RUNAWAY GIRL TELLS A SAD STORY TO POLICE.

Her Brother, However, Arrives Later and Blue-Pencils It-She Was Picked Up Late at Night by a Watchman at Robinson's Brewery and Turned Over to the Police-Accidents and Other Items of News of Yesterday.

"I love my father and mother, but they whip me so. Anyhow, I want to go home, I am so homesick." Thus spoke Reba Thomas, as she sobbed hysterically, yesterday afternoon at the police station. She is a prim, goodooking little miss of 15 years, though not as large as one of her years would be expected to be. She was awaiting the arrangements of the police authorities to have her returned whence she came.

She was found not long before day light yesterday morning, sitting on the steps of the big ice plant of Robinbrewery. Seventh street. Michael Stern, the kind-hearted watchman, was attracted by her sobs. She poured a pitiful tale of want, exposure and neglect into his ears. She had come from England last year and from New York city about four months ago. Both parents are in England, and her grandma in New York city had died, and she was alone in the world.

Coming here from New York city, she had secured work with a family in Taylor, but Monday evening she was turned loose on the world. That was the gist of her story. Watchman Stern turned her over to Patrolman Marker. Owen Davis, who resides over the West Scranton police station, cared for the girl during the remainder of the night. Mrs. Davis' evident sympathy won the wanderer's heart and she confessed that she was a runaway.

Her father is Benjamin J. Thomas, of 126 Meade street, Wilkes-Barre. He is a fireboss at the Stanton mines. She was one of eight children. She went to school when there was school, but at the least thing she was whipped-'sometimes without any clothes on,' she said. She went to the store where the family dealt and obtained $2 and took a train for Scranton. As to where else she had been is hard to tell, for she is contradictory when questioned. Anyhow, after wandering around until she was tired, she sought the deserted place where she was found and sat down and cried.

The girl seems to be intelligent and was plainly but neatly clad, indicating that she had had a good home. She, however, seems to allow herself to be governed by whims and alternately speaks truthfully and then misrepresents. The police will turn her over to her father when he arrives here. Arrangements were first made to send her to the Crittenton mission, but she grew alarmed and told of her home. Word was immediately sent to the Wilkes-Barre police authorities and they will look the parents up and notify them of her whereabouts.

TWO SLIGHT ACCIDENTS.

A young son of Mr. and Mrs. James Bains, of 226 Meridian street, while playing on the porch of the residence yesterday afternoon, fell off and broke the bones of the right forearm. Dr. F. C. Hall was called and reset the arm. The lad is only 7 years old.

Mr. Lamb, of 122 Meridian street, is suffering from a bad wound in the right knee, caused by jamming the knee against a protruding piece of wire on a heavy screen. It is feared that blood poisoning is setting in. Dr. F. C. Hall is in charge.

Late last night her brother called and took her in charge. He says she is of a highly nervous temperament and intimated that at *imes she is a little "unstrung." Her story of abuse was concocted, he avers.

THE DUTY OF MOTHERS. HAPPENINGS OF

Daughters Should be Carefully Guided in Early Womanhood.

What suffering frequently results from a mother's ignorance; or more frequently from a mother's neglect to properly instruct her daughter! Tradition says "woman must suffer," and young women are so taught There is a little truth and a great deal of exaggeration in this. If a young woman suffers severely she needs treatment and her mother should see that she gets it.

Many mothers hesitate to take their daughters to a physician for examination; but no mother need hesitate to write freely about her daughter or herself to Mrs. Pinkham and secure the most efficient advice without charge. Mrs. Pinkham's address is Lvnn, Mass.

The following letter from Miss MARIE F. Jonnson, Centralia, Pa., shows what neglect will do, and tells how Mrs. Pinkham helped her: "My health became so poor that I had to leave school. I was tired all the time, and had dreadful pains in my side and back. I was also troubled with irregularity of menses. I was very weak, and lost so much flesh that friends became alarmed. My mother, who is a firm believer in your remedies from experience, thought per-haps they might benefit me, and wrote you for advice. I followed the advice you gave, and used Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and Liver Pills as you directed, and am now as well as I ever was. I have gained flesh and have a good color. I am completely cured of irregularity."

Event Was Attended With Elaborate Ceremonies - Herman Albert, of Stone Avenue, Bitten by a Vicious Dog-Funerals, Personal Notes and Gossip of a Day.

Martin Woyshner, the official court nterpreter of this county, and Miss Balbina Gabalo were united in marriage yesterday morning in the Polish Catholic church on Locust street. Rev. Francis Hodur, pastor, was the offici-ting clergyman. The large edifice was thronged by the friends of the contracting parties. Miss Nellie Backer was maid of honor. Miss Minnie Hafner was bridesmaid. The groomsmen were John Lopatko and Valentine Balkoski. At the conclusion of the impressive eremony, dinner was served at the groom's residence, 916 Prospect avenue. Mr, and Mrs. Woyshner were the recipients of many costly gifts. Beginning at 8 o'clock in the evening, a reception was given in the hall of the Ringgold band, on Prospect avenue. The Ringgold band earlier in the evening serenaded the bride and groom and at the close of the concert the vedding group went to the hall. There they were joined by the invited guests. A short concert was given by the band, pened by the selection, "The Blue and the Gray." The choir of the Polish church, of which Mr. Woyshner is the leading basso, sang several selections during the evening. The merry gathering partook of a choice luncheon, and danced until early morning. Mr. and Mrs. Woyshner will dispense with the usual tour. Today they commence housekeeping at 916 Prospect avenue Fred Morando and George Schaeffer ere arraigned before Alderman Puddy last night on the charge of assault and battery preferred by David Reilly. He alleged that the young men threw stones at him and that severa; of the missiles hit him. The defendants stoutly denied the charge. In the alderman's mind there was not sufficient evidence produced to hold them to ball and he discharged them.
