GET FLESH.

Get Strength, Vigor, Clear Complexion and Good Digestion, Not by draws, Brown was defeated in the first Patent Medicine, But in Nature's Own Way.

Any honest physician will tell you that there is but one way to get inreased flesh; all the patent medicines and cod liver oils to the contrary notwithstanding.

Nature has but one way to increase flesh, strength and vigor, mind and body, and that is through the stomach, wholesome food, well digested. There is no reason or common sense in other methods whatever.

People are thin, run down, nervous, pale, and shaky in their nerves simply because their stomachs are weak. They may not think they have dyspepsia, but the fact remains that they do not eat enough food, or what they eat is not quickly and properly digested, as it should be. Dr. Harlandson says the reason is because the stomach lacks certain digestive acids and peptones, and deficent secretion of gastric juice.

Nature's remedy in such cases is to supply what the weak stomach lacks. There are several good preparations which will do this, but none so readily as Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets, which are designed especially for all stomach troubles, and which cure all digestive veakness on the common sense plan of furnishing the digestive principles which the stomach lacks. Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets give perfect digestion. First effect is to inrease the appetite and increased vigor, added flesh, pure blood and strength of nerve and muscle is the perfectly natural result. Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets is the safest tonic known and will cure any evening. The meeting will be called form of stomach trouble except cancer at 7.30 o'clock. JERMYN AND MAYFIELD. The school board held a special session Monday evening to decide whether or not they would have a term of night school. The night school last year was not a success because the parents of children appeared to have no interest whatever in their children and there was not enough scholars to pay for keeping the school open. was decided, however, to try again this winter and if parents will see to it that their children attend the school will be kept open, but if the people prefer to have their boys and girls out on the streets evenings the schools will be discontinued. The school board will have the satisfaction of having done their duty in the matter. Whether or not the school will be kept open depends entirely on the parents and scholars. Prof. Rogers and Miss Anna Mulchrone were hired as teachers and this is a guarantee that there will be a good school. Living Is Cheap But Not Very Tempting in Our Eastern Islands. rom the Medical News.

Cattle don't thrive in the Philippines heep are not found there. Potatoes ion't grow in the Archipelago, Vegtables are everywhere scarce, so it seems, and the peas and asparagus one gets come mostly from France or Germany. In peaceful times, gone by, o be sure, the industrious Chinaman in his little garden raised delicacies for the tables of foreigners, but now that most of these almond-eyed Celestials have retired with their dollars to China, tomatoes, lettuce, beans and orn are probably scarcer. and eggs are two great Philippine standbys, and always seem to form a groundwork for every meal. Beef from poor worn out bullocks, shipped up from Australia, likewise has its usual bright place to fill, but mutton and potatoes have to come over from China. Fruits, Manila has its plenty, and what with mangoes, mangosteens, oranges, bananas, pineapples, grape fruits and melons selling for a song, the market is well supplied.

All meats in Manila and other parts of the Islands is often eaten fresh-killed, since ice fails to preserve fish flesh or fowl, and game and fowl are always sold at the markets alive. It is not to be denied that the tough, stringy taste to this porion of the menu is far from desirable, but necessity seems to know no law, and one must accustom himself almost to seeing the chickens of his fourth course wandering around in the kitchen half plucked as he begins his feast.

Living was very cheap in Manila during my stay, and our cook got but to cents with which to provide dinner for four people. And we would have such dishes as soup, fish, chops and peas, roast chicken with rotatoes, beans and corn, salad, descert and rm't-quite a repast for so small a STATES. The milk available in the Philippines rarely comes from the Jersey cow, but s a product of the "carabao," or water buffalo, and tastes somewhat oily, Oatmeal and cream are things unknown, and the former is now said to be too heating for a hot climate diet. Chocolate seems to come under the same category, and even mangoes—the fruit with the smooth, turpentine taste -have to be eschewed by him who suffers from prickly heat. Bread, too, is not eaten so much as toast, and the foreigner almost always insists on getting his "pan tostada" in order that any lurking microbes which the bread may have absorbed during the process of manufacture in the little Chinese bakery may be destroyed. As the Manila water supply was good had no hesitation in drinking plenty of Adam's ale, and never found it disagreed with me. In fact, some of the old stagers say a long glass of water ust after one gets up in the morning doeth good like a medicine, and suffice it to say it seemed to work like a charm in my case. In conclusion, as to food, it must be said that, in peaceful times. Manila fare is not bad, though it lacks variety, and such articles as one gets in the ordinary menu at the club or in the restaurants seem amply to supply the lemands made on the new arrival by the climate. Heavy or heating foods, such as oatmeal, and the like are best left alone, and in my mind, the less alcohol one takes the better. Claret and seltzer make one of the cleanest drinks to be imagined, and one better than a brandy and soda, or something of the same strong make-up.

A Child's Question Answered by a Famous Specialist.

The mother had one of her "nervous spells" and the little boy had been warned to be very quiet. The restless little fellow moved on tiptoe about the room trying to amuse himself, but almost every move he made was followed by the querulous cry of the N. Y. For years my health was very mother, "Willie, don't make so much noise." At last in his over anxiety to be quiet, the boy dropped a book on the floor, and his mother's angry scream of protest drove him to the shelter of his father's arms. The father laid down his paper, and caressed the tearful boy who whispered between | ing usually experienced in confinement, his sobs: "Papa, what makes mamma so cross?" Papa made no answer. I was a sight to behold. I looked like a corpse walking about. I commenced to take Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, 'Favorite Prescription' and 'Pellets,' and I was soon a well woman. I have suffered all a woman could suffer at my monthly period until since I began the use of Dr. Pierce's medicines, but now I can say I have no pain. The dark circles around my eyes are going away and I feel better in every way. My cheeks are red and my face is white, but before it was as yellow as saffron."

"Your medicines have done wonders for me," writes Mrs. James W. Blacker, of 629 Catherine street, Syracuse, poor; I had four miscarriages, but since taking Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery and 'Favorite Prescription' have much better health, and now I have a fine healthy baby."

He did not know that every such nervous outbreak caused his wife intense mental suffering because of her own weakness. He did not know that even now behind closed fingers that hid her face the mother was weeping because of her own passionate impatience with the

"What makes mamma so cross?" It is a pitiful question. In it the little child puts his finger right on the most the failure of mar riage. It is not the case of one woman but the case of thousands. The result is a home unattractive to the husband, and the children's love for the mother adulterated with fear. The husband, tired of tears and scolding. drifts to the village store or the city club to spend his evenings. The poor wife sits and looks up at the motto, which she hung on the wall with a wifely pride in her heart and a woman ly prayer on her lips-"God bless our nome." She feels that the home is cursed instead of blessed.

Poor woman! She is not to blame for her nervousness and her tears. It is the natural and necessary result of her condition. The finest musician in the world could get nothing but discord out of a harp whose every string was strained to breaking. That's the way it is with the woman. She is literally 'all unstrung." Her nervous system is shattered. All the harmony of the sweet girl nature is turned to discord. It is a condition peculiar to her sex and common to wifehood. Perhaps this condition began long ago in girlhood with irregularity in one of the important female functions followed maybe with a disagreeable and debilitating drain on the system. Perhaps it is the immediate consequence of the great changes which take place with will receive a glad welcome from a marriage. Behind such a nervous condition will be found inflammation burning like a fire into the tender tissues, ulceration eating like poison into the organs of generation. There will be irregular periods, and the bearingdown pains, associated with prolapsus, a disagrecable, unnatural and debilitating pain, sapping the life and strength of the system. Some or all these are behind that nervous condition so painful for the mother, so pitiful for the family. We know that this proven it to be so. We know just as treated, only two out of every hunfect cure; and even these two have generally been benefited. This is not flammations, and disagreeable drains on the system, by the use of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. The larger part of this vast army of women are in evidence over their own signatures reporting their former sufferings and their permanent cure by the "Favorite Prescription." We can Mrs. Cordelia Henson, of Colton, Boyd Co., Ky., writes: "In October, 1889. I gave birth to a baby and the treatment I received at the hands of "My wife was sick for over eight years," writes Albert H. Fulte, Esq., of Altamount, Grundy Co., Tenn. "She had uterine disease and was treated by two physicians and got no relief. At last, I read in one of your Memorandum Books, which you sent me, about Dr. Pierce's medicines and we decided to try his 'Favorite Prescription.' I sent to the drug store and got one bottle and the first dose gave ease and sleep. She had not slept any for three nights. Being sure that it would cure her I sent for five more bottles and when she had taken the sixth bottle she was sound and well. We now have a fine boy at our house."

Inflammation is promptly allayed, ulcertions healed, and the nerve centers strengthened by Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. It stops unnatural and disagreeable drains on the system, regulates the periods, and in fact adjusts the organs peculiarly feminine to harmonious operations in all their functions. The real pleasure in life then returns. The form rounds out, the eye brightens, the dragging step of disease gives place to the springing step of health. A smile, instead of tear, goes into every stitch going int the tiny garments being made ready for the coming guest-a guest who heart rich in maternal love, and a body strong in maternal power, to cherish Designing men, through alluring and unningly worded advertisements, constantly endeavor to work upon the feelings of sick and ailing women by inviting them to "write to a woman (!) and secure a woman's sympathy." It is well to remember that the best sympathy is to be had at home and not from strangers, perhaps hundreds of miles distant. The object of the sick is to get well, and however prec-lous sympathy may be, it never yet cured a seriously afflicted woman. While the sympathy of your milliner or dressmaker might be appreciated, and be just as beneficial, if not more so than sympathy from a stranger, yet it cannot effect your cure if you are an ailing woman, It is loudly proclaimed through the press that "a woman can best understand a woman's ailments," and on this ground sick women are invited to "write to a woman" and get the benefit of a woman's advice. The sort of "understanding of her allments" wanted by a sick woman is a trained medical understanding. If a woman has this trained medical knowledge she understands woman's ailments not as a woman but as a physician. If she is not a doctor she cannot understand the ailments not as a woman but as a physician. If she is not a doctor she cannot understand the allments at all, and cannot treat them successfully, because she lacks the necessary training. As far as known there is no regularly qualified woman physician connected with any proprietary medicine especially designed for women-no one therefore, qualified by learning and experience, to advise on questions of disease and its cure.

It is certain that there is no one, man or woman, connected with any 'put up" medicine for women excepting only Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, who, like Dr. Pierce, is a regular graduated and qualified physician, and who has, like him, devoted more than thirty years to the special study and treatment of diseases of women.

In the strictest sense "Favorite Prescription is a temperance medicine. It contains no alcohol, whisky or other intoxicants, and is free from opium, narcotics, syrup or sugar, any of these it preserves its healing virtues in any climate, All dealers in medicine sell Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. There is no other medicine to compare with it in its remarkable cures. Do not therefore accept any other medicine in its place as "just as good." Nothing is just as good for you which cannot show a "just as good" record of cures of female diseases. No other medicine can show such a record. No other medicine therefore can be as good.

The "wonder book" of family med!-

cine, is Dr. Pierce's Common Sense Medical Adviser. It focuses on the leading facts of physiology and hygiene the concentrated light of ages of clentific research. It deals with nature and disease in the light of common sense. In simple language it traces the story of human life from its source. It speaks perternally to the young man and young woman on those grave questions that concern each sex. It speaks with scientific authority to those who contemplate marriage. And with all this there are hints and helps for all the accidents and contingencles that can touch the health of the family.
