No New Developments-The Police Maintain Secrecy.

Bridgeport, Sept. 20 .- Official action today in the Yellow Mill Pond murder mystery has thus far been so covered as to render it impossible to announce any new developments of importance. Superintendent of Police Birmingham was back in his office at an early hour and remained at his desk during the forenoon. He had an early conference with the detectives, who immediately after left and renewed the work on which they have been engaged for eight days.

The only event which caused speculation about headquarters was the arrival about ten o'clock of two strangers, who were permitted by the police to examine critically the pieces of rubber cloth and wearing apparel which were found with the body of the victim.

Nothing further has been heard from New Haven and Meriden so far today with reference to the clues that are being investigated in those places.
