CANDIDACY OF SENATOR QUAY

CAUSED A GREAT AMOUNT OF DISCUSSION IN THIS CITY.

He Has Many Loyal Friends Hereabouts Who Are Very Confident He Will Be Re-Elected and Who Believe That It Is Right That He Should Be—Others Are Strongly Opposed to His Continuing to Occupy a Seat in United States Senate—Numerous Opinions.

In political circles yesterday one of the principal topics of discussion was the announcement of United States Senator M. S. Quay that he will be a candidate for re-election. This announcement was not unlooked for but accompanied as it was by his strong statements with reference to the late campaign and his sweeping challenge to his enemies it made very interesting subject matter for discussion.

Mr. Quay has many loyal friends and champions in this county who unhesitatingly say that he should be re-elected and point to his work in the senate for Pennsylvania and her interests as a sufficient reason for his return. They refuse to believe the stories so freely hurled broadcast during the campaign and say they are largely the work of his political enemies and that Mr. Quay is simply suffering the fate of hundreds of men prominent in public life whose success arouses all manner of jealousies.

"It has been charged that Mr. Quay is responsible for all the sins of omission and commission of the last legislature," said a man yesterday afternoon who was in close touch with the last legislature as he discussed Senator Quay's candidacy with a party of friends. "As a matter of fact Mr. Quay is responsible for little if anything that the legislature did. It was a very independent body and any person who was in Harrisburg during the session and has any exact knowledge of what was going on there is perfectly well aware that Senator Quay was unable to control it to any extent.

ONE CHARACTERISTIC.

"There is one remarkable thing about Senator Quay and it is this, those who know him best are his most loyal friends. At his home he is fairly idolized by his neighbors and with men who have been closely associated with him I have heard but one sentiment expressed and that is the greatest respect and admiration. Many of the men I have heard eulogize him are the most upright and honorable in the state and when I have heard them talk I have been forced to the conclusion that a man who could attract such friends and hold them is a long distance removed from the political outlaw some of Senator Quay's political enemies would have us believe he is."

D. G. Atherton, secretary of the board of trade, who has had occasion since his connection with the board to communicate many times with Senator Quay with reference to national legislation and other matters in which the board and the people of Scranton were interested said that he had always found the senior senator very attentive to the duties of his office.

"No communication was ever sent from this office to Mr. Quay that did not receive prompt and proper consideration," said Mr. Atherton, "and in general he has been a staunch friend of Pennsylvania in the senate. I am in doubt as to the propriety of re-electing him, but before expressing a positive opinion I would want to know the names of the other aspirants.

Attorney James J. H. Hamilton does not take kindly to Mr. Quay's candidacy for reelection. He said: "I'm opposed to the re-election of Senator Quay to the United States senate. As I view it his reelection would be a disgrace upon the fair name of our commonwealth. This state, in many respects the greatest in the Union, ought to be represented in the national senate by a statesman, not a politician of the character of the present senior senator."

MR. JONES' TRIBUTE.

District Attorney John R. Jones takes the opposite view of the situation. "I am decidedly in favor of the re-election of Senator Quay," said Mr. Jones. "I regard him as one of the greatest Republican leaders in the United States and certainly the greatest party leader Pennsylvania has ever produced. Under his leadership the Republican vote of Pennsylvania has greatly increased and unprecedented pluralities have been given for Republican candidates. It is necessary for political parties to have leaders and it seems they must necessarily come in for a large share of abuse and calumny.

"I do not believe many of the reports circulated against the character of Senator Quay. I have some acquaintance with him, having met him at Republican state conventions I have attended in years gone by and I have learned to admire him as a man, a politician and a leader of men. Generous-hearted and magnanimous, he seems to have the esteem and regard of every one who becomes acquainted with him. I believe if it was not for his wise leadership during the Harrison campaign Benjamin Harrison would never have been elected.

"The attack made upon him by Wanamaker and his adherents was the result of personal spleen on the part of Mr. Wanamaker. As a member of Pennsylvania's lawmaking body and as secretary of the commonwealth, Senator Quay did great service for Pennsylvania and he has been ever watchful of her interests in the United States senate. A re-election would be a graceful rounding out of his distinguished public career."

THE SEARCHING WIND.

How Its Hunt for Weak Spots in the Body May Be Baffled.

What makes pneumonia? The usual answer is—cold and damp. It is wrong. These are but developing agents, bringing out pre-existing weakness, which, with care and prudence might have been corrected, so that the cold and wet would be annoyances merely, not dangers. This is the time of year when the searching wind finds where the body is weak and long trouble, always a thing to be dreaded, is the frequent result.

To put the body on a war footing, so that it may pass unharmed through the ordeals of the fall and winter, there is nothing to compare with Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey. Its elements at once stimulate and nourish. The Government says this whiskey being purely medicinal is the only one that must bear the medicinal revenue stamp.

Keep the blood briskly circulating, and there is little danger of pneumonia. Be not fooled with imitations, but get the one genuine Duffy's Pure Malt.

"I am opposed to Senator Quay and his methods," said John G. McAskie, "and would dislike to see him re-elected. Why is he objectionable? That's a long story. His public career teems with arguments against his being returned."

AS MR. FLEITZ VIEWS IT.

"As I view the situation today, I think Senator Quay will be re-elected, and I think he ought to be," was Fred. W. Fleitz's comment. "The old man has his enemies—where is the man without them who has seen such a long term of public service—and these enemies have been saying some very nasty things about Mr. Quay. Many of the charges they made they knew were untrue. I think myself they went a step too far in their abuse of him."

"If the charges made against Senator Quay by members of his party are true, I do not think that party can consistently re-elect him," said E. J. Lynett, editor of the Times. "We ought to have a big, clean-handed man for United States senator of Pennsylvania and I know of no Republican who sizes up to necessities of the occasion better than Hon. Charles Emory Smith. He has not been defiled by the pitch that seems to have smirched most of the prominent Republicans of Pennsylvania."

That Mr. Lynett's opinion is not endorsed generally by Democrats, listen to the following from R. J. Beamish, editor of the Free Press: "If we must have a Republican United States senator, by all means let it be Mr. Quay. He is a big, broad-minded American, beside whom many of the men who malign him are as pigmies."

From the above it is evident that there is a healthy difference of opinion about the advisability of re-electing Senator Quay, and that the man who is looking for an argument on that subject can be accommodated without traveling far.

THERE WILL BE SUFFERING.

Number of Persons Depend on the Soldiers' Relief Association.

A meeting of the Soldiers' Relief association was called for yesterday afternoon for the purpose of winding up the affairs of the association, but a quorum did not materialize. The financial statement prepared for use at the meeting was as follows:

Total subscriptions to date	$2,369 79
DISBURSEMENTS.
Paid out for relief	$1,938 00
Paid out for postage	7 00
Paid out for printing	23 00
Paid out for general expense	235 67
	2,221 67
Balance cash in treasury	$ 148 12
Orders for relief unpaid	111 60
Total assets	$ 37 72
Unpaid subscriptions	120 45

As the resources of the association are about exhausted no more orders of relief will be issued until the funds of the association are replenished.

The agent of the association said that they have been providing for the dependent ones of sixty soldiers, and that about one-half of these are so situated that they will suffer for the necessaries of life if some one does not provide for them during the coming winter.

A CONSULTATION HELD.

Trying to Get Better Facilities for Reaching Honesdale.

Erie and Wyoming Valley officials were in Honesdale Thursday in consultation with Homer Greene, on the subject of improved railroad facilities for Honesdale, to take the place of those to be lost by the abandonment of the Gravity.

It is said the extension of the Erie guage tracks into the borough and the erection of a suitable passenger and freight depot were discussed. To a Tribune reporter last night George E. Smith, president of the Erie and Wyoming Valley, said that nothing definite had been decided upon at the conference and that in all probability nothing will be definitely decided for some time to come.

He characterized as wild and nonsensical a number of stories about the Erie and Wyoming Valley road, which have recently found their way into print.

FUNDS ARE NEEDED FOR THE HOSPITAL

ACCOMMODATIONS IN THREE RESPECTS LACKING.

There Is Not Nearly Enough Room for the Children's Ward—Proposition Will Be Submitted to the West Side Hospital Directors to Make That Exclusively a Children's Hospital as an Annex to the Lackawanna—Isolated Ward for Contagious Diseases Needed.

The directors of the Lackawanna hospital held a meeting yesterday afternoon at which matters of importance were discussed and considered. They have made application for state aid to the amount of over one hundred and twenty-five thousand dollars to erect three new wards; one for children, another for women, and the third for the isolation of contagious diseases. The items in their application are as follows:

Maintenance for 1899	$ 19,750
Maintenance for 1900	19,750
Total for maintenance	$ 39,500
For buildings and improvements:
Woman's fire proof ward	$ 65,000
Children's fire proof ward	25,000
Isolated ward for contagious diseases	12,700
Barn and morgue	5,000
For purchase of adjoining lot	7,500
For fire insurance	355
Repairs on present buildings	1,740
Total	$156,675

For two years the accommodations have been very deficient for the treatment of cases brought to the hospital. It has been overcrowded almost continuously. In no department has this been more sadly felt than in the children's ward. Twelve children are all that can be cared for at one time, and the demand for the treatment of the young is constantly increasing. This subject occupied the greater part of the deliberation at the meeting yesterday and it was decided to submit a proposition to the directors of the West Side hospital to turn that institution into a children's hospital exclusively.

WIDE FIELD OF USEFULNESS.

Those who have given the subject study say that there is a vast field for good in a children's hospital, as there are so many of the young in bad physical condition who could be permanently cured before the disease grow old in them.

The directors are hoping, however, that the next legislature will be liberal and provide the funds necessary to make the three much-needed improvements. Hardly less urgent than the necessity for the children's ward is that for the women's ward and the isolated ward. Cases of typhoid fever, consumption, or diphtheria will not be admitted now, nor will cases of alcoholism. Some cases of sickness develop into typhoid after they are at the hospital a week or so, and in that event they cannot be cast adrift.

Sometimes a man is brought in by the police as a plain case of sickness from exposure, and after a day or two that patient becomes violent with delirium tremens. At the latter stage there is nothing left for the superintendent to do but dismiss the case. With an isolated ward there could be a padded cell fitted up for such cases.

An additional lot is also needed if any of the three wards are to be built. There is sufficient ground room on the present plot for the location of one or all three of the new wards, but the purchase of an additional lot will be necessary if one of the three of them are built so as to provide light, which is very essential.

The legislative committee that visited the Lackawanna hospital last year suggested that all further additions be made fire-proof. On that account the amount asked for a children's ward two years ago was raised this year from $10,000 to $25,000 and the item of $15,000 asked for to provide a new administration building has been transferred to the children's ward item, though the necessity of a new building for administration purposes is very much felt.

PROMISE WAS MADE.

Two years ago the appropriations asked for footed up into six figures, but all the money received was $26,500. A promise was given then that a good-sized appropriation will be given when the legislature meets again.

The steam boilers at the hospital are in need of repairs, but the work cannot be done without shutting off the steam, and during the present weather the only way to get at it is to remove the patients to some other place for two days or three. The repairs will have to be made before the thermometer gets down to the zero degree.

The salary of Miss Claghorn, assistant superintendent was raised $10 a month as an inducement to retain her services, which are fully appreciated by the directors. She had an offer to take a position at Washington at a much higher salary than she was getting here, but preferred to remain, because she likes the Lackawanna.

Editor of the Tribune.

Sir:—I wish to state to the public that I. H. P. Shennan, did not empty milk claimed by Scranton Dairy company. I have positive and reliable proof of my whereabouts that morning by persons who spoke to me four and five blocks away at the same minute stated by Scranton Dairy company of the emptying of their milk.

All the facts and proof of my innocence will be given to the public at my trial. They evidently have the wrong person or it was done to try and ruin our milk business and my character. It is not a pleasant position for an innocent person to be talked about as I am, but the truth of this will be known.

Yours, H. P. Shennan.
