HURT YESTERDAY AFTERNOON. Young Fellow Has a Narrow Escape from Death

Andrew Burnett, aged 15 years, had a narrow escape from a horrible death | and e general assembly room for holdyesterday afternoon, shortly after 4 o'clock. He attends the Brooklyn street school and was on his way home walking the tracks of the gravity rallroad. A train happened along and young Burnett decided to ride a short distance on them. He tried to get on the front car and fell to the tracks.

The rails were wet and the breaks were on causing the wheels to slide and it is due to these circumstances that the young fellow is slive today. The wheels instead of passing over him pushed him along some little distance. He managed to soulem off the tracks and was picked up and carried to the home of Thomas Kennedy on Brooklyn street. Dr. Gillis was summoned and found that the only injury the unfortunate boy had sustained was a bad cut on his right leg. Otherwise he was not hurt excepting a few slight bruises on the body caused by his fall He will be able to be around in a short

A DAY OF WRECKS.

There were all of four slight wrecks or, the Delaware and Hudson road yesterday. In the morning Conductor Rector's train in coming in from Nineveh collided with a number of loaded cars standing on a switch in the upper part of the yard. This was due to the wet rails. But little damage was done and no one was injured. Two other wrecks of little import occurred during the course of the morning in the yard. In the evening shortly after 4 o'clock eight gravity cars can off the track just above Lincoln avenue cross-The man who looks after the switch at that point failed to open it and as a result eight cars went over the steep embankment at that place, No one was injured however,
