MINERS BRING HOME THE GOLD

KLONDIKERS RETURN BEARING HALF A MILLION.

A Chicago Man's Tragic Death-Shot Himself After Surviving Many Perils of the Trail-Tale of His Party's Hardships on the Journey From Ashcroft, B. C., to the Klondike.

Seattle, Wash., Sept. 12 .-- The steamship Rosalle has arrived here from gress.' Thus we are left no provision Skaguay, Alaska, with sixty passen- by which we can reward the order of gers from Dawson, who brought out about half a million dollars in gold like your own commodore, Howison dust and drafts. William Stanley, of and the men away at different points this city, had about $160,000 in drafts. 800 pounds of gold on which they were issued was shipped down the river to St. Michael.

G. E. Richardson, of Chicago, killed himself with a revolver at Telegraph Creek, on the Stickeen river route to the Klondike, on Aug. 31. He had just completed a perilous trip from Ashcroft, B. C., in company with four other young men from Chicago and the party had narrowly escaped starving to death on the latter part of the trip. He was exhausted from traveling without food and found that he had arrived at Telegraph Creek too late to go to the mines. Additional discouragement in the losing of several horses, it is said, decided him and he carried out his idea of self-execution. On the day of the tragedy he had remained in camp with R. T. Stone, a Chicago newspaper man, to look for the missing horses, while the other men of the party went to a new camp near Glenora. He complained of being ill and Stone left him at the camp. On returning several hours later he saw nothing of his partner. He noticed that the packs had been opened and on going into the tent saw Richardson stretched out on the hed with the story of his ended life plainly told by a gaping wound in the side of the head.

The story of the terrible trip is told by Mr. Stone as follows: "We left Ashcroft full of hope, and with every prospect of success in April. There were five of us: G. E. Richardson, Harry W. Jones, R. H. Matthews, Samuel T. Shaw and myself, all of Chicago. We had twenty horses and a big outfit. We were assured that the trip to Telegraph Creek would take only sixty days and that there was plenty of food for our horses.

CARIBOO ROAD.

"We followed the Cariboo wagon road for a short distance and then went along the Fraser river to Quesnells so that we might have food for our horses. After leaving that point our trouble began. It rained and the trail was soon in a terrible condition. There was a band of 500 cattle on the road before us and they chopped up the road. In a few days we lost twelve horses.

"They told us that from Hazleton to Telegraph Creek the distance was 200 miles, and we took provisions for that distance. We found the distance was really over 400 miles, and consequently nearly starved to death before the end of the trip. For two weeks before reaching Telegraph Creek we had hardly nothing to eat, as we were forced to live on such food as we could gather in the woods.

We turned the horses out to feed, and in the morning could find but three of them. The other boys went on to Glenora, while Richardson and myself remained behind. The morning had no exceptional promotions been "I think it can be so arranged," said Mr. Long, "that these officers to whom opportunities for distinction did not come shall receive their due promotions without loss in point of time through the promotion of others; in other words, to save their numbers." Were not some of the promotions made in a measure independently of you as secretary of the navy?" was asked.

"Oh, no, we had to make them. Besides, the men so honored deserved promotion. They had earned it. Not only that, but the law allows us to make ntation. promotions or give rewards in only three ways: For 'eminent and conspicuous conduct in battle, for extraordinary heroism and by the thanks of conour bureaus, the men in our yards, from the scene of conflict, but whose work is just as faithfully done and is just as important in its way, as that of any of the fighting officers."

Secretary Long also said that he rec ognized that many of the men in the service feel very deeply the position in which they have been placed by some of the promotions.

CITY OF TENTS.

Inhabitants of New Westminster Sleep Under Canvas.

Vancouver, B. C., Sept. 12 .-- At New Westminster today, on a wide open space just beyond where the great fire ations. of yesterday stopped, a city of tents has arisen. Here the provincial government and Vancouver authorities have housed in tents lent them by the military department, all homeless sufferers. Blankets by hundreds formed bods and the burned out families seem o be as comfortable as possible under the circumstances. There was no panic in the crowds of burned out and lesolate people. A number of robberies took place during the fire. Johnson's boot store was entered while some of the stock was being taken out and about $6,000 worth of goods stolen. The chief of police believes that the fire was started by a spark from a steamer which ignited on Brackman P. Kerr's wharf. Already many merhaats are starting to build stores and renew business.

The Canadian Pacific railway station and baggage room burned but everything of value was saved.

THE MARKETS.

Wall Street Review.

New York, Sept. 12 .- There was a con invation of apparently urginent liquidation on the Stock exchange this morn ing which speedily wined out the recovries of Saturday, which were caused y covering of shorts, and carried prices sharply below the lowest level of hist Friday for nearly all standard stocks. But the pressure of liquidation seemed to e relieved by noon and there was a disition to pick up stocks quietly and to accord support to weak spots, notably St. Paul. The dealing in odd lots in some of the standard dividend payers also beame quite a feature, indicating a supply iey for investment, rotwithstanding he stiffness of the local call money may et. Weakness in some of the industrial socialties caused the narket to case off gain before the close, but last prices the railroads were in many cases at harp recoveries from the lowest. The otal sales were 379,800 shares that we were to join the other boys Richardson seemed particularly despondent. He had often talked of suicide, but we did not think he would take his own life. "When I returned from a last search after the missing horses I noticed the camp was somewhat disordered. On looking closer I found Richardson rolled up in a blanket. In his head was a gaping hole from a revolver. The weapon was still in his hand. He had killed himself shortly after I left camp. Richardson was 22 years of age. His parents live in Battle Creek, Mich. The body was buried at Glenora, and I am taking his effects back to his people in Michigan. "The other boys in the party decided to go on, and are now working their way into the mountains of far north eastern British Columbia." Stone says that their party is one of the first ones to get through, and thinks some of the others will perish on the trail.
