

CARBONDALE.

[The Carbondale correspondence of The Tribune has been placed in the hands of Mr. C. R. Munn, Salem avenue and Church street, to whom news items may be addressed. All complaints as to irregular delivery, etc., should be made to Roberts & Reynolds, news agents.]

FIRST DAY OF WEDDED LIFE.

Michael Burnett and His Wife Encounter Difficulties.

Yesterday morning Michael Burnett, of Simpson, started down the valley for the purpose of taking unto himself a wife. He met his love at Pittston and proceeded to Wilkes-Barre, where they were married. When they alighted from the 6 o'clock train last evening, Constable Neary served a warrant on Burnett which had been issued at the instance of his sister, Mrs. Michael Snee. The warrant charged him with having attempted to defraud her out of a $90 bond bill. Burnett gave bail for his appearance before Alderman Jones this evening.

But his trouble had only commenced. When he reached Salem avenue he met Mr. Snee, his brother-in-law, who proceeded to pummel him to the extent of $50 worth. The men were separated before much damage had been done.

Thus far the bride had contented herself by offering sympathy, but at this stage of the game she concluded to become more actively engaged in her "hubby's" defense. She did not engage in the fight, but went to Alderman Jones after a warrant for the arrest of Snee.

Mr. and Mrs. Burnett will go to housekeeping at Simpson at once.

THAT BASE BALL SCHEDULE.

Several Games Arranged for the Carnival at Alumni Park.

Inclement weather has interfered with the base ball carnival proposed for this week at Alumni park. However, games have been arranged with the local team as follows: Friday, Archibald; Saturday, Jessup; Monday, Eureka; of Providence; Tuesday, Honesdale.

Good sport is promised and the cranks of old should demonstrate that love of the national game has not entirely died out in this city. O'Garra, Cleary, of Olyphant, and a second baseman from Bloomsburg will play with the Carbondale team.

YESTERDAY AT FARVIEW.

The Methodist Sunday schools of Carbondale, Jermyn and Honesdale picnicked at Farview yesterday. Forty cars went up from this side and thirty from the other. The attendance was about 1,800. Among the diversions was a base ball game between the "crack" Honesdale team and High school club, of this city, in which the latter won by a score of 5 to 3.

LOCAL AND PERSONAL.

Drs. Burns, Wheeler, Gillis and Harper performed a surgical operation on Mrs. B. Mullady, of South Main street, yesterday. The patient's condition has been serious for some time and it is feared she may not recover.

George Gillis has resigned his position with R. S. Lewaley. He has again been placed on the reportorial staff of the Leader. Homer Van Gorder has taken the place made vacant by Mr. Gillis.

Dr. J. J. Thompson is entertaining his sister, Miss Anna, of Rockaway, N. J.

Mrs. H. A. Purple and son and Miss May Bromell are spending the week at Crystal lake and Dundaff.

Melvin Tappan is sojourning at the Lake House.

An informal dance is being arranged for Friday evening at Burke's hall.

Captain George L. Kilborn, customs officer of Brooklyn, N. Y., is being entertained by Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Rose, of Spring street.

Mrs. A. S. Lewaley is visiting her sister, Mrs. W. H. Crocker, of Green Ridge.

Dr. D. L. Bailey fished last night at Windsor.

Today is the day of the Crescent's excursion to Jefferson park. "A Boy Wanted" will be at the opera house tonight.

FACTORYVILLE.

The Delaware, Lackawanna and Western railroad has instructed its trainmen, when they call out the name of a station hereafter, to add, "and don't forget your parcels."

Tomorrow the majority of our inhabitants will take in the grangers' picnic at Lake Carey.

Charles Hunt took his Sunday school class over to the Susquehanna river for a day's outing, last Tuesday. They camped out on the river bank in tents Tuesday night and Wednesday the day was spent principally in fishing. Wednesday evening the return trip was made, and the entire trip was enjoyed very much, and every member of the class feels very grateful for having such a generous teacher.

A class of the Baptist Sunday school picnicked in Gardner's grove on Tuesday.

Mr. George Snyder, of Nicholson, was visiting relatives here yesterday.

Miss Catheryn Stark is at her former home, near East Leron, for a few days.

Mr. Halle Reynolds, while adjusting a circular saw last Monday, accidentally injured his hand but fortunately did not lose any of his fingers.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Watkins, of Olyphant, have been visiting Mr. Watkins' brother, Rev. M. J. Watkins, of this place.

Mr. and Mrs. John Connor have been entertaining friends from New York the past two weeks.

The Delaware, Lackawanna and Western Railroad company closed the two crossings (one at the old depot hotel and one near the house of Abram Wrigley) last Tuesday, the new road having been opened on Monday.

A special train conveying a regiment of regular army soldiers passed through here, going south, last Monday afternoon.

William Bean, advance agent for Crandall & Randall's "Uncle Tom's Cabin" show, was in town last Saturday, billing the show to appear here in the Sisk opera house on Tuesday evening, Aug. 23.

During the storm Tuesday afternoon lightning struck the blacksmith shop of A. E. Bedell. The bolt entered the roof and, passing down on the anvil where Mr. Bedell and two other men were working, entered the floor at their feet, without injuring them.

The death of Mrs. J. F. Wilbur, at the home of her daughter in Hopkinton, Saturday last, brings to our notice the fact that she was once a resident of this place, the Rev. J. F. Wilbur (her husband) being pastor of the Methodist Episcopal church here some thirty-five years ago.

Rev. and Mrs. George Smith, of Kutztown, Pa., have been spending a week in town. Owing to the sudden illness of the ten-year-old daughter, who accompanied them, they left for their home Tuesday morning. Mrs. Smith was formerly Miss Mame Reynolds, of this place.

Rev. M. J. Watkins and family are occupying the Reynolds cottage at Lake Sheridan this week.

Red Jacket lodge, I. O. O. F., has extended a cordial invitation to Paulina Rebekah lodge to join them at their picnic on Sept. 1.

Today is Grangers' day, and the day above all others when you can meet about five thousand of your country cousins and aunts at Lake Carey. Red lemonade, peanuts and watermelon will vanish there like a cake of ice under a Cuban sun, and the girl that don't have a fellow, and a sure pink breast, and a white face, will not think life is worth living.

TAYLOR NEWS.

Our Enterprising Borough Hose Company Picnic a Success—Personal News.

The growth of Taylor during the past two or three years has been encouraging. During this time three new industries have located here. Business men of Scranton wishing to locate their homes so as to avoid the noise and bustle of city will find Taylor a most delightful locality. There are a large number of handsome residences in erection and some more are to follow.

The picnic held by the Taylor Hose company No. 1 at Weber's park on Tuesday evening was well patronized. The boys, headed by the Taylor Silver cornet band, paraded the principal streets during the afternoon.

John P. Thomas is a candidate for delegate from the Third ward to the Third legislative convention.

David T. Jones, of the First ward, announces his candidacy for delegate to the Third legislative district convention.

Mrs. Nicholas Eagan, of Hyde Park, was the guest of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Pendergast, of Depot street, yesterday.

Sergeant John H. Thomas, of Company C, Ninth regiment, who has been on a furlough with his parents in this place, left to join his regiment at Camp Thomas, Chickamauga, yesterday.

Taylor Castle No. 267, Knights of the Golden Eagle, will meet this evening in Reese's hall.

Misses Annie Tidd and Lydie Speer are journeying at Lake Winola.

Mrs. B. F. Taylor, who has been on a visit from Maryland with her sister, Mrs. W. J. Richards, of this place, has returned. She will stop for a short stay with relatives in Binghamton.

Mrs. M. J. Lloyd, of Priceburg, is visiting her mother, Mrs. Robert Llewellyn, of Union street.

Mr. George Harris, of Hyde Park, was a Taylor visitor yesterday.

Miss Ethel Browning, of Nicholson, is visiting relatives in this place.

John Sage, of the First ward, is a candidate for delegate to the Third legislative district convention.

Miss Ethel Muselman, of Ransom, is the guest of Miss Grace Lowry, of North Taylor.

Thomas Gannon, of Jermyn, was a business visitor in this place yesterday.

Lackawanna Valley council, No. 81, Junior Order United American Mechanics, will meet this evening in Van Vorn's hall.

The Misses Bertha and Gertrude Reese are rustating at Lake Winola for the past few days.

Mrs. Jenkin Harris, of Scranton, was the guest of friends in this place on Tuesday.

Elmer T. Daniels, marriage license clerk of Scranton, and Owen Watkins left Monday for a ten days' vacation at Atlantic city.

Oliver M. Williams is slowly recovering from his recent sickness.

The funeral of the late Dennis O'Leah, whose death occurred on Tuesday, took place from his late home in the Archibald yesterday afternoon. The Rev. Griffin post, Grand Army of the Republic, attended in a body. A requiem mass was celebrated in the Hyde Park Catholic church. Burial was made in the Catholic cemetery.

Our lovers of circus performances will be given a rich treat in this line on Friday and Saturday by the well-known Walsh Brothers who gave excellent satisfaction here last season, not only under canvas but when they gave a play by a minstrel organization last winter, this new year they have many new features in acrobatic, trapeze, horse riding and numerous other amusing feats. The company also are especially mentioned as being the best clown performers on the road. The show is clean and up to date in every part and always has an AI management. Their price is 10 cents to the main performance which is given afternoon and evening, and wherever Walsh Brothers' circus visits they are assured of a large crowd, and of giving general satisfaction, which is the reason for their return date with us.

The local orchestra furnished music for a picnic at Dushore, Tuesday. The picnic and dance on the parochial school grounds was largely attended Monday evening. Music was furnished by the Germania band and Ecolat orchestra.

Grand jury meets next Monday. Patrick Collins and Jacob Walsh, both residents of this county, were struck and instantly killed by a Northern Central express train shortly after 9 o'clock Sunday morning. The men were great friends and were on their way to Elmira to attend church with their wives, each driving on horse. On their way Collins got into the Welsh carriage, while Mrs. Walsh rode with Mrs. Collins.

The men drove ahead and while crossing the track a short distance below Southport were struck by the engine of express train No. 5, north bound. Both were terribly injured and died instantly. The ladies were coming down a hill just behind and witnessed the whole affair. The crossing is a particularly dangerous one, a whole family by the name of Blanchard having been killed at the same spot by the same train about a year ago.

In all but blood Aguinaldo is Spanish bred. He is, but for his love of freedom, a product of Spanish training, Spanish education, Spanish government. But for the Malay ferocity in his veins he is the child of Castille andragon. Spain reared him as bitterly to repudiate him as bitterly as she does.

Aguinaldo is not a Malay of the peninsula. His father was a native chief of the Philippines—an Orang Malayu, that is, a Malay with a literature, a religion, a culture of his own. In this way he was distinguished from the Orang Beuna, the Malay of the soil, and the Orang-laut, the Malay of the sea. The chief had ambitions for his son. He gave him at a tender age to the Spanish priests of Luzon, with the Malay and Negritos of the island.

These men were only too glad to take the boy. They were Spaniards and he a Malay. The Spanish population of the Philippines was as a shadow of a nipa palm by the shade of a mountain cliff when faced by the 6,000,000 of Malay and Negritos of the island. Aguinaldo trained as Spain would train all true sons, foster or otherwise, would turn to his people an apostle of the cause of Spain. His influence, the priests argued, would be tremendous, and must necessarily be exerted for the good of the island.

The ideal fishermen are busy just at present building ice racks in a river in defiance of the game laws. A large one has just been completed a short distance below town. The operators of these concerns besides violating the game laws are guilty of obstructing a public highway, of using dangerous devices, of using small boats or even large houseboats going down stream. Sheriff Fell will undoubtedly pay a visit to these gentry.

Miss Julia Powell is home from Washington for her summer vacation. Paul S. Milesbach, division passenger agent of the Lehigh Valley was in Towanda Monday making arrangements with the firemen for a special train and rates to the convention at Wellboro next month.

Dr. E. Rush Jackson, of Johnstown, N. Y., accompanied by his daughter, Mrs. Dean, is visiting friends in Towanda and Dushore.

F. M. Higgins, until August 1st the proprietor of the Towanda-Canton stage route, has become representative of the Prudential insurance company in Towanda and along the Bernice branch, and entered upon his new duties this morning.

The marriage of Miss Mary Shields, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Shields, of Third street, and Mr. George E. Merritt took place in St. James' Episcopal church yesterday morning at 9 o'clock. Many friends of the happy couple were present. The church was nicely decorated with cut flowers and potted plants. The bride, who was unattended, wore a pretty dress of brown satin rhodame. After the ceremony the young couple drove to the bride's home, where a sumptuous lunch was served. Only immediate friends and relatives were present.

Mrs. Hemilright, of Second street, returned last evening from Ocean Grove. The incandescent lights were turned on last evening. One boiler having been gotten in operation. It will be some time yet before the arc lights will be in operation.

The Delaware and Hudson colliery was idle yesterday on account of the annual excursion to Farview of the Methodist Episcopal Sunday school.

Mrs. Eugene Smith, whose husband, Sergeant Smith, is away with the Thirtieth regiment, is seriously ill.

JERMYN AND MAYFIELD.

The marriage of Miss Mary Shields, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Shields, of Third street, and Mr. George E. Merritt took place in St. James' Episcopal church yesterday morning at 9 o'clock. Many friends of the happy couple were present. The church was nicely decorated with cut flowers and potted plants. The bride, who was unattended, wore a pretty dress of brown satin rhodame. After the ceremony the young couple drove to the bride's home, where a sumptuous lunch was served. Only immediate friends and relatives were present.

Mrs. Hemilright, of Second street, returned last evening from Ocean Grove. The incandescent lights were turned on last evening. One boiler having been gotten in operation. It will be some time yet before the arc lights will be in operation.

The Delaware and Hudson colliery was idle yesterday on account of the annual excursion to Farview of the Methodist Episcopal Sunday school.

Mrs. Eugene Smith, whose husband, Sergeant Smith, is away with the Thirtieth regiment, is seriously ill.

ARCHBALD.

On Monday next St. Thomas' congregation will hold their annual excursion to Farview. Elaborate preparations have been made for the occasion, and the day. There will be many forms of amusement and many things of interest to make the occasion one of delight. A first class caterer has been engaged and it will be possible to get a good meal at a reasonable sum. The annual excursions of St. Thomas' congregation have always been enjoyable and this will be fully up to the standard.

When the students return to the Normal school in Scranton, they will be greatly surprised at the many changes that are being wrought in different parts of the building. The manual training department they will find moved into three large rooms now being prepared on the ground floor of the school building. The first room will be occupied by the benches, the second by the machinery and the third will be used as a store room for stock.

A contract for a new boiler house has just been let. The boiler house is to be removed from the basement of Institute Hall and placed in a new building to be erected on Penn street, just outside of the Athletic field.

The plan also includes an addition of new block at each end of the building, one to be used for the Model School, and one on the east for the Music Department. The entire front of the building is to be changed in appearance, instead of the old belfry, there will be a handsome tower.

The wedding of Miss Stamp, teacher of music, and Prof. Sutliff, who returns to his old position in the Department of Mathematics after two years' absence, will take place on Wednesday of this week at Scranton, Pa.

Miss Merte E. Reese, who was at the head of the Music Department, was recently married to Dr. West of Chicago. Her place has been filled by the selection of Miss Ruvina Ravil although Miss Ravi is a native of Italy, she has been living for many years in this country, and received her college education and also her musical education in this country.

An improvement which will be highly appreciated by the students is the widening of the entrance of the Auditorium, which will greatly facilitate the passing in and out of that room.

Prof. Hartline has just returned from a study of the terminal moraine in Columbia, Luzerne and Sullivan counties.

DRAMATIC CAREER OF GENERAL AGUINALDO

THE LEADER OF THE PHILIPPINE INSURGENTS.

SOMETHING ABOUT THE ORIGIN AND RISE OF THE MAN WHO HAS CAUSED SPAIN AND MAY YET CAUSE US A LOT OF TROUBLE.

From the Times-Herald.

In all but blood Aguinaldo is Spanish bred. He is, but for his love of freedom, a product of Spanish training, Spanish education, Spanish government. But for the Malay ferocity in his veins he is the child of Castille andragon. Spain reared him as bitterly to repudiate him as bitterly as she does.

Aguinaldo is not a Malay of the peninsula. His father was a native chief of the Philippines—an Orang Malayu, that is, a Malay with a literature, a religion, a culture of his own. In this way he was distinguished from the Orang Beuna, the Malay of the soil, and the Orang-laut, the Malay of the sea. The chief had ambitions for his son. He gave him at a tender age to the Spanish priests of Luzon, with the Malay and Negritos of the island.

These men were only too glad to take the boy. They were Spaniards and he a Malay. The Spanish population of the Philippines was as a shadow of a nipa palm by the shade of a mountain cliff when faced by the 6,000,000 of Malay and Negritos of the island. Aguinaldo trained as Spain would train all true sons, foster or otherwise, would turn to his people an apostle of the cause of Spain. His influence, the priests argued, would be tremendous, and must necessarily be exerted for the good of the island.

The ideal fishermen are busy just at present building ice racks in a river in defiance of the game laws. A large one has just been completed a short distance below town. The operators of these concerns besides violating the game laws are guilty of obstructing a public highway, of using dangerous devices, of using small boats or even large houseboats going down stream. Sheriff Fell will undoubtedly pay a visit to these gentry.

Miss Julia Powell is home from Washington for her summer vacation. Paul S. Milesbach, division passenger agent of the Lehigh Valley was in Towanda Monday making arrangements with the firemen for a special train and rates to the convention at Wellboro next month.

Dr. E. Rush Jackson, of Johnstown, N. Y., accompanied by his daughter, Mrs. Dean, is visiting friends in Towanda and Dushore.

F. M. Higgins, until August 1st the proprietor of the Towanda-Canton stage route, has become representative of the Prudential insurance company in Towanda and along the Bernice branch, and entered upon his new duties this morning.

The marriage of Miss Mary Shields, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Shields, of Third street, and Mr. George E. Merritt took place in St. James' Episcopal church yesterday morning at 9 o'clock. Many friends of the happy couple were present. The church was nicely decorated with cut flowers and potted plants. The bride, who was unattended, wore a pretty dress of brown satin rhodame. After the ceremony the young couple drove to the bride's home, where a sumptuous lunch was served. Only immediate friends and relatives were present.

Mrs. Hemilright, of Second street, returned last evening from Ocean Grove. The incandescent lights were turned on last evening. One boiler having been gotten in operation. It will be some time yet before the arc lights will be in operation.

The Delaware and Hudson colliery was idle yesterday on account of the annual excursion to Farview of the Methodist Episcopal Sunday school.

Mrs. Eugene Smith, whose husband, Sergeant Smith, is away with the Thirtieth regiment, is seriously ill.

When the students return to the Normal school in Scranton, they will be greatly surprised at the many changes that are being wrought in different parts of the building. The manual training department they will find moved into three large rooms now being prepared on the ground floor of the school building. The first room will be occupied by the benches, the second by the machinery and the third will be used as a store room for stock.

A contract for a new boiler house has just been let. The boiler house is to be removed from the basement of Institute Hall and placed in a new building to be erected on Penn street, just outside of the Athletic field.

The plan also includes an addition of new block at each end of the building, one to be used for the Model School, and one on the east for the Music Department. The entire front of the building is to be changed in appearance, instead of the old belfry, there will be a handsome tower.

The wedding of Miss Stamp, teacher of music, and Prof. Sutliff, who returns to his old position in the Department of Mathematics after two years' absence, will take place on Wednesday of this week at Scranton, Pa.

Miss Merte E. Reese, who was at the head of the Music Department, was recently married to Dr. West of Chicago. Her place has been filled by the selection of Miss Ruvina Ravil although Miss Ravi is a native of Italy, she has been living for many years in this country, and received her college education and also her musical education in this country.

An improvement which will be highly appreciated by the students is the widening of the entrance of the Auditorium, which will greatly facilitate the passing in and out of that room.

Prof. Hartline has just returned from a study of the terminal moraine in Columbia, Luzerne and Sullivan counties.

medicine which for ages has given his people. In our citizens we do not approve of this, but Aguinaldo is not the graduate of an American college, nor the child of anything but a Malay father and Spanish institutions. He walks in his own light.

HIS BRAVING OF AUGUSTIN.

Basilio Augustin Davila was the political governor of the Philippine Islands at that time. Rivera was captain general. Augustin offered $20,000 for the head of Aguinaldo. The answer he received to this tender was a note from the rebel leader himself:

"I need the sum you offer very much and will deliver the head myself."

Augustin, who is compositely itself, laughed. "Ten days later the most Aguinaldo. He paid him $20,000, but did not receive his head.

The time of the meeting was a stormy night—a typhoon raging. Augustin sat in his palace engaged on a report of the condition of the island. A priest raised the acoustical door at the entrance to the palace and undisturbed entered Augustin's room. He stopped just back of that official's chair with the words: "Peace be with you, my son."

When Augustin, surprised, had turned his head the priest's mantle was dropped, and there stood Aguinaldo, in his hand a 20-inch bolo, the terrible knife of the Malay.

"I have brought the head of Aguinaldo," said the rebel, thumbing the edge of his blade, "and I claim the reward. If you, else I shall have to expedite matters."

Augustin had no alternative. He opened his desk and from it took $20,000 in gold, which he gave to Aguinaldo. The latter in turn handed him a receipt, counted the money, walked backward to the door and with a pistol bullet from the enraged Augustin cut the hair over a temple, but he escaped unscathed.

A short time after this daring feat Captain General Polavieja, about as wise a man as Augustin, offered Aguinaldo a million $200,000 each if they would leave Luzon forever. Each was to have a free pardon, also, for past offenses. The two accepted the offer, only to learn after they received the money that they were to be assassinated the following night at 4 o'clock. The next night, however, the two men engaged to kill the insurgents were found dead in their beds with knives driven through their hearts, and attached to the handle of each was a bit of paper bearing the inscription: "Behold the Malay's vengeance."

Polavieja resigned and returned to Spain and, Rivera going as well, Augustin became the captain general of the islands. He made no headway in the effort to subdue Aguinaldo. The revolt of the natives was growing every day, when the victory Dewey forever ended Spanish power at Manila and made it possible for the insurgents to once more be rulers of their own land.

Many reasons exist for thinking that England was anxious that the Philippines should pass from Spanish control, even before Dewey came. When Aguinaldo first revolted his followers were without arms. He subsequently armed a portion of them from the bodies of the Spanish soldiers whom they overcame with the bolo. But mysterious vessels came out of the sea bearing other arms and ammunition, and these were surreptitiously delivered to the insurgents without anyone discovering whence they came. English commercial interests have always been suspected of having provided these supplies, but Spain has never been able to prove it.

DECLARATION OF PRINCIPLES. In Washington, whatever be the outcome of the advantage this country now has at Manila, there is a most kind feeling for Aguinaldo among those familiar with Luzon. He is of a race capable of frightful ferocity, a race which, when stirred to excitement, runs "amuk," a people fond of gambling, of head hunting. The race is predestined to be dominated by the English-speaking people of England and America, but until that time comes, until the baleful influence of the Latin races is fully removed, it is well to remember the words of this man spoke last June at Cavite:

"I am of and for my people. This land, the water upon it, the sky above, the forest and all within, the mountain and that upon it, is ours. We do not ask the men from afar (Spain) to come to us. We are content with ourselves."

Many reasons exist for thinking that England was anxious that the Philippines should pass from Spanish control, even before Dewey came. When Aguinaldo first revolted his followers were without arms. He subsequently armed a portion of them from the bodies of the Spanish soldiers whom they overcame with the bolo. But mysterious vessels came out of the sea bearing other arms and ammunition, and these were surreptitiously delivered to the insurgents without anyone discovering whence they came. English commercial interests have always been suspected of having provided these supplies, but Spain has never been able to prove it.

DECLARATION OF PRINCIPLES. In Washington, whatever be the outcome of the advantage this country now has at Manila, there is a most kind feeling for Aguinaldo among those familiar with Luzon. He is of a race capable of frightful ferocity, a race which, when stirred to excitement, runs "amuk," a people fond of gambling, of head hunting. The race is predestined to be dominated by the English-speaking people of England and America, but until that time comes, until the baleful influence of the Latin races is fully removed, it is well to remember the words of this man spoke last June at Cavite:

"I am of and for my people. This land, the water upon it, the sky above, the forest and all within, the mountain and that upon it, is ours. We do not ask the men from afar (Spain) to come to us. We are content with ourselves."

Many reasons exist for thinking that England was anxious that the Philippines should pass from Spanish control, even before Dewey came. When Aguinaldo first revolted his followers were without arms. He subsequently armed a portion of them from the bodies of the Spanish soldiers whom they overcame with the bolo. But mysterious vessels came out of the sea bearing other arms and ammunition, and these were surreptitiously delivered to the insurgents without anyone discovering whence they came. English commercial interests have always been suspected of having provided these supplies, but Spain has never been able to prove it.

DECLARATION OF PRINCIPLES. In Washington, whatever be the outcome of the advantage this country now has at Manila, there is a most kind feeling for Aguinaldo among those familiar with Luzon. He is of a race capable of frightful ferocity, a race which, when stirred to excitement, runs "amuk," a people fond of gambling, of head hunting. The race is predestined to be dominated by the English-speaking people of England and America, but until that time comes, until the baleful influence of the Latin races is fully removed, it is well to remember the words of this man spoke last June at Cavite:

"I am of and for my people. This land, the water upon it, the sky above, the forest and all within, the mountain and that upon it, is ours. We do not ask the men from afar (Spain) to come to us. We are content with ourselves."

Many reasons exist for thinking that England was anxious that the Philippines should pass from Spanish control, even before Dewey came. When Aguinaldo first revolted his followers were without arms. He subsequently armed a portion of them from the bodies of the Spanish soldiers whom they overcame with the bolo. But mysterious vessels came out of the sea bearing other arms and ammunition, and these were surreptitiously delivered to the insurgents without anyone discovering whence they came. English commercial interests have always been suspected of having provided these supplies, but Spain has never been able to prove it.

DECLARATION OF PRINCIPLES. In Washington, whatever be the outcome of the advantage this country now has at Manila, there is a most kind feeling for Aguinaldo among those familiar with Luzon. He is of a race capable of frightful ferocity, a race which, when stirred to excitement, runs "amuk," a people fond of gambling, of head hunting. The race is predestined to be dominated by the English-speaking people of England and America, but until that time comes, until the baleful influence of the Latin races is fully removed, it is well to remember the words of this man spoke last June at Cavite:

"I am of and for my people. This land, the water upon it, the sky above, the forest and all within, the mountain and that upon it, is ours. We do not ask the men from afar (Spain) to come to us. We are content with ourselves."

Many reasons exist for thinking that England was anxious that the Philippines should pass from Spanish control, even before Dewey came. When Aguinaldo first revolted his followers were without arms. He subsequently armed a portion of them from the bodies of the Spanish soldiers whom they overcame with the bolo. But mysterious vessels came out of the sea bearing other arms and ammunition, and these were surreptitiously delivered to the insurgents without anyone discovering whence they came. English commercial interests have always been suspected of having provided these supplies, but Spain has never been able to prove it.

DECLARATION OF PRINCIPLES. In Washington, whatever be the outcome of the advantage this country now has at Manila, there is a most kind feeling for Aguinaldo among those familiar with Luzon. He is of a race capable of frightful ferocity, a race which, when stirred to excitement, runs "amuk," a people fond of gambling, of head hunting. The race is predestined to be dominated by the English-speaking people of England and America, but until that time comes, until the baleful influence of the Latin races is fully removed, it is well to remember the words of this man spoke last June at Cavite:

"I am of and for my people. This land, the water upon it, the sky above, the forest and all within, the mountain and that upon it, is ours. We do not ask the men from afar (Spain) to come to us. We are content with ourselves."

Many reasons exist for thinking that England was anxious that the Philippines should pass from Spanish control, even before Dewey came. When Aguinaldo first revolted his followers were without arms. He subsequently armed a portion of them from the bodies of the Spanish soldiers whom they overcame with the bolo. But mysterious vessels came out of the sea bearing other arms and ammunition, and these were surreptitiously delivered to the insurgents without anyone discovering whence they came. English commercial interests have always been suspected of having provided these supplies, but Spain has never been able to prove it.

DECLARATION OF PRINCIPLES. In Washington, whatever be the outcome of the advantage this country now has at Manila, there is a most kind feeling for Aguinaldo among those familiar with Luzon. He is of a race capable of frightful ferocity, a race which, when stirred to excitement, runs "amuk," a people fond of gambling, of head hunting. The race is predestined to be dominated