This Vote Not Good After Sept. 5, 1898.

A little boy and girl were playing on a fence when the boy fell off and hurting himself began to cry. A lady passing by asked of another who saw the accident, "Why, what's the matter with Johnnie?" The lady replied, "Oh! he was walking on the fence and I guess he lost his balance." A few moments later the children were earnestly searching in the grass and when asked what they were looking for the little girl replied, "We're hunting for Johnnie's balance."

It must have been these same youngsters who taking a walk in early spring came to a pond. They heard the lizards calling: Briggs, Briggs, Briggs, Briggs. When Johnnie asked his sister, who taught the lizards to say this familiar word she immediately replied, "Perry Brothers."

NEWSBOYS HAVE A PLEASANT OUTING

OVER SEVEN HUNDRED FEAST-ED AT NAY AUG PARK.

They Marched Around Town and Then to the Park, Headed by Bauer's Band and After Dinner Indulged in Sports of Various Kinds. Some of the Prize-Winners-Ladies Who Assisted in Entertaining the Noisy But Good-Natured and Happy Throng.

Over seven hundred newsboys of the city enjoyed an outing at Nay Aug park yesterday. It was a happy, mery, noisy throng, up to all kinds of mischief and prepared to extract fun out of anything that suggested itself.

The newsboys outing was first suggested by Park Commissioner A. P. Bedford who consulted with the managers of the daily newspapers of the city. The latter furnished the "sinews of war" and assisted Mr. Bedford in carrying the affair to a conclusion that was gratifyingly successful.

The boys gathered at the court bouse park early in the morning and at 9.30 the parade started from Washington avenue and Linden street headed by Mounted Officers Dyer and Burke and Bauer's band. The following arranged the boys in line and gave them their badges and dinner tickets: Park Commissioner A. P. Bedford, Dr. G. E. Hill, City Engineer Joseph Phillips, Harry U. Hopewell, C. P. O'Malley, of The Truth; Thomas Fleming and Thomas Rafter, of The Times, Howard Davis and John Crane, of the Tribune. The boys carried small American flags presented by Dr. Hill and banners painted by George Winans.

LINE OF MARCH.

After leaving Washington avenue and Linden street the line of march was as follows: Linden to Mulberry, to Penn, to Lackawanna, to Mulberry, to park. The procession was four blocks in length and attracted much attention as it passed through the streets. The marching and demeanor of the boys was highly commended by those who watched the brave little marchers.

At the park a generous dinner of substantials and delicacies was served to the boys and the way they caused eatables to disappear was testimony of a convincing character that they were healthy and hearty. The serving was done by the following ladies of Lieutenant Ezra S. Griffin Post, Women's Relief association: Mrs. Ione Walter, Mrs. Marie Allen, Mrs. Etta Pearce, Mrs. Rachel Hall, Mrs. Olive Gibbs, Mrs. Mary Shepherd, Mrs. Amy Davis, Mrs. Margaret Houser, Mrs. Caroline Booth, Mrs. Margaret Malbery, Mrs. Robbins, Mrs. Anna Von Storch, Mrs. Kimback, Mrs. Brandanore, Mrs. Harriet Bailey, Mrs. Elizabeth Hall, Mrs. Sarah Kennedy, Mrs. W. D. Kemmerer, Mrs. Cahoon, Mrs. Loftus, Mrs. Ella Swartz, Mrs. Lizzie Warner, Mrs. Alice Conger, the Misses Jessie and Maragaret Bristley, Nellie Perry and Nellie Shelton.

After dinner a concert was given by Bauer's band that greatly tickled the juvenile audience. They voted it one of the very good things of the day. The services of the band were donated by Mr. Bauer.

VARIOUS GAMES. The steam merry-go-round, which had been placed at the disposal of the boys, and games of various kinds the risk of becoming an habitual politi-helped to while away other pleasant cian. In the second place, there is no fun of the exciting and amusing games was pigs. Two of The Tribune's live carriers came in for honors in this contest. They were Reese Powell and Harry Flynn, each of whom made a captive of a slippery porker. Flynn have considered it a duty to face these also assisted another newsboy in laying low the third pig. At 2 o'clock the carriers for the afternoon papers returned to the city. The boys employed on the morning papers remained for several longer. General Manager Frank Silliman, of the Scranton Railway, carried all of the boys back to the city free of Those having the outing in charge vere especially grateful to Mrs. E. N. Willard, who contributed a barrel and a basket of apples and a basket of plums to the feast and gave Dr. G. E. Hill $5 for the work he is doing toward furnishing needed park facilities.

WILL JOIN DALY'S FORCES.

Miss Walsh, of Parsons, Engaged by Dean of Theatrical Managers. The following from the Wilkes-

Barre Leader refers to a young woman who has many friends in this city; Miss Mame Walsh, of Parsons, daugher of John B. Walsh, will leave this week or New York city, having accepted an engagement with Augustine Daly to be-come a member of one of his stock com-panies. Miss Walsh has long had a desire to go upon the stage and she seems eminently fitted for that profession. Two months ago, armed with strong recom-mendations from several prominent gen-tlemen of New York she waited upon Mr. Daly and the result was an invitation to report for duty in September. Yesterby the welcome letter was received urging Miss Walsh to come on to New York for leaving.

Miss Walsh is 22 years old, of fine figure and possesses all the personal charms hat will aid in the success that surely awaits her. She was educated in the pu e schools of this place and her ability it ecitations soon attracted notice. Under the direction and advice of friends she cook a course in the National School of Elecution and Oratory at Philadelphia remaining there during the season of '9 nd '94, when she graduated with special nonors. In 1896 she accepted a position as superintendent of elecution in the unmore public schools. This duty required her teaching in four buildings and the had in charge all pupils above the

Miss Walsh had also charge of the gradnting class of the Pittston schools for wo seasons and taught classes in elecu-ion at Avoca, Parsons and East End and n each place had marked success.

in each place had marked success.

The subject of this sketch is equally strong in tragedy as in comedy roles, though she prefers the former. Mrs. J. W. Shoemaker, principal of the National School of Oratory, says she is exceptionally clever in either role.

Miss Walsh has taken part in several amateur productions, notably "The Twe Orphans," in which she took the part of Henrietta. This, it will be remembered, was given in the Grand for the benefit of St. Vincent de Paul society. Her first of St. Vincent de Paul society. Her first attempt at theatricals was in "Kathleen Mavourneen," in which she took a male part, that of Squire Bernard Cavanaugh. This was under the auspices of St. Dominie's Sunday school at Parsons.

Miss Waish took the part of Helen Ar-mour, a soubrette, in "Which," Dan Hart's well known creation. Her favorite recitations are "The Char-iot Race." from "Ben Hur;" "Pauline Povlona." by Aldrich; "Victor of Maren-"Old Ace," by Brooks; "Pyramus and Thiebe," by Sax, and "Leah the For-saken," by Daly. Her favorite dialect is the Scotch, but she is clever in a number of the dialects. If given an opportunity it is safe to say Miss Walsh will give evidence of true genius. She is lucky in being accepted by Mr. Daly, who puts on nothing but the legitmate and whose leading star is Miss Ada Reban.

HE HAS TWO REASONS.

H. Burns Decimes Democratic Nomination for Congress-Writes a Characteristic Letter.

In a letter that will go down in history as the most novel thing in the political literature of these parts, Ira H. Burns yesterday formally declined the congressional nomination tendered him by the recent Democratic convention during his absence and without any solicitation, expectation or knowledge on his part.

This is Mr. Burn's letter of declina-

Scranton, Sept. 1, 1838. F. J. Fitzsimmons, Esq. Dear Sir:-On my return from a brief summer outing I noticed certain news-paper charges to the effect that I had been nominated for congress by the Democratic convention during my absence. Upon investigation these charges appear to have been well founded, but the convention having died, and no adminis-trator having been appointed, there seems to be no proper official method of putting an affirmance or denial on the record. It does not even appear that it is the duty of any one to notify the intended victim of the fate in store for him. The framers of our rules evidently pever contemplated the possibility of a candidate declining a nomination. I take this early opportunity, however, to address you as the sole official survivor of the late convention, trusting that you will take such steps as may be necessary to prevent, if possible,

While I highly appreciate the compliwhile I highly appreciate the compli-ment of an unsolicited and unexpected nomination, there are two obstacles in the way of my acceptance: First, the danger of being elected, and, second, the danger of being defeated. In the first case I should be compelled to seriously neglect my practice, which I much prefer to any office whatever, besides incurring hours that sped all too quickly. One in being licked, especially when you give of the exciting and amusing games was a lot of time, labor and funds for the privilege of getting it. Taken altogether, the situation somewhat resembles that described by the colored preacher when he said: "My brethren, there am alternatives were it not for the fact that there are plenty of others equally capable, and with more ambition, youth and energy, to put into the canvass. With a loyal and united Democracy behind him the candidate, whoever he may be, ought to be triumphantly elected, and at the same time he will accumulate a fund of experience and knowledge of human na-ture, probably attainable in no other way in so short a time. My brief experience as a quasi candi-date has not been at all unpleasant. No one has seriously pulled my leg, and, comparatively speaking. I have been kindly treated by the newspapers and the general public. Besides, I have made a large circle of warm friends by numerous promises of garden seeds, agricultural reports and the new bug book as soon as published. It should be understood that my successor takes the office subject to hese encumbrances. With cordial thanks to yourself and associates of the late convention for your spontaneous and unanimous evidence of misplaced affection, I am.

Very truly yours. L. H. Burns. Colonel Fitzsimmons said last even ing that the other Democrazic candidates, Judge Gunster, Dr. Saltry, and Mr. Dunning would meet in the course of a week to select the county committee and the committee would take up the question of filling the vacancy.
