of Freedom" was produced before an en-husiastic and highly pleased audience. Heroic Americans, suffering Cubans, treacherous Spaniards, sailors, soldiers, voluntiers, marines, United States warships. Spanish cruisers and a United States consul, all figure in the dramatic events that form the story. There are two love incidents and comedy interpersed with the thrilling adventures and framatic climaxes. The eye and ear are both appealed to, beautiful scenery and costumes are furnished for the former and bright lines and patriotic speeches for the latter. The drama will be seen night and tomorrow afternoon.

Of the Spear Comedy company which will be seen at the Academy of Music all next week the Elmira Advertiser says: 'A packed house greeted the splendid production of 'Faust' by the Spear Comelaborate and beautiful production of Goethe's masterpiece it would be hard to imagine. Mr. Bennett has given the stage scholar, the actor and the master of stage production. The weird atmosphere of the cenic effects are the finest ever seen here any production of 'Faust,' and the electrical surprises were startling, beautiful and complete. Miss Mallen's 'Marguerite' was simple, loving and natural."

BANANA INDUSTRY IN CUBA.

Offers a Chance to Adventuresome Americans to Make Money.

Malcolm McDowell, in Chicago Record, For the benefit of any American who may desire to look into the banana business, with an eye to coming to Earacoa to invest money, I secured the following facts: Good land, suitable in every way for banana culture, can be rented at a nominal price. It can be Bought outright all the way from 50 cents to $50 an acre, depending on loeation. It costs to clear the woods and plant banana roots $1,000 a caballira (about thirty-three acres). This cost includes all the expenses of clear ing, planting, cultivating and harvest-Within fourteen months from the time the clearing begins the fruit is ready for the market. On a caballiro 10,000 banana trees can be planted, but, as not every tree will bear, it is safe to figure on 8,000 bunches for the first yield. First-class bunches will bring on the plantation from 35 to 45 cents each; second-class bunches from 30 to 35 cents. In Baracoa it is the practice to cut down all shoots but thus forcing the single shoot to bear one of the large bunches of long, thick bananas which find ready sale in the United States.

These figures were given me by Se nor Simon, who has thousands of acrea in his plantations. Some idea of the importance of the banana industry in the Baracoa district can be gathered from the fact that there are three cable ways used for bringing the fruit down to the coast from the hills. One of these cable ways is over four miles long and it cost $200,000 to build. It has a capacity of 15,000 bunches bananas a day, bringing them down in lots of twelve bunches at a time.

But the American who has designs on the banana business must bear one thing in mind. The roads, like all Cuban roads, are bad. Most of them are mere trails, over which wheels never have passed, and yet the whole country is full of the best road-making material I ever saw. It would cost but little to build up a system of macadam roads in this district, for labor is cheap and the material is at hand.

amount to about $230,000 per annum. Willow baskets, hampers, chairs, etc. have become a staple industrial article and the demand for them is enormous in fact, it is far greater than the supply. Sawed-wood and split-wood baskets are used largely for shipping fruits, but these can never take the place of the strong, light, and durable villow baskets for many other purposes. Up to the present time the willow-ware industry in America has reeived comparatively little attention, labor being high and the culture of osiers not well understood. Meanwhile immense acres along our rivers, on parts of the seacoast, and on some uplands and prairies not suitable for other agricultural employment, invite a great future before it in the United capital and energy to invest in the States. Experts of the department of growing of willows for basket-making. The soil for basket willows should be subject recently, and they declare that a deep, sandy loam, well drained and fortunes await enterprising persons thoroughly prepared.
