[The Carbondale correspondence of the Tribune has been placed in the hands of Mr. Z. M. Forbes. All communications as to irregular delivery, etc., also news items, should be addressed to Robert A. Reynolds, news agents.]

BUSINESS MEETING TONIGHT.

The business men who are interested in the future prosperity of the city should turn out tonight and make the business men's meeting a great success. The subject has been the main topic about the streets yesterday and no doubt the meeting will be largely attended, as its doing will affect every resident more or less. On several former occasions gatherings of this nature had been arranged for and their objects were never attained, but never before in the history of the city has the need for some industrial establishments been more urgent. Many men have been thrown out of work by the Delaware and Hudson company, and many will receive discharges on Jan. 1. The city's welfare should not be in the hands of any one corporation.

SCHOOL BOARD MEETING.

A quiet school board meeting was held on Monday night and nothing of great importance was done. The business was transacted in an orderly manner, without any notable exceptions to the usual routine. A large number of bills were ordered paid. The salary of William Geary was fixed at forty-five dollars a month. A petition asking the board to establish a night school was read.

Brokenshire, Harry Potter, C. P. O'Connor, quarterback, William Eaton; halfbacks, Peter Lynch and Elias Thomas; fullback, Joseph Boylan. They are out after the scalp of the local Indians.

EDDIE BALD'S PLAY.

Eddie Cannon Bald will be seen tonight at the Grand in his new play, in which he is the star, "A Twig of Laurel." The plot centers round Eddie's ability as a bicyclist. The supporting company is made up of a number of competent actors and actresses who have plenty of scope to display their abilities. Several local riders will be seen in the race scene, which is decidedly realistic.

ELECTION DAY.

Yesterday was an exceedingly quiet election day; in fact, one of the most quiet in the annals of the Pioneer City. The weather was decidedly Republicanesque, and the polls were comparatively light on all parties. The results of the various counts in the several districts in the city can be seen by reference to The Tribune's table on another page.

PAVING COMPLETED.

River street presents a pretty sight now with its pavement, which needs but a few finishing touches before it will be open for the public traffic. A small stretch at the lower end, near seventh avenue, and the joining of the pave to the Dundaff street bridge is all that is required to complete the job, and this will probably be done today.

TO THIS CITY.

FOREST CITY.

A. D. Kehren, electrician for the Forest City Electric Light, Heat and Power company, met with an accident Monday afternoon that might have resulted in a fatal injury, had it not been for the fact that he was very little damaged, excepting to badly shake him up. Mr. Kehren was at the top of a pole in front of the Forest City House when he came in contact with a live wire and received such a shock that he lost his hold and was thrown backward. He could not avoid the fall, but partially broke the force of it and righted himself by grasping another wire as he was descending. He suffered a sprained wrist, but was able to walk home without assistance.

The matter of bonding the borough to hold a town hall was not brought to a vote of the people at yesterday's election. The athlete told the story himself. He began with the ox when it was a little calf, lifting it daily, until it became the full grown bulky beast which he carried in the arena.

Milo was an athletic specialist. He is typical of all specialists in that he succeeded by doing the same thing over and over day after day for years.

One of the greatest specialists of the day is Dr. R. V. Pierce, chief consulting physician to the Invalide Hotel and Surgical Institute, of Buffalo, N. Y. Thirty years of Dr. Pierce's life have been given to the treatment of all the varying forms of female disease. Every disease that affects the delicate organs of women has been his study. Half a million of women have been so successfully treated by him that ninety-eight per cent. have been perfectly and permanently cured. Why should such success attend Dr. Pierce's efforts when reputable physicians have said there was no help? Why should Dr. Pierce cure with his special medicine when other physicians have said there must be an "operation"? Are not these other physicians as learned and as clear as Dr. Pierce? Those are fair questions and should be fairly answered.

Doubtless similar questions were asked about Milo. "What is the matter with the other athletes? They look just as big and as strong as Milo. Why don't they do what he does?"

Mrs. Richard Gray was quite painfully burned about the head and arms on Monday, while at work in the mines at Lendham.

Randall, Mr. and Mrs. George Brown, Mr. and Mrs. William Richardson, Misses Eva, Maud and Vina Brown and Eva Randall; Silas Harrison, Johnson and Clarence Randall and James and Silas Trues.

THE STRONG MAN OF GREECE.

A LESSON FOR WEAK WOMEN.

The graceful Grecian women admired the strength combined with skill, which was displayed to its highest perfection in the athletes of their race. Among the greatest of those athletes was Milo, the man who carried an ox on his shoulders. It was an age of athleticism. "There were agents in those days." Doubtless many an athlete could have showed themselves as great as Milo's. But for all that Milo was the only man who could shoulder the ox. How was it done? He began with the ox when it was a little calf, lifting it daily, until it became the full grown bulky beast which he carried in the arena.

relieves them from the answering of questions which seem indefinite, and the examinations and local treatments, so offensive to the natural delicacy of women, and generally so entirely unnecessary to a specialist of Dr. Pierce's wide experience. The sympathies of women are sometimes played upon by invitations to "write to a woman who can sympathize with women," etc. A sick woman does not need to go abroad for sympathy. What she needs is the skilled, intelligent help of an educated, experienced physician. As far as is known there is no woman connected with any proprietary medicine who is a graduated physician, who has indeed any qualification to treat the commonest hurts or ills. There certainly is no one—man or woman—who can offer as does Dr. Pierce—the specialism of thirty years' practice and experience in treating female diseases, with a record of

PITTSBURGH.

Up until five o'clock yesterday marked the quietest election ever held in this city and vicinity and during these hours there was nothing noticeable from the usual order of things, outside of small groups of watchers and others who business required their presence about the usual voting booths. During the forenoon the business man, his clerks and the man of leisure deposited their ballots and they performed that important duty in such a business like manner that he was rarely accused on that mission by those who for a pitance hold up the doubtful voters and use their persuasive arguments, that are a portion of the election day programme. During the last two hours of voting the contest of ballots grew more spirited, and at several of the places there were some interesting arguments, growing out of the determination upon the part of some disgruntled Democrats, who, without any obvious reason, would challenge each voter whom they were certain not to vote in their way of thinking. At this writing a large vote has been polled and the general smoothness in which everything is moving surely indicates that the general voter went to the booth with his mind fairly made up as to which he would cast his ballot. On the West Side of the river the order of things were about the same and today they will show that they can still furnish the usual Republican majority.

Ernest Szalay, an honest old yeoman residing in the south end of Pittston township, lost a valuable hunting dog several years ago and last week when going down South Main street he spied the lost canine and, following it up, found that the dog made his home on the premises of George Thompson, of Welsh Hill. He demanded possession of the animal from Thomas and being refused he had a warrant sworn out before Alderman Evans and last night a motley crowd, which must have included the population of Welsh Hill and Old Forge, gathered in front of the alderman's court like rardines in a box and some very lively testimony pro and con went down on Jacob's blotter. About twenty witnesses were heard and the testimony caused the alderman to believe that Szalay was entitled to the long lost dog decided accordingly. This did not meet the approval of Thomas, however, and he furnished bail in the amount of $100 for court and thus the case stands. Since the disappearance of the dog the evidence showed that he had been in the possession of all the witnesses and had been on hunting trips over the best portion of the state.

There have been several instances the past week of children having been bit-ten by some of the worthless cure that run about the city, and only yesterday a boy named Gordon Blackwell and a girl, Bessie Kearns, were bitten severely about the limbs. Of course, it would be a very hard matter to discover the whereabouts of the worthless cure that the present time, but some should be done by the proper officials to prevent the numerous occurrences of this kind to happen. If all the dogs in this city were properly taxed it would create a fund sufficient to pay the salaries of the police force.

Louis Weisner, Miles Williams and Henry Hoover returned from the mountains in the vicinity of Bowkley's cabin last night and had with them in their game bags the result of a very successful day's sport.

That was a cruel joke played upon an unsophisticated young man named Ed. Gibbons, on Monday evening at a late hour, when John Boyle, Ed. Houser and Michael Mullen enticed him across the Water street bridge to witness a supposed stone heave. Gibbons, who was at a proper signal Boyle unloaded his revolver and Mullen dropped to the sidewalk, pretending he had been shot. Gibbons' services were utilized to carry Mullen across the bridge to the Valley House, and while the celebrated Tony Parkey stood in the corner of a Punamian, and during his absence Mullen arose to his feet and danced an Irish reel. The cigars were on Gibbons.

A daughter of George Strubeck, eleven years old, died yesterday afternoon of typhoid fever. The funeral will take place tomorrow afternoon, 11 o'clock in the Hamtown cemetery.

Owen Keenly, of the Wilkes-Barre Leader, was in the city yesterday. Owen is one of the most efficient and gentlemanly scribes that come here periodically.
