Kingston, the capital of St. Vincent, is totally destroyed. It is estimated COLUMBIA-MONTOUR CASE. that 300 lives have been lost in that island, and that 20,000 people are homeless. The bodies of the dead are being buried in trenches. Thousands are starving and being fed at the government's expense. The amount of property destroyed in St. Vincent cannot yet be estimated. Every small house is down, and many large ones have been destroyed. The demolished buildings include churches, stores and almost all the estate buildings. Three large ships are ashore on the Windward coast and many smaller vessels are stranded.

Sampson and General Garcia the plan of campaign was outlined by General Shafter. The disembarkation was to commence on the 22d at Daiguiri, with feints by the Cubans on Cabanas, and by the navy at various shore points, in order to mislead the enemy as to the place of landing.

Of the early operations, and the skirmish in which the Rough Riders participated, the report says:

"General Young's brigade passed be yond Lawton on the nights of the 23rd and 24th, thus taking the advance, and on the morning of the latter date became engaged with a Spanish force intrenched in a strong position at La Guasima, a point on the Santiago road three miles from Siboney, General Young's force consisted of one squadron of the First cavalry, one of th Tenth cavaly, and two of the First United States volunteer cavalry, in all 964 officers and men. The enemy made an obstinate resistance but were driven from the field with considerable loss. Our loss was one officer and fifteen men killed; six officers and forty men wounded. The reported losses of the Spaniards were nine killed and twentyseven wounded. The engagement had an inspiring effect upon our men and, doubtless correspondingly, depressed the enemy, as it was now plainly demonstrated to them that they had a foe to meet who would advance upon them under a heavy fire delivered from intrenchments, General Wheeler, division commander, was present during the engagement and reports that our troops, officers and men, fought with greatest gallantry. This engagement gave us a well watered country farther to the front on which to en camp our troops."

AS TO SUPPLIES.

The report continues: "It was not un til nearly two weeks after the army landed that it was possible to place on shore three days supplies in excess of those required for the daily consumption.

"On June 30, I reconnoitered the country about Santiago and made my plan of attack. From a high hill, from which the city was in plain view. could see the San Juan hill and the country about El Caney. The roads were very poor and indeed little better paths until the San Juan than bridle river and El Caney were reached." General Shafter then gives a detailed account of the battles at these places. In this connection he says:

"The preparations were far from what I desired them to be be, but we were in a sickly climate, our supplies had to be brought forward by a narrow road which the rain might at any time render impassable, fear was entertained that a storm might drive the vessels containing our stores to sea, thus separating us from our base of supplies, and lastly it was reported that General Pando, with 8,000 reinforcements for the enemy, was enroute from Manzanille and might be exepected in a few days. Under these conditions I determined to give battle without delay." General Shafter warmly praises the gallantry of officers and men in both engagements and adds:

'My own health was impaired by over exertion in the sun and intense heat of the day before which prevented me from participating as actively in the battle as I desired, but from a high hill near my headquarters I had general view of the battlefield, ex. Friedrich (from Bremen) New York.

The resignation was a great surprise to the leaders of the gold Democratic party. A resolution adopted by the meeting stopping the salaries of all officers is said to be the real cause of Mr. Bynum's resignation. Treasurer Frenzel, of Indianapolis, reported that when the campaign of 1896 ended there was $33,000 in the treasury of the national Democracy, Since that time $23,000 has been expended. There was $1,500 which could be had 'when necessary from uncollected subscriptions. Mr. Bynum had received $8,200 as salary, while $60 was credited to personal expenses.
