

THE EVACUATION OF SANTIAGO

COMMISSIONERS BRING LETTERS TO GENERAL WOOD.

He is Requested to Extend Assistance to Officers in Search of the Bodies of Major General Vera del Rey and Brigadier General Santocildes—Foreigners Are Making Arrangements to Experiment with Fruit.

Santiago, de Cuba, Nov. 7.—A Spanish military commission of five officers, headed by Brigadier General Don Luis Valderama, arrived here today from Havana, bringing with them Major General Vera del Rey and Brigadier General Santocildes, the former was killed at the battle of El Caney on July 1. He had been wounded in both legs, and while being borne away in a litter was struck by a shell which killed him, his brother, his son and four men hearing the shot. He was regarded as one of the most capable officers in command of Spanish troops in Cuba. General Santocildes was killed near Bayamo, province of Santiago, by the insurgents at the outset of the insurrection three years ago. General Valderama, after receiving the body of Vera del Rey, will go to Manzanillo, west of Bayamo, where he will have the assistance of Colonel Pettit, the United States commander, in his search for the body of Santocildes. General Valderama, accompanied by his aide, visited General Wood shortly after his arrival and the two officers had a pleasant chat of an hour or so. Lieutenant Hanna, General Wood's aide, with an escort and the Spanish officers visited General Wood, and it was possible the pair of them to Vera del Rey, and the remains will be escorted to the city by a battalion of the United States infantry and a band, with all the honors due to a major general.

General Valderama, who had been in command of the Holguin division, says that small pox there is not so virulent or widespread as has been reported.

CUBANS REFUSE TO WORK.

Today 250 Spaniards arrived here by way of Cienfuegos to work in the mines of Daiquiri, where the Cubans refuse to work, claiming that labor is too hard.

These wealthy foreigner residents of this district for some time, are making arrangements to cover fifty acres of land with every variety of fruit that could possibly be cultivated here, with a view of seeing which kind yields the best results. They are planning for future operations on a large scale and to supply the English and American markets. Pine apples grow wild to an immense size and of delicious flavor. There is a good opening in this fruit for men of small capital.

The Reina de Los Angeles will leave tomorrow morning for Guantanamo and other places on the north coast, carrying rations for the poor. She will also take five doctors, two nurses and a large supply of vaccination lymph that has just arrived. Captain Lymph, of the medical corps, will be in charge of this special staff.

CAPITOL EXPLOSION.

Architect's Opinion That the Damage Can Be Repaired for $20,000.

Washington, Nov. 7.—A report was current during the morning that the west central wall of the capitol was cracked as a result of the explosion. Architect Wood made a careful examination and located the crack which had aroused suspicion. It proved, however, to be in the outer, or non-structural wall and not in the six-foot foundation wall on the west side. The library of the supreme court, which, next to the congressional library, is the most valuable collection of books in Washington, escaped with little damage, although it was in the very center of the disturbance, the wrecked elevator shaft and upheaved stone floors being at the library entrance. It is estimated that the loss of the library will be covered by $1,500. The books remained intact, the loss being confined to the woodwork.

Mr. Wood, at the close of the day, expressed the opinion that the damage to the capitol building could be repaired for $20,000. "It is by no means so serious as I first thought it was," said Mr. Wood. "I find that the four-corners of the building were not damaged in the least, but that the only injury done to the structure by the explosion was done to the arched floors. These were struck from beneath and affording the least resistance, gave way so readily that the foundation walls were not injured in any way.

Mr. Woods believes the explosion was caused by gas, but he has not yet been able to make a sufficient critical examination to place the exact spot at which the ignition occurred. Other architects who have inspected the scene of the catastrophe also attributed it to the explosion of gas, but, like Mr. Woods, decline to go into details in their theories.

FORTIFYING HALIFAX.

Improvements to Be Made and Barracks Accommodation Increased.

Halifax, N. S., Nov. 7.—As a result of the inspection last week by Lord Seymour and Colonel Biscoe, many improvements in the fortifications here will be made. The work on a new fort at McNabs Island will be hurried on. The citadel, which has been considered superfluous by Lord Seymour's predecessors, will be altered and placed on a good footing. Barracks accommodation will be increased and the most thorough overhauled.

IN THE PLAY HOUSES.

"The White Squadron."

"The White Squadron," a story of life in Brazil, in which officers and marines of the cruiser Chicago, of the White Squadron of the United States navy, was produced at the Academy of Music last night by the Elroy Stock company and gave intense satisfaction to an audience that packed the building from top to bottom. The play is a drama with plenty of action, seasoned with just enough of patriotic sentiments to make it appeal strongly to the average American audience at this time. The Elroy company is headed by J. Harvey Cook and Miss Leona, and besides these concessions to the patriotic sentiment, the play is a somewhat superior to that carried by the average repertoire company. The drama last night was handsomely staged. Between the acts specialties consisting of songs and dances were given by Robert H. Harris, Irving Wally, George H. Ricketts and Lola Morisse.

Eddie Bald Tonight.

From the excitement of the race track to the glare of the footlights is the change that has come into the everyday life of Eddie C. Bald, the champion cyclist, and the clever rider views him move with a feeling not devoid of apprehension, but predominated by the longing for the new experience and confident success. "The new play in which I am a feature, could not well be brighter," said Eddie to a reporter for the Buffalo Enquirer. Everybody is talking about its being the grandest in a long time. The title "A Twist of Laurel," is a fetching one, and the plot is cleverly woven around a bicycle part of the performance for the success."

THE MARKETS.

Wall Street Review.

New York, Nov. 7.—The day's stock market undoubtedly reflected the conviction of operators in securities that with election uncertainties out of the way, the strong condition of the country industries and business will have their effects and prices will advance. This conviction, so far as it found reflection in the market, was almost purely a professional one, for the outside interest, as shown by orders through commission houses, was small. The closing was a steady one, in disposition to take profits pending the holiday, although there had been sufficient rise in the last two days to turn the balance of operators to that side on any closing up of speculative accounts. The evidence was rather on the side of a rising market. Trading proceeded in a very desultory manner during the early hours of the day, although the selling for foreign accounts, which was fairly liberal, was well absorbed and the prices of international stocks firmly sustained. But as the day wore on the market gained both in activity and strength and embraced an increasing list of stocks. The contemplation of the very heavy volume of bank exchanges and the enormous export business in cereals had their influence on the bullish tendency as did the continued favorable report of railroad earnings, especially from the west and south. Total sales were 281,400 shares.
