been turned into the part of the mine where the fire is, but still it has not been subdued and yesterday at a conference of officials and engineers of the Newton Coal Mining company, which operated the ravine colliery, and the Pennsylvania coal company which operates workings connecting with the Ravine, it was decided that the best and quickest way to extinguish the fire would be to flood the mines as soon as proper precautions can be taken to protect the Pennsylvania empany's workings from the water. It was the intention to "plug" the shaft below the big vein and continue to operate that scam while the lower veins are being flooded.

LONG'S FALL OPENING.

Particular Attention Being Directed to Millinery Department.

Several thousand persons yesterday visited the big store of Jonas Long's Sons, and a large part of the throng expressed its satisfaction over the firm's fall opening. While it was a general opening in the sense that all departments had something attractive to offer, the day was distinctive for the special display in the large millinery

Hundreds of observant women were given opportunity to ascertain just will be proper to select for fashionable headgear. They were also given a chance to marvel at the stock, emendous in quantity and variety, which this popular store contains, Some radical changes in styles were apparent. The eye-tilted bat has been relegated to the past; it will now be worn tilted slightly backward, and its trimmings will not display the burned orange color, either, for that is now passed and has given place to the newer and beautiful shades of blue, "military" red, castor and emin-
