BREAD AND WATER NOT SATISFACTORY

THEY ARE THE CAUSE OF MUCH COMPLAINT.

Colonel Boies and Colonel Ripple Paid a Visit to the Camp-Three Members of Company C Removed to the Hospital-Order Issued by General Gobin with Reference to the Food Supply-Why Bathing in Arrow Creek was Prohibited.

Camp Mende, Middletown, Pa., Sept. 6.-The supply of bread and water still continues unsatisfactory and complaints are numerous.

Colonel H. M. Boies and Colonel Ezra H. Ripple were in camp today and are making arrangements for running an excursion from Scranton to the camp for the benfit of the regiment. The project is likely to succeed and is pleasing to all here.
Privates Hodgins, Axel, Arnold and

Charles Shoemaker, of C. were removed this afternoon to division hospital No. 2. Private Shoemaker is suffering from a sore eye. The other three of fever.

That General Gobin is determined to find out what was wrong with the supply of food and the issuing of rations on our arrival at this camp is evident from the following letter addressed to every regimental comman-

> Headquarters First Division, Second Army Corps, Sept. 3, 1858.

Circular XXX. Numerous complaints have been made to the commanding general of the division relative to the scarcity of rations in several regiments comprising the Divison. It has been alleged that the men have not proper rations since leaving camp Alger. Three day's rations were issued to each com-mand before leaving Camp Alger and the commanding officer of each regiment will at once report to these headquarters if the men of his command were not sucnot the men of his combined.

RATHER SOLEMN DAY.

Sunday was a rather solemn day throughout camp. Energy and activity seemed to have been at low ebb. The heat would be sweltering were it not for the saving breeze which comes from the direction of the Susquehanna. A perfect quiet pervades all-with the exception of an occasional bugle call to vary the monotony, or the sounds of an organ wafted on the free air, rich with divine melody, and sweet with the perfumes of the corn fields and the meadows, clover and peppermint. It is a perfect Sabbath in a country place, and reminds one of the opening lines of the old poem, describing this day and this scene:

How calm the quiet, sweet the rest, That breathes at such a time.

It almost makes the boys homesick even though it is impossible to stand here and not feel free and happy. Commanding officers, appreciating the fact, no doubt, that the men have been hard at work for the past few days and, therefore, ought to have rest and recreation, issued a number of passes, this morning good for Harrisburg, High Springs, Middletown and Hummelstown. As a result the roads and fields were dotted with bluecoats starting off for every point of the compass. Among those who went out were several Catholic members of the division who went beyond the camps in order to go to church. Inside the lines services were held by many of the regi-mental chaplains. Rev. N. F. Stahl, of the Thirteenth, preached to a large audience at half-past ten o'clock in the Y. M. C. A. tent.

The Thirteenth had its first dress parade last evening at 5.30 o'clock in the presence of a large delegation of interested spectators who were visit-ing camp. As the regiment went through the ceremony, it was applauded several times. Colonel Coursen and all the officers of the staff and line were highly pleased with the splendid showing which was made.

WILLIAMS SELECTED.

Sergeant Robert E. Williams, of F, is the happiest man at Camp Meade. Every other regiment here was also represented by a sergeant and all of the candidates for the honored respon-furnish amusement to the boys after the candidates for the honored respon-sible post of corps color bearer had eral soldiery qualities, and in horseback riding in particular. Sergeant Williams was the successful one, having been picked out with little hesitation by Major General Graham himself. He was ordered to report as soon as possible, and according left for corps headquarters this morning early. He will be allowed two horses and be entitled to an orderly. He will accompany General Graham at all great ceremonies, and will carry the flag, or fanion, of the Second Army corps.

Notwithstanding the fact that the boys of the Thirteenth read in this morning's papers that they were not named as one of the regiments to be mustered out, still interest in the pos sibilities of the future increases rather than diminishes. The Twelfth Pennsylvania is detailed for a forty-day tour of provost duty and this causes no end of wonder in the two other regiments of the brigade. They canno quite understand the situation.

THEY DON'T LIKE IT.

The seemingly authoritative statements published in the Philadelphia papers to the effect that the First, Second, Third, Fourth, Sixth and Eighteenth regiments, representing practically the cities of Philadelphia and Pittsburg, would be mustered out of the service, and that the Fifth, Eighth, Ninth, Tenth, Tweifth, Thirteenth, two years, and then we determined to Fourteenth, Fifteenth and Sixteenth try Hood's Sarsaparilla, and from the regiments, which are from all other parts of the state, would be retained for garrison purposes, have produced upon the minds of the Third brigade an impression as strong as it is unfa-To say that the Pennsylvania soldiers here are disappointed and displeased is to put the matter in a very mild light. This is an unfortunate condition of affairs, but there is no doubt as to what the rank and tile feel and think.

Three other things have happened inside of a few days to intensify this feeling and to make the men still further discontented-poor food, insufficiency of water, and the prohibition to swim in the river.

The food question has thus far distinctly falled to adjust itself, or to give satisfaction. Canned corn beef has been too general in its use, and most of the men have become entirely disgusted with it. It is unpalatable, even to a soldier of the Second Army corps -and that is saying much. The issues of potatoes have been few, and the bread is little less than abominable. On this score the Thirteenth has had to stand its share of the disadvantages. The bread with which it has been furnished during the past few days, to put the matter plainly, is heavy, halfbaked and sour. If you put a piece of it in the hot coffee and give it a minute to ferment, it becomes bitter and disgusting to the taste.

NOT FIT TO EAT.

Colonel Coursen saw and tasted some of it this morning and pronounced it "unfit to eat." When it is considered that we are in the midst of an unusually fertile country, rich in everything, almost within sight of the state capital, and that our coming here was expected and supposed to be prepared for, it will not be so hard to understand why the men look with very little tolerance upon this condition of

The inadequacy of the water supply also gives rise to much irritation. It is tantalizing-for, though there is supposed to be water in every direction the men are thirsting with temperature at 110 degrees or 115 degrees on these exposed, treeless slopes. The men had no water with which to wash their cups and plates after breakfast, or even a drop to drink after drills. Nothing could be heard but yells of "Water! Water!" but it was after 10 o'clock before any could be had in camp, and all because there were no water barrels or wagons to be obtained. Verily, a second edition of Camp Thomas, Camp Alger and Camp Wikoff all rolled upon into one is this Camp Meade!

When it was announced last night that there would be no more bathing in the Sweet Arrow creek on account of certain alleged abuses of the privilege, the men were indignant that any one should have been guilty of any act which could result in the loss to all of such an advantage and such a blessing as a daily swim. This statement of the case was given out last night, too late to be investigated as to its truth; but on inquiry today, your corespondent ascertained that the reason why bathing in the creek is prohibited is because the people of Middletown get all their water from that source. All this has given rise to bitter disappointment. The greatest blessing which the men of the Pennsylvania regiments have enjoyed since they left he banks of Lake Conewago, at Mount Gretna, on the 19th of last May was the privilege of bathing in the Sweet

IS AT MIDDLETOWN.

The Second battalion of the Thircenth, under command of Major in and left at 10 o'clock for corps headquarters at Middletown, to which place they were ordered yesterday evening to report. They are to be away ostensibly for twenty days, but, perhaps, may not again return to this place. They may be gone forty days, or till the whole corps moves out of ing and unloading the cars which are switched on the siding, guarding the commissary stores, and doing general provost duty. They brought their tents and equipage, and now the regiment looks rather badly shattered. Those who are here are already feeling half-lost, and would wish that the other battalion were back in camp once more. It is not positively known whether these wishes are reciprocated by the members of Major Wood's ommand, because, when leaving here, they were given to understand that when their work is done, they will be free and be given every opportunity to enjoy themselves, provided they abuse no privileges.

The members of Company B are displeased at the neglect of their former second lieutenant in the National guard. They had ordered a floral design for Private Tubbs, of Taylor, deceased, and had it sent as the tribute f "Company B, Thirteenth regiment, P. V. I."-the initials for "Pennsylvania Volunteer infantry." They were informed that the letters "P. V. I." were omitted. They want it understood that the remembrance was from them, not from old Company B, now in the National guard.

THE Y. M. C. A. TENT.

The "Pennsylvania Young Men's Christian association" tent has been opened once more. It is something which the boys appreciate very much. It is cool and orderly, has a constant He has reported at corps headquarters supply of ice water, magazines and paas the representative of the Thirteenth, pers, pens, ink, writing paper and stamps. There were no company drills yesterday morning, and that part of the morning's exercises stands a good chance of being entirely dispensed with for the reason that, on account of the heavy details for guard, brigade and regimental, for fatigue duty, for street and kitchen police, the companies are reduced almost to skeletons. Today some of the companies could muster only four sets of fours, or thirty-two men out of one hundred and three. The battalion drill was short and Major Stillwell, understanding how busy the men of his command will be kept attending to their other duties, said that every man would be expected to come out with his company, but that the drill would be very short. Yesterday morning it consisted of only t few movements. This gave general satisfaction.

CAMP GOSSIP.

Major Stillwell, of the First battaion, possesses a certain amount of humor about him. Several of the boys went with passes to him this morning, explaining that they wanted to go to church. They asked him to make the time "from 8 a. m. till 8 p. m." With a very significant smile he looked them and quietly remarked: Twelve hours! Pretty long sermon that, don't you think, boys?" No furher remarks.
