SCRANTON, SEPTEMBER 26, 1898.

REPUBLICAN NOMINATIONS.

STATE.

Governor—WILLIAM A. STONE. Lieutenant Governor—J. P. S. JOBIN. Secretary of Internal Affairs—JAMES W. LATTI.

COUNTY.

Congress—WILLIAM CONNELL. Judge—F. W. GUNSTER. Coroner—JOHN J. ROBERTS. M. D. Surveyor—GEORGE E. STEVENSON.

LEGISLATIVE.

Senate.

Twentieth Dist.—JAMES C. VAUGHAN. House.

First District—JOHN R. FARR. Second District—JOHN SCHUBERT, JR. Third District—N. C. MACKAY. Fourth District—JOHN F. REYNOLDS.

COLONEL STONE'S PLATFORM.

It will be my purpose when elected to so conduct myself as to win the respect and good will of those who have opposed me as well as those who have given me their support. I shall be the governor of the whole people of the state.

A new charge has been filed at Senator Quay in the assertion that he sometimes takes steps to knock down a factional opponent.

An Insufficient Disclaimer.

We are told by the apologetic Harburg Commonwealth that Dr. Swallow is "not responsible" for the salacious scandal mongering perpetrated in his behalf by emissaries of the New York Voice.

Locating the Chief Fault.

The Engineering News of Sept. 22 reviews with ability the administration of the war and reaches some conclusions which are rational and timely.

Praise and Blame.

From the Philadelphia Press. The war with Spain for rapidly and for the most part has never been equaled since war began upon the earth.

Why Hard Work is Required.

A political note in the esteemed Philadelphia Press remarks: "The importance of giving careful attention to the election of congressmen in the several close districts of the state is beginning to receive attention."

er in fomenting party rebellion, advocating fusion of Independents, Prohibitionists and Democrats against the Republican legislative nominees and using all its opportunities to backstab the Republican nominee for governor.

The recent story that Gomez resigned in a huff turns out to have been a fake, pure and simple. On the contrary, Gomez has issued an order putting every Cuban under his command subject to American orders, either for disbandment or use alongside American troops for garrison duty as our government shall elect.

Stone's Answer to Swallow.

By far the most sensible piece of literature which this campaign has furnished is that contributed by Colonel Stone in reply to Dr. Swallow's impudently challenge to debate a series of questions.

Contrasted.

Unlike Hon. John Wanamaker in this state, Governor Frank S. Black of New York, does not propose to begin a campaign of vengeance if he shall be defeated in his present ambition for a renomination.

Good Advice is Being Given by General Garcia to his Countrymen at Santiago.

The war is over, he tells them, and Cubans everywhere should forget its animosities and go to work. There is something peculiarly dignified and noble in the bearing of this grand old man, whose entire manhood has been passed in battling for his country's liberation, and whose ability and fine character are rapidly forcing recognition in spite of misunderstandings and detractions.

If it was Quartermaster Lee who at Camp Thomas refused to honor General Wiley's requisitions for boilers in which to boil camp drinking water after the war department had ordered all drinking water to be boiled then Quartermaster Lee is a good subject for punishment, and General Ludington, his superior, should see that he is promptly and emphatically administered.

The Wilkes-Barre Record says it was this Lee who refused permission to Colonel Dougherty and Dr. Weaver of the Ninth regiment to use Company D's mess tent as an additional hospital.

Republicanism: Its Glory and Destiny.

From a Speech by Hon. John W. Griggs, Attorney General of the United States. IT HAS been the happy fortune of the Republican party to be found naturally and spontaneously in harmony with the demands of our patriotic nationalism in every great crisis.

these boxes whenever householders, at their own expense, purchase and place them in suitable position. Every family can, if it chooses, have its own post-office at its own door.

In a letter to the Independent or Citizens' Union party who recently nominated him for governor, Colonel Roosevelt declines the honor on the ground that as a Republican believing in Republican principles and policies and as a possible Republican nominee for governor he could not in good faith permit his name to head an anti-Republican ticket.

"After the Republican state convention is over," he says, "we shall all take off our coats and go to work for the candidate who is nominated for governor, no matter who he is. We are Republicans, and we stand by our party under all circumstances. I certainly shall do all in my power to elect Colonel Roosevelt if he should happen to be the Republican candidate for governor, by speaking and working for him, and I have no doubt he would receive the nomination."

can liberty points to a future pregnant with prodigious good to all mankind; to fresh fields for the extension of American trade and commerce—new openings for the investment of American capital; like scope for the active energies of American young men—to more frequent glimpses of the American flag to voyagers over the oceans, merchant shipping multiplied manifold in the harbors of the world; with a navy large enough and strong enough to enforce our just demands and the rights of American citizens as promptly and as efficiently as Dewey enforced the views of the government in Manila Bay; an army large enough to serve the reasonable requirements of seventy millions of people without putting the administration to the risk of quick and terrible disaster in case of sudden war; the maintenance of our foreign diplomatic service upon a footing commensurate with our power and importance, so that it will no longer be necessary to seek for ambassadors and ministers among those who are blessed with private income sufficient to maintain a proper establishment abroad without regard to the salary attached to the office.

These new duties and new relations will add fresh dignity to American citizenship; will raise the sense of official and political obligation as they increase responsibility. They will take the people out of the treadmill rounds of domestic politics—where issues are too often artificial and transient. New thoughts, new questions, new fields, fresh hopes, broader views, wider influence—all these will come, as well as troubles and disappointments, and temporary failures and discouragements, which will but serve to call forth renewed energy and effort until they are overcome.

This has been a year unequalled for progress and achievement. The heart of man has not fashioned nor his eye foreseen the work that has been wrought. Call it fate, the progress of events, Providence, God, what you will—it has been a leading upward and on, the drawing forward by irresistible impulses of this people to a place at the front of the world.

And how we have been blessed already! All the old roots of bitterness between North and South have been severed, and years of political effort could not do was done in a moment when our standards were set toward a foreign foe, and the consummation of our Republic's present refused to make any distinction between Federal and Confederate, but put Lee and Wheeler side by side with Grant and Sherman, "Yanks" and "Johnnies" all keeping step together to the music of the Union. Stout old John Adams, standing in the royal presence, the first created of the new republic to the mother country, speaking like the noble gentleman, and wise statesman that he was, said to King George: "I shall be the happiest of men if I can be instrumental in restoring an entire esteem, confidence, and affection, or, in better words, the old good name of the people who have made me language, a similar religion, and kindred blood."
