SEASON OPENS TONIGHT.

Scranton's Three Theaters Are in Readiness.

This evening the amusement season of 1898-'99 will open with the presentation at the Lyceum of Hoyt's latest comedy "A Day and a Night." Monday night the Academy opens its doors, "The Girl I Left Behind Me," having been booked as the first attraction. On Monday afternoon the Gaiety theater on Linden street, will have its first performance.

During the summer months the Lyceum and Academy have been renovated and while no very extensive changes have been made in either house they will be found more cheerful and pleasant than ever.

Many changes have been made at the old Davis' theater which has been renamed The Gaiety and will be devoted entirely to burlesque and extravaganza. It will be a new theater in appearance as well as name that will greet theatergoers when it is opened Monday. A handsome lobby has been made and the interior of the theater has been repainted and decorated. Boxes and loges have been constructed and the theater is now a cozy and up-to-date locking place. The propri-etor and manager is Thomas D. Van Osten, who directed the Van Osten reertoire company that appeared at the cademy of Music Inst season.

Representatives of the various German societies of the city have elected the following officers who are in general charge of the arrangements for the celebration: President, Dr. Wehlau; vice presidents, Frank Leuthner, Rev. Mr. Haas, Philip Robinson and Charles Robinson; secretary, Theodore Hemberger; assistant secretary, John Mais: treasurer, Charles Graf.

HAIR-BREADTH ESCAPE.

Mrs. William Lutz Run Down While Bicycle Riding on Washington Avenue-Sustains Injuries.

Mrs. William Lutz, wife of a tea gent who resides on Throop street, Imrmore, had a hairbreadth escape fron, at least serious injury and possibly from death in a collision with a team of horses at the corner of Washington avenue and Linden street yesterday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Lutz were on bicycles and riding down the avenue. At the Linden street corner a large steam roller had crossed the street and was bound north on the east side of the To avoid it Mr. and Mrs. Lutz kept to the west side of the thoroughfare. At the corner a team going east on Linden street turned into the avenue, just as Mrs. Lutz reached the spot.

The wagon pole struck her on the right check. Her bicycle went clear of the horses, but she fell beneath them. They pranced above and about her as she lay on the pavement, but the driver soon succeeded in reining them back and to one side. Her husband and pedestrians assisted Mrs. Lutz into Williams' candy store. It was found that the only injury other than a bruised cheek, which was struck by the pole, was a bruised right leg. One of the horses had evidently tread upon it, but not heavily, although the skin was contused and the knee slightly wrenched. The driver of the team paused only long enough to see that the woman was not dangerously hurt and then whipped up his team and disappeared up Linden street.

ASSOCIATION NOW PROPOSE TO ACT

ASSISTANCE OF THE LAW IS TO BE INVOKED.

The Executive Committee of the Anthracite Association Has Decided to File a Petition with the Inter-State Commerce Commission Upon the Question of Discrimination of Freight Rates-Text of the Law That Has a Bearing Upon This

The Anthracite association which was organized for the purpose of fighting the discrimination against hard coal. proposes to take radical steps at once The executive committee has decided to file a petition with the Inter-State Commerce commission upon the question of the discrimination in freight charges on anthracite coal as compared with bituminous coal and other freights such as ice, rails, iron, ore, limestone, grain, etc. Statistics to be ised in the petition are now being com-

It is believed that the remedy for the xisting discrimination against the anthracite region is to be found in the act known as the Inter-State Commerce aw, which applies to any traffic passing out, through or into the state. This law is as follows:

PROVISIONS OF LAW.

First-All charges made for any service rendered in the transportation of property shall be reasonable and just; and every unjust and unreasonable charge for such is prohibited and declared to be mlawful Second-If any rallroad shall directly or indirectly by any device charge a greater compensation for any service rendered in the transportation of property than it charges for a like contemporaneous serice in the transportation of a like kind of traffic under substantially similar cir-cumstances and conditions, then that railand shall be deemed guilty of unjust disrimination, which is hereby prohibited and declared to be unlawful. Third-It shall be unlawful for any raiload to make or give any undue or unrea-chable preferences or advantage to any particular person, company, firm or local-ty or any particular description of traffic n any respect whatsoever, or to subject any particular person, company, firm, corporation or locality, or any particular lescription of traffic to any undue or unasonable prejudices or disadvantage in my respect whatsoever.

The law has created a commission composed of five commissioners ap-pointed by the president who are chosen for six years and receive $7,500 each per year.

They have authority to inquire into the management of the business of all railroads, and shall keep themselves informed as to the manner and method in which the same is conducted, and have the right to obtain from such railroads full and complete information necessary to enable them to perform the duties and carry out the objects of their duties and they shall have power to require by subpoena, the attendance and testimony of witnesses and the production of all books, papers, traffics, contracts, agreements and documents relating to any matter under investigation.

The failure to obey said subpoena may be punished by the court as a contempt thereof. The claim that any such testimony or evidence may tend to criminate the person giving such evidence, shall not excuse such witness from testifying.

REMEDY EASILY REACHED. Any person, firm, corporation or asociation, or any mercantile, agriculural, or manufacturing society, or any political body, or municipal organization complaining of anything done or contravention to the provisions or this act, may apply to said commission by petition, says the law. The petition shall briefly state the facts, whereupon a statement of the charges thus made, shall be forwarded by the commission to such railroad who shall be called upon to satisfy the complaint, or to answer the same in a reasonable time, to be specified by the commission. If such common carrier within the time specified shall make reparation of the injury alleged to have been done, said carrier shall be relieved of liability to the complainant only for the particular violation of law thus complained of. If such railroad shall not satisfy the omplaint within the time specified or there shall appear to be any reasonable ground for investigating said complaint it shall be the duty of the commission to investigate the matters complained of, in such manner and by such means as it shall deem proper. No complaint shall at any time be dismissed because of the absence of direct damage to the complainant. All reports of investigation made by the commission shall be entered of record, and a copy shall be furnished to the party who may have complained. POWER TO PUNISH.

In any case in which an investigaion has been made by the commission and they are satisfied that anything has been done in violation of this act, or of any law cognizable by said commission, by any railroad, or that any injury or damage has been sustained by the party complaining, or by any other parties, it shall be the duty of the ommission to send a report to such railroad, together with a notice to cease and desist from such violation, and to make reparation for the injury so found to have been done within a reasonable time, to be specified by the commission. If they refuse to obey, or violate the order, then either the commission, or any one interested in such order, may apply to the United States Circuit court in a summary way by petition alleging such violation or disobedience, and the court shall hear and determine the matter on such short notice as the court may deem reasonable, and said ourt shall proceed to hear and determine the matter speedily as a court of equity, but in such manner as to do justice in the premises.

The findings of the commission cannot be disputed in court. On such hearing the findings of fact in the report of said commission shall be prima facie evide ce of the matters therein stated. If it be made to appear to such court that the lav ful order or requirement of said commission has been violated or disobeyed, said court may issue an injunction to restrain such railroad from further continuing such violation of disobedience of the order of the commission and enjoining obedience to the same. ISSUE AN ATTACHMENT. If the railroad refuses to obey th order of the court. The court the shall issue an attachment against such railroad or its officers and may, if it shall think fit, make an order directing such railroad or its officers to pay such I sum of money not exceeding for each APPEAL TO THE railroad or each of its officers named, the sum of five hundred (500) dollars HIGHEST COURT for every day, after a day to be named in the order and such moneys shall be payable as the court may direct,

If the supreme court will not accept the defendant's contention that the premises were mute witnesses-helping as they did to tell the story of the affair as much as any man who went into the box-then it will be argued that the law by implication says that the accused shall be present at every stage of the trial and will seek with this contention to save Van Horn from the gallows.
