IDEAS ALONG THIS LINE FOR COMING YEAR'S WORK.

Annual Meeting of Scranton Union Held in Providence Presbyterian Church-Rev. Horace Peckover Gives Some Timely Advice to the Delegates-He Outlines a Series of Movements for Their Use-Officers Elected for Ensuing Term-Session Was Well Attended.

Many members of the many Christian Endeavor societies of the city attended the annual meeting of the Scranton Union, which was held last evening in the Providence Presbyterian church. Those attending were received at the church by a general committee of the society of the above church. The chandeliers were artistically adorned with the flags used by the Endeavorers in their 1896 convention campaign. The pulpit was draped with a large American flag and above the choir loft was suspended letters forming the word "welcome." The church enoir assisted in the service.

The business of the session was principally to select officers for the ensuing term. Rev. Horace Peckover, pastor of the Puritan Congregational church, made the address of the evening in the absence of Rev. R. F. Y. Pierce, of the Penn Avenue Baptist church, who was to have filled this office, but who was called out of the city. Rev. George E. Guild, pastor of the Providence Presbyterian church, as president of the union, called the session to order.

OPENING EXERCISES.

Fifteen minutes were devoted to a song service led by Chorister Rees Watkins. Rev. G. W. Welsh, of the Calvary Reformed church, read a passage of Scriptures and Rev. W. G. Watkins, of the North Main Avenue Baptist church, followed with prayer, Miss Phoebe Smith sang a soprano solo 'One Sweetly Solemn Thought.'

Following this an anthem, "Thou Are the Way," was sung by the choir. Rev George E. Guild made the opening remarks and welcomed the attending Endeavorers, C. H. Chandler, chairman of the nominating committee, reported their choice of officers. The report was immediately adopted by the assembly. The officers elected were: President, Rev. George W. Welsh: recording secretary, Miss Lena Clark; corresponding secretary, Miss Jennie Daniels; treasurer, D. J. Phillips; superintendent of Charles H. Doersam.

The choice of the committee for the zenship was not named for publication. Chairman Chandler announced lawyer and was intimately connected with Christian Endeavor work, but desired that his name be withheld for several very necessary reasons.

Rev. George E. Guild, as retiring president, introduced the incoming president, Rev. George W. Welsh, wished him unlimited success. President Welsh made a few remarks in acceptance of the honor and the good condition of affairs he had left for his successor. A hymn was sung and Rev. Horace Peckover was SOUND ADVICE.

Rev. Peckover interested his audience from the start. His address, though rather brief, was full of good, sound advice and timely suggestion. He prefaced his remarks by saying that he had been reading of recent strikes in the country, and thought that a strike or series of strikes by the Endeavorers would be a very good thing. They should come out on strike for several things, and these "several things" formed the main thoughts of his spirit-

First, they should strike for "higher wages." By this he meant that efforts should be made to get more members into the ranks, that passive members should be aroused to activity. Second, a strike should be made against worldliness, as outlined in the Gospel of God. All forms of secular indulgences, amusements, etc., which tended to distract a Christian's attention from the straight and narrow way should be eschewed. Endeavorers should set an example. Next, a blow should be struck against the many attempts to tamper with the Word of God. Its purity should be sustained and advocated. That which fire could not burn, water overwhelm, or bigotry drive away should ever be kept before the world in its true light. Those who would secularize God's Holy day should be struck against and taught the error of their ways. All Christian Endeavorers should stand for the Sabbath day to keep it holy. Against the drink traffic a death dealing blow should be struck, so that Satan would lie buried beneath ten thousand broken decenters never again o rise, he said.

A destroying blow should be struck igainst sectarianism. Christian Endeavorers of every denomination should get closer in sympathetic action. Unity means strength. In concluding the but was subdued without the aid of the speaker suggested that this period of fire companies. The damage done was national thanks should not be forgot-ten by Endeavorers. That thanks should be given and a new key note be President Welsh suggested a rising vote of thanks to the speaker, which was promptly given. A hymn was sung and the "Mizpah" benediction was pronounced in unison. The session was concluded with a general handshaking between the assembled members and the new officers. JAMES JENNINGS DEAD.

Was the Father of Hughey, the Famous Baltimore Shortstop.

James Jennings, sr., father of Hugh lennings, the noted shortstop of the L'altimore base ball team, died at his home at Avoca Sunday from an attack of pleurisy. Mr. Jennings was 75 years of age, and was a well known charac-ter in this region, the base ball success of his son, Hugh, gaining for the father an unique prominence. Mr. Jennings was born in Westport, Ireland, and came to America in 1820. No memory of the lamented citizen's life was as dear to him as the fact that from the lips of the immortal founder of total abstinence, Rev. The-obaid Mathew, he took his pledge to forswear the use of all intoxicating baverages. He never violated the pledge. Among the total abstainers of this diocese there was no worker more honored than Mr. Jennings. His total abstinence had sincerity as its corner stone, and love of the principles of the cause to support its injunctions. At total abstinence gatherings throughout the diocese Mr. Jennings's face was a familiar one. The sincerity shown in his total abstinence was as well illustrated in all his transactions. He was f unimpeachable honesty in all things. Mr. Jennings is survived by one daughter and seven sons. They are: Mrs. Edward Walsh, of Dunmore; Thomas and John, of Denver, Col.; Henry, James, Frank and William, of Moosic; Dr. Joseph, of Pittston, and Hugh, of Baltimore.

PAINTERS' ANNIVERSARY.

It Was Celebrated Last Evening in Fuller's Hall.

The tenth anniversary of Painters' mion, 118, of this city, was observed at Fuller's hall on Lackawanna avenue last night with appropriate ceremonies. The wives and families of the members were present.

An interesting feature of the evening festivities was the presentation of gold medals to the four charter members of the union now in good standing. They are Patrick Golden, Daniel Driscoll, George Gestner and George Smallridge. The design of the medal showed a palette and brushes. P. F. Hatton, of Union 118, and organizer for northeastern Pennsylvania of the Painters and Decorators of America, made the speech of presentation. A programme of music and songs was given. Addresses were made by J. J. Cooll-gan, of the Building Trades council; P. J. Thomas, A. Langerfeld, Michael Langguth and several others. A lunch of many palatable things were served, and the remainder of the evening was devoted to dancing, the music being furnished by Lawrence. The commit-George Purvis, chairman; P. F. Holton, J. KENNY GETS A YEAR.

Judge Love Observes the Recommendation of Mercy and Saves the Convicted Man from the Penitentiary.

Edward Kenny, of Archbald, who fatally stabled Martin Healey last April, and who was convicted of voluntary manslaughter at the last term of criminal court, was yesterday sentenced by Judge John G. Love, to one year in the county jail.

Kenny's counsel, John J. Murphy, J. J. Manning and M. F. Conroy, argued for a new trial, but Judge Love declined to disturb the finding of the Juniors, Miss Grace Chamberlin, Dun- jury saying that while a majority of more; superintendent of missions, Miss juries would have brought in a verdict Louise Williams; musical director, of acquittal he felt that there was enough in the case to justify the verdict of manslaughter. He would oboffice of Superintendent of Good Citi- serve, he said, the recommendation for extreme mercy and from the tone in which he made the remark the dethat the gentleman was a well-known fendant's counsel were content not to press their plea for a new trial fur-

Kenny was sent for and taken from the fall to Judge Archbald's room where the hearing was held. In view of the recommendation of extreme mercy and in consideration of the fact that Kenny has already spent seven months in jail. Judge Love said he would not send him to the penitencomplimented the retiring president on tiary. He then imposed upon him a sentence of $1 fine, costs and one year's imprisonment in the county jail.

The killing took place in Archbald in April last, Healey abused Kenny shamefully in a saloon, followed him out and assaulted him again and when Kenny retreated up the railroad track to go home pursued him. Healey was found some time later lying alongside the track with two stab wounds in his breast. He died six days later, Ken ny fled but returned and gave himself up when he learned that Healey was dead. Healey never told who assault ed him, but it was generally supposed that Kenny did it. Kenny denied having fled because of his trouble with Healey and proved cuite conclusively at the trial that he had made preparations some days in advance to go to New York the day succeeding the one on which the stabbing took place Kenny also said that Healey assaulted him again on the railroad track and was strangling him when he used his knife.

The jury was out over two days and up to the last ballot eight of the jurors favored acquittal.

FIRE ON OLIVE STREET.

Caused by a Fumigating Mixture in a Closed Room.

The alarm of fire sounded from Box 5, corner of Olive street and Adams avenue, at 5.20 o'clock last evening was ecasioned by a blaze at the residence of Samuel McWilliams, 606 Olive street. Mrs. McWilliams, a few hours previous to the occurrence, removed from ill with diphtheria. Later she was fumigating the room with a lighted compound of sulphur. On a window was a blanket that caught fire. It was extinguished, or thought to be, and was laid on a bed in the room. Presently Mrs. McWilliams left and went to the door below. Shortly after dense volumes of smoke were pouring from the room. The blaze gained a good start, but was subdued without the aid of the confined to the bed and bedding.

This act has been held by the courts as unconstitutional and non-enforcible and has given rise, it is said, to twenty election contests in the state this year. (4) It would tend to secure more perfectly the absolute secrecy of the ballot, which has ever been considered of the highest importance. Under the present law, a voter who votes a straight ticket marks one who votes a straight ticket marks one mark. If he wishes to show to the party watcher that he votes a straight ticket, he can and does make his one cross quick-ly and come out of the booth before he would have had time to make the larger number of marks (thirteen in November, 1898), necessary in case he votes a full split ticket. If the proposed form of ballot were used, every person voting would make a cross opposite the name of every person for whom he desired to vote. (3) Doing away with the mark at the head of the column, would prevent the disen-franchisement of the large number of citigens who, as the returns show every year, under this present law are confused by the double marking system. (6) The proosed change would tend strongly to discourage bribery and is in the interests of fair, free and equal election. (i) It would tend to secure better candidates, as the candidates would have to depend more upon their own strength and less upon party connection and improper influen-(8) The Pennsylvania law as it sta now has been construed widely different with reference to what constitutes dis-qualification by different judges. It is manifest that there should be uniformity furnished by Lawrence. SUGGESTED STRAW BALLOT. When the main report was before the eard, Joseph Levy advised that the oard do something practical in the matter of starting a movement for a non-political mayor and suggested that the board, then and there, take a straw ballot to test the sentiment of the mem ers as to who would make a good ominee to recommend to the people, The suggestion was not seconded.

President Keller remarked that the oard of trade could not consistently o anything more than recommend to oth political parties that they nominate good men. If the recommendation vere adopted the city would then suresee a good mayor elected.

Colonel Hitchcock spoke of a citizens municipal reform league as a very de-sirable thing along the line of a nonpolitical city administration and Mr. Kemmerer, who originally brought up the question, elaborated upon the ideas ontained in his letter.

At the opening of the meeting President Keller announced that the manufacturers' committee was looking for backing for a most desirable new industry. Some difficulty is being experienced because of the large amount of Scranton capital that of late has gone into New Mexico development and the individual operators' new road. this room her young son who had been This industry, now offered the city, is, however, one that he feels confident will be liberally supported when our capitalists are made acquainted with it, and he hoped by Jan, 1 to convince the board that its manufacturers' committee is not idle.

Mr. Henshaw brought up the question of the poor police protection on the 'hill," and it was referred to a committee. Mr. Henwood and Secretary Atherton were instrumental in hav-ing the board declare in favor of a speedy passage of the new legislation necessary to make the Providence pave reality. Secretary Atherton's plan for issuing monthly publication to be known as the Board of Trade Journal, was favorably received and referred to the publication committee.

Twenty-two New Cases Developed in the City Last Week.

There has been little or no abateent in the prevalence of diphtheria n this city, according to the board of health report for last week. Two reeeming features of the situation, however, are that the disease is nearly con-fined to two sections of the city and the mortality has been but slightly less than one death in ten new cases. The report shows 22 new cases and two deaths from the disease. The cases are located as follows: On the West

FUNERAL OF MISS SANDERSON. Was Held Yesterday at Her Parents

Clay Avenue Home. The funeral of Helen, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Sanderson, and niece of Mrs. Alfred Hand, took place from the residence of her parents, 405 Clay avenue, yesterday. After the gloom of the past few days the beautiful autumnal weather of the afternoon was especially welcome and it seemed fitting that the last scenes onnected with the life so like a flower in its untimely end should be enacted amid the sunshine and the blossoms she so much loved. Such quantities of blossoms as were ent from friends far and near to testify to their affection and loss, Rev. Dr. C. E. Robinson conducted the services and spoke with deep emotion of the loss sustained by the home, the church and the large circle affected by the departure of one of the most beautiful spirits he had ever known. He reverted in loving reminiscence to incidents in the days of her early girlhood, the beautiful enthusiasm, the fine, deep enjoyment of a rare nature in the mere realization of existence. utter unselfishness evinced in the careful preparations she had made to gladden the lives of others at the Christmas-tide she knew in her heart she should not see on earth.

Miss Katherine Timberman sang with feeling and tenderness "One Sweetly Solemn Thought." At the conclusion of the service a quartette composed of Mr and Mrs. W. J. Hand, Miss Harriet Hand and Mr. James B. Watson sang mother favorite hymn of the deceased, 'My Faith Looks Up to Thee." The burial was made in Dunmore cemetery. Under a canopy there the grass was carneted with masses of flowers. The brief service was conducted at the grave, which bore none of the chill, dreary appearance of the usual last resting place of mortality. The pallbearers were Messrs, Will Hanley, Robert and Ellison Snyder, Frank Linen, Burson Bevan and Harry Kirk-The funeral arrangements were admirably conducted by Director

COMMON PLEAS COURT.

Hull Released from Paying for "Dead Horse." Another Olyphant bank case was ried yesterday, when the second week of the November term of civil court egan. Hon. John P. Kelly, assignee of the defunct bank, was the plaintiff and W. H. Hull the defendant. It was suit on a $5,000 promissory note. Mr. Hull showed that he was besought by Cashier M. J. Stone to purchase a block of the bank's stock. On Jan. 27 he decided to buy $5,000 worth of the stock and gave his note for that amount The next day the bank failed. When these facts were shown, and the further fact that the stock was not delivered to him, the jury forthwith rendered a verdict for the defendant.

Judge Purdy, of Honesdale, who is specially presiding in court room No. 3, s engaged in trying the case of H. S. Worden against Mary Connell. It is a suit to recover $1,500 on a $1,950 contract for a house built for the defendant in Minooka by Minor G. Worden, who assigned the claim to the present plaintiff.

When the work was only fairly started Mrs. Connell discharged the contractor and had another finish the building, alleging that Worden was not doing the work according to the plans and specifications. She paid him $450, the difference between the contract price and what the second builder charged for completing the job. Suit is now brought to recover the balance, The testimony is almost entirely of an expert character, dealing with the question of whether or not Worden was doing the work according to contract.
