actively alive to the sitnation and will pursue a vigorous pol-

Such in a nut shell is the business transacted at the meeting. It will be remembered that a convention of rominent business men from the anthracite region was held on June 28 and 29 in the board of trade rooms. The object that called them together was to devise ways and means for the betterment of the condition of the hard coal trade, which, everybody knows, has been wretched for many months They formed themselves into the Anthracite association. Seventy-five or more leading citizens representing commercial bodies of this city, Wilkes Barre, Pittston, Hazleton, Mt. Carmel, Pottsville and other parts of the anthracite region attended the convention. Thomas H. Dale, of this city, was chosen president. In the minds of all of them the opinion was strongly intrenched that the condition of the coal trade was the result of an unjust discrimination of the carrying roads in favor of bituminous coal.

THE EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE.

Permanent organization was effected and three committees were appointed; a committee to confer with the railroad companies of which W. G. Thomas, of Pittston, was made chairman; a committee on interstate commerce, of which Voris Auten, of Mt. Carmel, was made chairman; and one on laws and legislation, of which Colonel Meredith L. Jones, of this city, was made chairman. These three gentlemen comprised the executive committee that met last night. The secretary, W. K. Lord, of Mt. Carmel; President Dale, Samuel B. Price, Hazleton, and John C. Berner, of Hazieton were present besides. spent from 7 o'clock until 9.20 in deberation.

The committee has obtained data they claim, to prove that the carrying reads are violating the provisions of the interstate commerce law. freight on hard coal is from 7 to 11 mills per ton per mile, and on soft coul from Dito 8 mills. The United States laws and the laws of Pennsylvania are plain in their opposition to freight discrimination. The state law says that "no unjust or undue disallowed by carry ing companies, rail or canal; and freights of like character shall not be arried in the same direction and in the same manner at different proportionate rates."

Remedies to better the trade are two one the construction of a coal carrying road to New York that would charge a fair haulage rate, or action against the present carrying companies to compel them to adjust the rates on hard coal to a reasonable basis.

MEMBERS WERE RETICENT.

The latter action is the one to be aimed at for immediate relief. The members of the committee in conversation with a Tribune reporter after the meeting said they propose to take action immediately. They have, they say, an abundance of evidence to present the strongest kind of a case before the interstate commission or any other tribunal they may determine to go before. But for the present they preferred not to outline their policy in any specific terms.

Colonel Jones winked across the able at Mr. Auten and remarked: "We lawyers do not try our cases out of court, do we?"

He said they had secured evidence that in Scranton a large order for soft oal has been given and intimated that was one of the links in the chain of discrimination against anthracite.

NO STRIKE IN VIEW.

John Fahey Contradicts a Recent Disquieting Rumor.

John Fahey, of the United Mine Workers' executive committee scranton, according to the Wilkes-Barre Times, contradicts the report from Hazleton, that the anthracite miners intended to go on strike about Sept. 10, their grievances being the rate of wages, the company stores, the docking system, and the high price charged for powder by the employers. Mr. Fahey says there will be no strike, and adds that the order is enough and conservative strong enough to settle all controversies that may arise between it and the companies, and that this will be done ami-The railroad companies are cably. now discussing a more equitable tonnage rate, which will put the mining companies on a better basis. "Remember the Maine."

When the news carried by swift dispatch boats to the nearest cable stations was flashed over the wire to the great news centres of the country, tellfrom up and down the valley and all ing the patriotic American public of the wonderful piece of daring performpartment office of the Delaware and ed by Lieutenant Hobson and his gallant volunteers, every American had picture in his own mind of just how the scene appeared. Every American knows the result of the attempt, how the doomed collier, in spite of the storm of shot and shell which rained on her from the Spanish guns, was sunk almost where Hobson had planned to sink her, how he put off in a small boat with his brave fellows, was captured by the Spanish, and afterwards exchanged. Pain, the greatest artist of fireworks, the country has ever known, has created a vivid blazing picture of fire, of this event, and "The Sinking of the Merrimac," is now presented to the gaze of patriotic citizens in a way that thrills them, and rouses their patriotism to the highest pitch. This wonderful picture with brilliant fireworks will be shown in

Scranton on the evenings of Monday nod Tuesday, Aug. 15 and 16, at Lauret Hill park, together with a patriotic ANNUAL SESSION hand concert of American national airs, by the famous Bauer's band. The name of the Paine Fireworks company,
