A NEW PAPER.

Carbondale May Soon Be Enabled to Exercise Choice.

There is a probability that within a few months Carbondale will be enabled to exercise choice regarding their reading of a local paper. It is said John W. Aitken is advertising through the medium of newspapers throughout the men who would like to start a newspaper in an excellent field of 18,000 inhabitants. Interesting capital in fertile fields is Mr. Aitken's specialty and if anyone can cause visions of gold dollars waiting to be picked up by journalism, he is certainly the man.

It is well known that some of the material of the defunct Anthracite plant is stored on the third floor of the Aitken building. In fact several of the old, dust-covered forms of the morning daily stand on the stones just as they were left after the obsequies.

In their regular reviews of the Journal, Globe, Anthracite and Herald skeletons, the proprietors of the Leader have come to regard the hypothesis of another daily as absolutely dead, and this makes the field more inviting. Under the circumstances it is fair to presume that Mr. Aitken will put forth every legitimate effort to make the several thousand dollars invested in type metal, et cetera, draw interest. His proposal, in the matter, will not be the least interesting of local affairs to watch for the next six months.

THAT ELECTION CONTEST.

Peculiar Naturalization Paper Precipitates Postponement.

The commission for taking testimony in the contested election case adjourned precipitately yesterday morning and scores of Mayfield witnesses who have been hanging around the city hall for the past three days will have to come again today. The adjournment came about this way:

Patrick Kiteur was on the witness stand and had answered all questions satisfactorily. He displayed his naturalization paper which Mr. Holgate, attorney for the contestant, offered in evidence. The peculiarity about the paper was that in the printed form the date line read "1897." To this was added the number "50," written in ink. The date was therefore "1898." Mr. Holgate's intention was evidently to question the authenticity of the paper. Mr. Kiteur's attorneys objected to the paper being admitted in evidence, as they claimed it was plainly under wrong date, due to a clerical error. They desired to have a correct copy made.

At the time the question arose Commissioner Lewis had left the bench for the purpose of taking a lunch.

Commissioner Duggan decided to adjourn court until this morning at 9 o'clock when the matter of admitting the paper will be argued. In the meantime the respondent will have time to investigate Mr. Kiteur's peculiar naturalization paper.
