******* GORDON ONLY TOOK WHAT WAS HIS OWN

SUCH IS HIS EXCUSE FOR ROB-BING DRIESEN'S STORE.

After Pleading Guilty He States That His Employer Failed to Remunerate Him for Services Rendered in A jury was also out on the case of to Clear Himself with a Weak hardware store. Story-Other Cases Heard.

Stone, was accused of the Driesen divided the costs, burglary, plead guilty when called for trial yesterday and said that Stone was entirely guiltless of any criminal complicity in the deed. The commonwealth thought differently in this last regard and proceeded to prove that Stone was an accomplice, if not a principal in the burglary. The crime was committed June 3, 1898. It was a bold and shrewdly executed steal. Gordon was in Driesen's employ or a number of years, working in his clothing store on Lackawanna avenue, and living at his house as if a member of the family. He left Driesen in 1896, but returned to this city again and sought to be re-employed. Mr. Driesen reinstated him. He had been working for him only a couple of months when he decided to quit once nore and planned the robbery.

Stone, who is a Binghamton youth, was in this city visiting relatives on Ninth street. Gordon had met him some time previously, and encountering him on Lackawanna avenue a few days preceding the burglary, renewed the acquaintance and utilized him in carrying out his design, Stone, at his request, rented a room rom Mrs. Jeffries on the third floor adjoining Driesen's store. Later, at Gordon's solicitation, he had Mrs. Jeffries give him another room at the rear of the house that had a window in it overlooking the roof of the Driesen building. He told Mrs. Jeffries that he had a lot of writing to do and that the front room was too dark.

Gordon took possession of the room end at his request Stone had two large trunks brought there, loaning to Gorion the money that purchased them.

WAY HE DID IT.

With the aid of a heavy rope and a book Gordon let himself down through the skylight of Driesen's store, bundled up ninety suits of clothing, hauled them up after him to the roof with the aid of the rope and hook, carried them through the window into his room and packed them into the two trunks.

Stone had engaged a drayman for Gordon the day before to come after Gordon had to go after him. The trunks were taken to the depot and checked to Elmira, one of them being checked on Stone's ticket.

into custody by the Elmira officers. Gordon confessed, and it is alleged implicated Stone. The latter was arrested in Binghamton, and both were brought here for trial.

Chief of Police Cassada and Detective Bradwell, of Elmira, swore posiout of Driesen's. This was the only important conflict of testimony, Gordon denying the confession and Stone, of course, claiming he knew nothing whatever of the stealing.

His story was that he chanced to neet Gordon on Lackawanna avenue, Gordon told him that he had been engaged by a New York firm to go on the road and that he was expecting his samples every day. He needed a couple of trunks, a room in which he days and a dray to take the trunks to the station. Stone agreed to advance the money necessary for these things and also out of pure friendship looked after the securing of them.

ACCOMPANIED HIM. He was to return to his home in Binghamton on June 3, which was the succeeding day, and upon learning that Gordon was going to Elmira, agreed to accompany him and help him with his trunks. He never even suspected that Gordon was up to any wrongdoing.

Gordon's story was a corroboration of this in every detail. Stone, according to his statement, was entirely ignorant of the robbery. He preceded this tale with a recital of a series of wrongs that he had suffered at the hands of the Driesens, and alleged that he stole the clothing because the Driesens had failed in their promise to give him a thousand dollars' worth of clothing and start him in business in Forest City, a promise alleged to have been made in consideration of the part he had played in certain shady transactions he says Driesen engaged in.

The case was given to the jury at o'clock. No verdict had been reached at adjourning time. Mr. Vidaver assisted District Attorney Jones in the prosecution and Messrs. Wedeman and Frank Boyle looked after the defense James McDante, for the third time, failed to appear to prospense Lottie Smith for keeping a disorded house and the case against her was dismissed

Was Cleaning a Sky-light in the Roof of the Pine Brook Breaker When He Lost His Footing and Fell to the Ground-Was Taken to the Moses Taylor Hospital, but Nothing Could Be Done That Would Save His Life.

While cleaning the skylights on the roof of the Pine Brook breaker at 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon, John Sheridan, the 16-year-old son of John T. Sheridan, of 112 Stone avenue, lost his balance and tumbled 50 feet to the ground, sustaining injuries which resulted in his death two hours later at the Moses Taylor hospital.

His right leg and shoulder blade were fractured, and he was injured internally to such extent that he was unconclous until death occurred. The fall was not a perpendicular one, as he was not close to the side of the breaker. The descent was broken by his coming in contact three or four times with projecting ledges. He was picked up at the coal schutes,

No one knows what caused him to lose his balance, but it is presumed that the roof of the breaker furnished slippery footing because of the rain in progress yesterday. The day was so gloomy that he went to the roof to open and clean the lights. The doctors at the Moses Taylor hospital found his condition beyond help, but they worked hard to render every assistance under the circumstances. He died without saying a word from the time of the accident. Undertaker Cusick removed the remains from the hospital morgue in the evening to the late home.

EXPERIMENTAL STATION HERE

A. B. Dunning, Jr., Succeeded in Having It Established.

Ex-Street Commissioner Dunning has accepted an invitation to go before the board of trade Monday night and make a report of the Good Roads' parliament at the Omaha exposition.

Through the efforts of Mr. Dunning.

Senator Dodge, United States director of the road inquiry, has consented to put down a sample double steel track on the Abington turnpike similar to the one that the United States government had on exhibition at the Trans-Mississippi exposition. E. G. Harrison, well known throughout the country in his good roads' efforts, will most likely come on to superintend the contruction of it. The government is locating experi-improvement in different parts of the country, and it was through Mr. Dunning's earnest solicitation that Senator Dodge agreed to make Scranton one of the stations. It the turnpike company should not be satisfied to permit the use of the road for the purpose, some arrangements will be made to locate it in some

An Affection of the Heart of Long Standing Was the Cause.

Attorney Milo J. Wilson died yesterday morning at his home, $19 Mulberry street, after a brief Illness. An affection of the heart of long standing was the cause of his demise. He is survived by a wife.

Mr. Wilson was born in Wyoming county on January 13, 1838. His father was Dr. John Wilson, a prominent physician of that county. After receiving a thorough academic and college education he entered the law office of R. B. Little at Montrope in 1858 and began the study of law.

After the war broke out he entered the union army as a private in the Ninety-fourth Ohio infantry, and served in the army of the Cumberland, After being mustered out of the army on the expiration of his term of enlistment he went west and embarked in the grain business. When he returned east he located in Scranton and in February, 1868, was admitted to the Luzerne county bar. In 1875 he was the Republican candidate for mayor, but was not elected, owing to the large Democratic majority in the city at that time. For a number of years he filled
