

ROOSEVELT NOMINATED AT SARATOGA

lay by crying for the vote. He spoke briefly.

Ellihu Root, who had not been substituted as a delegate in the convention, was called to the platform by the chairman and made a statement as to the eligibility of Mr. Roosevelt to hold office. He said that Mr. Roosevelt had already voted in Oyster Bay and had merely removed personal property to Washington. He had always paid taxes in Oyster Bay and had merely refused to pay taxes on property he was using in Washington, and by his affidavit he merely said that he was not a resident of New York. He read a letter from Mr. Roosevelt saying that he paid his tax in Oyster Bay and that he should not be asked to pay it in New York also. The statement indicated that he had no domicile in New York city and that he was residing in Washington, but it did not say that he did not reside in Oyster Bay. It was a settled fact in law that a man could have two residences, and that was especially true in the case of a Washington office holder and the courts had so declared.

Mr. Root's statement was told in the delivery style of a legal opinion.

At 7:15 Secretary of State Palmer moved a roll call and the motion was adopted. When the calling began there was applause at every vote, but soon the anxiety to have the result soon accomplished prevailed and the roll was called with rapidity. Mr. Roosevelt had a practical walk-over and at 7:36 enough of votes had been cast to nominate him.

RESULT OF THE VOTE.

At 7:41 the roll call was completed and the vote was announced as follows: Roosevelt, 753; Black, 215. Then the auditors and the delegates rose in a great mass and cheered. Judge Cady got the floor and moved the unanimous nomination. While the question was pending Senator Krum, who had supported Governor Black and his friends, I say that they will stand by Theodore Roosevelt as he stood by the country.

The nomination was made unanimous, and at 7:46 the convention stood in recess until 9 o'clock.

The delegates did not return to the hall punctually and the night session was not called to order until 9:45 o'clock.

The chairman announced that the platform was ready and General Woodford read it. The reading was frequently interrupted with applause, and when the reading was finished the platform was adopted unanimously.

THE PLATFORM.

After congratulating the country and the national administration on the outcome of the war, the platform opposes the return of the Philippines to Spain and commends the annexation of Hawaii. It then renews allegiance to the St. Louis platform, and continuing says:

Our next legislature will elect another United States senator from this state. Democratic leaders declare that they will conduct the campaign upon state issues alone. But it is known that if the Democratic party secures the state legislature it will re-elect to the United States senate that Democratic who represents this party there and misrepresents the state. That senator supported the cause of free silver; supported the nominees of the Chicago convention in the last presidential election; gave his vote in the senate for the heresies of that Chicago platform and must, if re-elected, continue to support the members of congress and of Republican state legislature will mean that New York shall stand for the maintenance of the gold standard and for a revision of the currency laws as will guarantee to the labor of the country that every paid promise to pay a dollar, issued under the authority of the United States, shall be of absolute and equal value with a gold dollar always and everywhere.

The Republican party is fulfilling their pledges made at St. Louis: We have enacted a conservative protective tariff, for wisely devised, to protect the masses sufficient to pay the ordinary expenses of government in times of peace, while capital is encouraged to seek employment and the wages of labor are maintained at that high standard, which experience has proved to be necessary to the welfare of our people. Our exports rarely exceed our imports, and the world comes steadily to our shores and with a continuance of Republican policy and Republican national administration the prosperous future of the nation is assured.

The platform concludes with a detailed recital of the reforms and improvements made in New York under Republican rule.

TAMMANY AT SYRACUSE.

Crocker and His Followers Prepare for Business.

Syracuse, N. Y., Sept. 27.—The arrival of the Tammany hall delegation late this afternoon, with Richard Crocker at its head, was the event of the day here, and about it all the convention news centers.

It was announced by the leaders as they went to dinner that none of the many candidates for the gubernatorial nomination had been decided upon for their support, and that the selection of the man to head the ticket was still an open question. They admitted individually that the entire subject of the selection of the most available man had been under full and free discussion, and while Mr. Crocker said that the decision would be the spontaneous act of the convention, it was declared that another meeting of the leaders would be held tomorrow morning previous to the calling of the convention.

After the conference had closed a meeting of the state committee was held, at which the details for the organization and operation of the convention was decided upon.

The committee did not, however, decide upon any programme as to the platform as it might relate to the money plank of the Chicago national platform.

The Massachusetts meeting of Chicago platform Democrats at Albany tonight was attended by about 5,000 people, who manifested a hearty approval of the sentiments expressed by the speakers. These were in effect

THE FAVORITES OF TIME.

How the Matron Preserves Her Maiden Beauty.

Has old Father Time his favorites? It would seem so. Two young girls, sisters or schoolmates, assume the responsibilities of wedlock at the same time. They are equally young, equally fair. They walk in even step with Time for a few years, and then they are so different in appearance that they might pass for mother and daughter instead of women of equal age.

As a matter of fact Time has his favorites; he is kind to those who are kind to themselves. The younger looking woman will tell you she does not know how it is that she keeps her youth and fairness, she uses no cosmetic, no powder, no paint. The woman who looks so much older, she says, "I'm obliged to use paint and powder. I have to cover up my yellow skin and hide those wrinkles." If you probe a little deeper into the secrets of these women, you will find that the youthful one has learned the best cosmetics for health, and that there can be no general health for the body which is hourly undermined by the local ill-health of the delicate female organs. Knowing this she has taken prompt means to cure the disease, drain the body of long-down pains, which to a greater or less extent affected most women who experience the tremendous change which by marriage and motherhood is wrought on the distinctly feminine organs.

The older appearing woman will tell you the common story of constant and useless doctoring for backache, for female weakness, for debilitating drains. Inflammation, like a fire burns up her strength. She is like a candle saps her vitality. Nature cannot make a bright eye and a pure complexion without rich, pure blood. This woman's blood flows sluggishly along the canals of the body, like some oily, slimy current, whose surface barely keeps it from utter stagnation.

Beauty is every woman's birthright. A healthy woman is always beautiful. This secret of health and beauty for every woman lies in the recognition of the plain fact that there are local diseases of the organs distinctive to feminine, there can be no health and beauty while these debilitating, life-sapping ailments continue.

"But," comes the natural question, "how these ailments be cured? It is no wonder women ask the question. The failures of ordinary practitioners. Hundreds of thousands of such cases have in the past thirty years been referred to Dr. R. V. Pierce, chief consulting physician of the Buffalo Hotel and Surgical Institute, Buffalo, N. Y., and although the majority are chronic cases aggravated by injudicious and ignorant treatment, yet the great record stands that of thousands of such suffering women ninety-eight out of every hundred have been entirely cured. The two in every hundred whose cases could not be cured, have received alleviation and help which made them lastingly grateful. These cures have in the main been effected by the use of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. This great medicine is the specific of a specialist who has given over thirty years of his life to the study and cure of female diseases. Its effect upon the delicate female organs is most marked. It drives up the quench of inflammation as heaven's rain quenches the fearful forest fire. It heals ulcerations as gently and as surely as time heals the wounded spirit. It restores every day and all day and every night and all night, its drives up disagreeable drains. It imparts vitality and elasticity to the organs of motherhood, so that baby enters the world easily and gently as the sunbeam resembles. It establishes the general health of the woman, her birthright; the lithesome form, the laughing face, the loving heart, the lustrous eyes of healthy, happy womanhood.

"I feel it a duty to inform you that I had been a sufferer for many years from nervousness with all its attendant complications," writes Mrs. O. N. Fisher, 1861 Lexington Avenue, New York, N. Y. "I was constantly going to see a physician or purchasing medicine for his theories, but my troubles became unbearable. In the spring of 1887 my husband induced me to try Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. After taking one bottle and following your advice I was so encouraged that I took five more bottles of 'Favorite Prescription' and then I did not take any more for several weeks as I felt so much better, but still I was not completely cured. I commenced taking it again and felt that I was improving faster than at first. I am not now cross and irritable, and I have a good color in my face; have also gained about ten pounds in weight and one thousand pounds of comfort, for I am a new woman once more and your advice and your 'Favorite Prescription' are the causes of it, coupled with your 'Pleasant Pellets' which are not to be dispensed with. I took eight bottles of the 'Prescription' the last time, making fourteen in all, and will not take any more unless you so advise, for I do not see as I need it. I have often told my friends how I was cured, and have been no little surprised to learn how many of them have also used Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription with great benefit. I have induced several to try it and have heard that they were much pleased with the result."

The record of such cures is unimpeachable, as is the fact that they have been enjoyed by ninety-eight per cent. of the women who have tried Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. Any sick or ailing woman can consult Dr.

BOLD BANK ROBBERY.

Building at Frankfort Destroyed by Dynamite—The Cashier Shot.

Frankfort, Ind., Sept. 27.—The boldness of the most successful bank robberies that ever occurred in this section of the state was perpetrated at Frankfort, a small town ten miles north of this city, at three o'clock this morning. The bank is a private corporation with William Lannum acting as cashier. At the hour named he was awakened by the noise of a terrific explosion which shattered the windows in his residence, fifty yards from the bank. Getting up and going to the bank, which was a large building, he found the entire building demolished. As he started inside he was fired upon by some unknown party with a shot gun, the charge taking effect in the face and blowing out one eye. The noise of the explosion aroused the town and a great crowd collected. It was soon learned that the bank safe had been blown to pieces with dynamite, pieces of it having been blown across the street. The robbers secured between $12,000 and $15,000.

Cashier Lannum probably will die. The robbers made their escape upon a hand car, which they left at Sedalia, five miles north of here. The whole country is aroused and the robbers will hardly escape.

Indianapolis, Ind., Sept. 27.—Out of a mass of rumors regarding the capture of the robbers who raided the bank at Frankfort, the most reliable is that only one man has been arrested, and he is in the county jail at Delphi. A dispatch from Delphi says there is no clue positively to the criminals yet, except that furnished by this one man and that is to the effect that he had on his person two watches and $250. Intense excitement prevails throughout Carroll county more because of the shooting of the cashier than of the robbery, and the guilty parties would probably be lynched if caught. The Delphi dispatch says that the amount of money taken was from $5,000 to $10,000, $5,000 at least was in gold, and that the wounds inflicted upon Cashier Lannum, while severe, are not considered fatal. All the earlier reports about his condition were greatly exaggerated.

Another dispatch says that the desperadoes were surrounded in a cornfield and woods near Woodville, Carroll county, and still another dispatch says that part of the gang was captured with all of the stolen money.

IS THIS DR. GUILFORD?

Arrest of a Woman on Her Arrival at Liverpool.

Liverpool, Sept. 27.—It is reported this evening that on the arrival of the steamer Vancouver here from Montreal early this morning, a woman passenger was arrested on the charge of murder. It is said she has been under surveillance since the steamer left Montreal.

It has been reported in New York that the woman known as Dr. Nancy Guilford, of Bridgeport, Conn., has been arrested in Liverpool charged with being concerned in the murder of Emma Gill, of Southington, Conn., whose body cut into several pieces, was found some time ago in the Yellow Mill pond near Bridgeport, Conn.

Dr. Guilford was arrested on the morning of the steamer's arrival here, and the landing of her passengers followed a woman who came ashore. The officers maintain the greatest secrecy regarding this person, refusing to give her name or to discuss the case, beyond saying that she is suspected of having committed a murder in Canada.

The woman boarded a train for London, Inspector Lamoine following her in the next compartment with instructions to arrest her if she went to a house, which the Canadian police had informed the English authorities would probably be the destination of the murderer.

Stamford, Conn., Sept. 27.—State's Attorney Fessenden, immediately on learning of the mysterious arrest of Dr. Guilford in London, communicated with Governor Cooke, and upon his request the governor asked the state department at Washington to have the United States embassy at London arrange for the provisional arrest of the woman until the requisition papers could reach here. Mr. Fessenden said he has since learned that the state department had cabied London as requested.

"Doc" Payne Has Recovered.

Philadelphia, Sept. 27.—"Doc" Payne, the pugilist, who was injured in his fight with Joe Butler at the hotel last night, has completely recovered and left the hospital today. Jack McDonald and "Kid" Howard, seconds of the two fighters, have given up the fight and are being discharged and the charge of aiding and abetting a prize fight.

Colonel Bryan Ill.

Lincoln, Neb., Sept. 27.—Mrs. William Jennings Bryan received a telegram today calling her to the bedside of her husband, Colonel Bryan, who is sick in Washington. The message received by Mrs. Bryan gave no hint as to the nature or seriousness of the col-nel's illness. She departed for Washington this evening.

Pierce by letter without charge. By this method there is no subjecting of the patient to embarrassing questions, offensive examinations, and obnoxious local treatments which frighten so many modest women away from the door of help. You can write freely, frankly, fully, keeping nothing in reserve, because your letter will be read in private and all its confidences will be held sacred. You can write without fee as without fear.

There is no alcohol, whiskey or other stimulant in Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. It is equally free from opium and all narcotic drugs, and preserves its virtues in any climate without the aid of syrup or sugar.

The cure of Mrs. Fisher was accomplished by the use of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. Her cure is but the type of hundreds of thousands. If you want a like cure you'll find it in "Favorite Prescription" only and not in a substitute. If you want a cure you don't want a substitute. You should make any substituting dealer see that you see it.

A keen observer of human nature recently said: "I mistrust the druggist who endeavors to dissuade me from buying the medicine I had in mind on entering his store. My fear is that he may change my doctor's prescription to make it better suit his convenience and selfish interests." The moral is, patronize the dealer who respects your judgment and gives you exactly what you call for.

Those who use Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets find them superior to all other pills in their action upon the stomach, liver and bowels. They should always be taken, when indicated, with the "Favorite Prescription" as they harmonize with it and promote its operation.

One of the biggest books of the day is Dr. Pierce's Great Work, "The People's Common Sense Medical Adviser." It is big not only in bulk with its 1,000 pages and over 700 illustrations, but it discusses the big things of life in a big, broad way, and in the plainest English. What so very few people know, and what every person ought to know, is gathered in the volume. It deals with the stupendous questions of the origin of life, its propagation and perpetuation by man and woman. It also deals with the hurts, injuries and ailments of the body, and points out the proper manner of their cure. The Scrapbook receipt of stamps to cover the cost of mailing only. WEST NICHOLSON FIRE.

The Store of Stark & Doyle Is Destroyed—Heroic Work of Bucket Brigade.

Special to the Scranton Tribune.

West Nicholson, Sept. 27.—The inhabitants of the picturesque hamlet of West Nicholson were aroused last night by an alarm of fire, the scene being the store of Messrs. Stark and Doyle. The cause of the fire seems to have been the accidental overturning of an oil lamp in one of the lower rooms of the store. Help was promptly forthcoming, the neighbors being notified by the agency of Mr. Riker's bell. The fire was extinguished in a vigorous manner as when employing it for its more legitimate and peaceful purpose. West Nicholson is not quite so well equipped as New York or Chicago in the matter of fire engines (steam, chemical or otherwise), and the only available source of water supply is a chain pump, which, however, admirable a contrivance for meeting the needs of the thirsty wayfarer, is rather inadequate on such an occasion as the present.

It being evident then that very little could be done in the way of subduing the fire, attention was turned to the adjacent dwelling house of Mr. Doyle with a view to saving some of the furniture. The inmates having been brought out, the proprietor, assisted by neighbors and by Mr. Lewis and other friends of Mr. Riker, who lives just opposite—not to mention the heroic efforts of that gentleman himself—were able to save many things, being forced eventually by the fire to beat a retreat.

In this connection may be mentioned the conspicuous bravery of Miss Eva Wagner, she going into the cellar after the staircase was on fire and bringing out several articles. The buildings being of wood were rapidly consumed.

A touching incident was the death of a valuable hound of Mr. Stark's. He refused to be driven from the building that formed his home and, bravely met his end on the porch, where his remains now lie.

The store was also the local post-office. The rack containing the mail was gallantly rescued amid considerable heat and danger by Messrs. Stark, Doyle and two others. The writer (a foreigner and therefore unbiased) considers that Uncle Sam is to be congratulated on having men of such caliber to entrust the care of his mails to. Their devotion to their charge was striking.

Luckily there was little, if any, wind, or the fire might have been more serious. The store and house were entirely consumed. It is believed the damage is to some extent covered by insurance.

There was also unfortunately lost in the fire a valuable model of an ingenious patented device of Messrs. Stark and Doyle, to be used in connection with grain elevators. Happily, however, the papers connected therewith were at Mr. Stark's private residence.

INDUSTRIAL NOTES.

Little attention is ever paid to the travelling public to the small details which go to perfect the traffic of a model street railway system and if one were to be invited to the repair shops of such a plant a pleasant surprise would be the result. The Scranton Street Railway company's main repair shops are located in the big brick building on Linden street and there at different times small wonders are worked. For instance, the question of fenders was a vexed one to begin with after an adoption of a style to the repairing, etc., only seemed to add to the burden. Now things are as smooth as perfect arrangements and a competent manager in the person of Master Mechanic Mullen can make them. The fender adopted was of the Rogers type, a Philadelphia man. The right to repair these fenders was retained by the railway company. This soon entailed a heavy expense both for material and labor. Now as each fender needs repairing instead of a heavy basket-work center of grill iron, a substitute of first quality marine three strand rope is used. The difference in cost is about $6 and in weight about 25 pounds. No durability or strength is sacrificed either. After the rope work was put in it had to be painted with a tar preservative preparation. Originally a man and a brush did this. Foreman Mullen had a tank built and now the fender is dipped. Hours of work is lessened to minutes. Another improvement was the substitution of electric headlights for the awkward oil affairs. Once, long ago, these electric lights were tried on top of the car, just over the vestibule-hood. Of course no satisfaction resulted and the idea was abandoned. A few months ago, the light was placed down where the oil headlight hung and success resulted. Work for the street car employees, oil and labor were saved all around. Considerable difficulty was found in handling the plumbers' soldering iron, especially in small and not easily approached places when the iron had to be kept hot. Foreman Mullen overcame this difficulty by patenting an electric soldering iron which works on the basis of an arc lamp so far as heating is concerned. The aluminum tip is heated by the broken circuit of a direct current which is carried through a specially arranged handle. Other like things, which tend to make a busy repair shop perfect in arrangement, might be mentioned but for obvious reasons. Probably the next improvement on cars will be the long-looked for and much-needed illuminated signs, indicating the line. It is possible that the first signs of this kind will be seen within a few days.

The final act which denoted that in all probability no coal will ever be hoisted from the Oxford shaft, was carried out last week. Several hundred loaded cars which stood on the main track ready to be hoisted the morning that the breaker was destroyed, were taken out by the way of underground connections into the Hyde Park mine workings. They were hoisted, this shaft, and the coal was run through the breaker. The cars will be distributed about the other Delaware, Lackawanna and Western company's mines as needed.

SENATOR QUAY'S STRENGTH.

Will Have More Votes from Philadelphia Than Penrose Had.

Pittsburg, Sept. 27.—Parker L. Walker, a member-at-large of the Republican state committee, arrived here from the East today.

He says Senator Quay will have seven more representatives from Philadelphia in the next legislature than Senator Penrose did.

William Stroh Nominated.

Stroudsburg, Pa., Sept. 25.—William H. Stroh, a prominent business man of Mauch Chunk, was this afternoon nominated as the Republican candidate for state senator in the Twenty-second Pennsylvania district. The conference was harmonious. The candidate is a son of the late Judge Stroh.

Mrs. Belmont Dead.

New York, Sept. 27.—A private dispatch from Paris announces the death three days ago of Mrs. August Belmont. Mrs. Belmont went abroad in poor health accompanied by her husband and son about two months ago and was unable to leave with them, when they returned several weeks ago. She was 55 years old.

Will Be Received by Faure.

Paris, Sept. 27.—President Faure will receive the members of the American and Spanish peace commissions separate tomorrow. In the morning the American commissioners will visit the ground of the Paris exposition of 1900 in company with Ferdinand W. Peck, the American commissioner to the exposition.

A WORK FOR REPUBLICANS.

From the New York Sun.

Aside from the obvious financial and economic reasons for electing a Republican house of representatives this fall, there are two special reasons arising out of the war with Spain. A form of government is to be provided for the annexed territory, for it is hardly probable that the present congress will have time to settle the many questions arising from the passing of the Spanish conquest territory to the United States. The Democratic party as a whole is not heartily in favor of retaining the new acquisitions. It consents to those in the Caribbean, but it is opposed to those in the Pacific. It began by opposing the annexation of Hawaii. It seems almost wholly unaware of the importance of acquiring the Philippines and striving to develop American commerce in the East. To many of the hide-bound belated Bourbon still numbingly about is to the great national patriotic movement for the expansion of the United States seems only a trick of the Robber Barons and the Money Power.

American interests in the east will be served best by the election of a Republican house. There is a strong and able Democratic ministry that agrees with the Republicans as to expansion, but the mass of the Democratic leaders and, apparently, of the Democratic party, have backed and tries to block the wisest of progress.

In spite of the lessons of the war and the extent of territory that has been added or will probably be added to the United States as part of the fruit of that war, Democrats are declining in the old-fashioned buncombe style against the dangers of a striding army and promoting in their platforms to resist the enlargement of the standing army of the United States. A few months ago the same windy citizens were howling against the folly and uselessness of a navy. They don't dare to tackle the navy any longer, but they still retain their unreasonable prejudices against an adequate army. The work of reorganizing the army and making it a little more proportionate to the new demands upon it and to the growth of the country, will not be done by Democrats. They have done something on water, but on land they are still behind the times.
