Sunday afternoon. Mr. E. D. Lewis, of Wyalusing, the Republican nominee for representative, has an ancestory record to be proud of. He is a great grandson of Thomas

Lewis, who was born in New London, Conn., in 1745. Thomas served in the Revoluntionary war, being assigned to the Northern army which was under General Montgomery, Some time after the war Mr. Lewis migrated to Wyalusing, where he purchased the Connecticut title to lands, three miles up the creck, now occupied by the descendents. D. Lewis was born on the original lands, April 11, 1859, was reared on a farm and received his education in the country schools, but being ambitious he sought better advantages and finished the course at Towanda. Having a ready business turn Mr. Lewis very naturally close mercantile pursuits, beginning as a clerk, but in 1886 desiring a larger scope for his activities he bought a half interest in the business conducted by C. J. Lewis in Wyalusing. In 1892 he purchased the entire business, when he formed a new concern, taking into the partnership G. G. Smith of Wilkes-Barre, and E. A. Waldo, of Wyalusing. Mr. Lewis as well as his ancestors has always been a Republican, he believing in the principles of that organization and working for its ascendency at the polls. He is not a politician in the strict sense of the term, but he has always been loyal to his party, doing yeoman service for it. and telling work in his district.

his conversion from idolatry to Christianity. He was forsaken by his Japanese friends and his own family disowned him. He spoke of the prevailing religion of Japan as a religion of superstition without any hope or comfort. Japan began to be a great nation with the advent of Christianity. ence in Time of War. Yesterday's Leader says Mrs. Patrick Lunny has received a letter of unusual interest to the people of Carbondale It is the first communication received in this city from the army at Santiago and written by one who actually took part in the fighting. The letter is from Thomas Lunny, who is a member of the Eighth United States infantry. He is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Patrick Lunny and has many friends in this city. His letter is necessarily short because of the difficulty in procuring writing materials. It is written on a little scrap of paper a few inches square. The envelope in which it was enclosed was originally used to carry a letter from this country to a member of Mr. Lunny's company. He took the old envelope, cut it and turned it inside out. Then he sewed it up with his letter inside and addressed it to his mother in this city. This more eloquently describes the conditions at Santiago than words could do.

In the letter Mr. Lunny says that he was in the trenches before Santiago during the heat of the slore. He participated in the three heaviest engagements, and lay in the earth works for days under the Spanish fire. Since the city was taken he has been down with yellow fever, but pulled through all right. He says that he feels as well now as he ever did in his life. The climate, though very hot, agrees with him very well, now that he has become acclimated. He does not enter into any detailed account of the battle.
