M'VEY ENTERS THE RING

The Referee Awards the Fight to Sharkey on a Foul-Action of Corbett's Second Undoubtedly Prevented a Knock Out as the Sailor Had the Best of the Battle from the Start-The Referee Declares Bets Off-A Riot Threatened.

New York, Nov. 22,-The Sharkey-Jorbett fight, which was witnessed by the largest and most representative gathering of sporting men that ever congregated to see a ring contest, ended in a most disgraceful fiasco tonight at the Lenox Athletic club. Corbett had all the worst of the encounter when one of his seconds, "Connie" McVey, jumped into the ring, appealing to the referee, thus violating the rules, and the referce, "Honest John Kelley, had no other alternative but to disqualify Corbett and award the bout to Sharkey. McVey's interference was absclutely inexcusable, and the referee believing there was a job in MeVey's action, took it upon himself to declare all bets off. Before Kelley did so, however, many of those who had bets on Corbett, and they were legion, appealed to the refto take such action, while Sharkeyites shouted against such interference on Kelley's part and protested that he had no authority to declare the bets off. However, the referce's word went with the majority of the spectators and consequently all money paid on wagers were refunded. It was an unfortunate and abrupt ending to what promised a most interesting fight. For weeks Corbett and Sharkey had trained faithfully and carefully for the contest and when they stripped tonight each of them showed in excellent condition. Sharkey was very confident of success and the manner in which he acquitted himself in the ring while the fight lasted showed very plainly that his confidence was founded on good ground. Those who believed that Sharkey could not fight fairly changed their opinion after the bout had gone one round. On the othhand. Corbett hit the sailor in the body rather low and Sharkey protested. Sharkey's quickness and aggressiveness was astonishing from the beginning and from the first it was evident that he held Corbett safely. In the second round there were wild yells from the admirers of the Irishman when he floored Corbett with a right swing on the head, preceded with a powerful blow on the body. Sharkey's rushes were successful invariably, and Jim's quickness and leg work were tested to their utmost in trying to evade the aggressive sailor pugilist. That Sharkey has improved wonderfully goes without saying, and on the other hand, that Corbett is not the Corbett of New Orleans is beyond question. At no time had the Californian the upper hand of his younger and more sturdy rival. Sharkey is a fighter and a clever one at that, and his work tonight stamps him beyond all doubt as being second only to Fitz-

UNLOOKED FOR INCIDENTS. From the second to the eighth round Sharkey held a decided advantage. In the third round, which was so productive of disappointments and unlooked for incidents, Corbett seemed to be stronger than at any time during the fight, but it was evident that he was slowly falling under Sharkey's onslaughts. It was two to one on Sharkey after the second round, and had not McVey acted as he did there is very little doubt that Sharkey would have won handliy. Some of the prominent bankers, brokers and business men in this and other cities were present during the mill, and not one of them could see any reason for interference by McVey. The general belief is that McVey acted for some unexplained motive, and some persons said that he jumped into the ring to prevent Corbett from going under When McVey first put his leg through the ropes the referee evidently did not or would not look in that direction. but continued to pay close attention to the fighters who were mixing it up in the center of the ring. Inspector McLaughlin caught hold of McVey to pull him out again, but the latter was evidently more auxious that Kelley should see him. In this he was more than successful, but not until after half the people in the house had yelled repeatedly to Kelley to disqualify Cor-

When the big Californian realized what had occurred he was furious with passion and rushed at McVey. Had he caught the latter there is no telling what Corbett would have done in his frenzy, but the police were on hand and rushed between the men, thus avoiding a scene which would have added to the disgraceful exhibition. Just what effect the untimely incident will have on the boxing game in this vicinity in future cannot now well be gauged, but that it will injure pugilists in this city is beyond question. A close estimate placed the attendance tonight at 9,000, and it was learned that the receipts exceeded $45,000. THE FIGHT BY ROUNDS.

which invariably landed on the body. Cor-bett failed to show any of the great elev-erness with which he has been credited. The round ended with Sharkey at his

Round 2-Corbett with the left lightly landed. There was an exchange with letts and rights on the head, in which Shackey showed to advantage. Jim kept trying to push his left into Tom's face and the sallor would come back with a swing on the body. He was it clined to be a trifle wild and was frequently cautioned by O'Rourke, his citef second. Tom put over a straight right on Jim's nose which seemed to bring the blood to that mem-her. Sharkes out in a right hand swing ber. Sharkey put in a right hand awing on Jim's jaw which sent Cerbett down. He attempted to repeat the dose but was foiled as Jim clinched. The round closed with Tom all over his man.

Round 3-Corbett led with his right for the body, landing. Sharkey responded in kind. Jim reached the body several times but Tom came right back with lefts on the head. A right on the body which stag-gered Jim. Sharkey whipped over a tre-mendous right smash on the jaw. The sailor's leads were ineffective, his coun-ters being the blows which cut the figure. Corbett kept jabbing lightly for the head and Sharkey came right back at him with right smashes on the wind.

Round 4—The sailor was right after his man and essayed lefts and rights for the head, landing each time. Corbett dinched and acted entirely on the de-fensive. Corbett led left for the head, anding on neck and Sharkey sent back a hard right on the body. Corbett began to do some punching and jabbed his man at will but at long range, but Tom always had a counter ready. Corbett re-peatedly led his left and damaged Sharkey's face considerably. The sailor chased his opponent into the latter's cor-ner and received a series of jabs for his

and Sharkey's punches. Round 6-Corbett led for the head with his left, landing, but Sharkey was right after him like a whirlwind. Tom started in to mix it up and whipped in some cors-ers on the body. Corbett retallated with like light jabs on the face and fairly forceful blows on the body. Midway through the round there was a rattling mix up, both exchanging lefts and rights on the head and body with the sailor having a shade the better of it. There were cries of foul, foul, when Corbett nit his man on a breakaway which the ref-erce had not called. The men were erce had not called. The men were clinched at the bell after participating in very fast mix up.

Round 7—Sharkey ran across the ring and planted left and right on the head. Corbett clinching. Corbett acted on the defensive and seemed unable to withstand Sharkey's rushes. The latter whipped in a beautiful left hook on the wind and fellowed it up with a right on the jaw. The sailer kept doing all the work and was always ready to mix it up on the slight st provocation. He alternately threw over lefts and right on head and body, occas-ionally changing to left hooks on the wind which were slowly but surely attending to Corbett's case. It is Sharkey's light so far. The pace was terrific.

Round 8-Sharkey was first to lead, hardting a left chop on the neck. They clinched frequently and the referee was kept busy separating them. Tem tried a left chop blow which fell short and Jim jabbed his eft hard on the nose. Sharkey sent right straight to face which made Jim's head rock, but Jim was ready with a left hook which grazed Sharkey's ear. Both men fought fast, clinching repeatedly. Jim hooked his right hard on Tom's Jaw, quickly recuperated and went back to his man hammet and tongs.

Tom went right back at the same mo-ment. Clinches were frequent and the men refused to break together. Corbett struck Tom low on the body and the sailor appealed to the referee. Corbett shoved Tom from him and said, "oh, you. go away." The men were in the center of the ring mixing it up in the livellest man-ner, O'Rourke calling to Tom not to mind Corbett's low hitting. Just at this moment for some unaccountable reason Mc-Vey, one of Corbett's seconds, jumped through the ropes, protesting that Sharkey had done something wrong to Corbett. The moment McVey climbed through the ropes Police Inspector Mc-Laughlin grabbed hold of him, while the crowd frantically yelled "foul, foul, Cor-bett loses; look at his second in the ring." Referee Kelley seemed to pay no atten-tion to the matter but kept looking at the fighters who continued their aggressive work. McVey tried to pull away from the inspector while the spectators kept yelling at the referee, who finally separated the fighters and ordered them to their corners. Corbett seemed not to understand why the refree should interfere and protested, but Kelley was obdurate stopped the bout Meanwhile the specta-ters stood and called that bets should be declared off, as they believe McVey committed the breach of ring rules pre-meditatedly. It looked for a while as if a riot would ensue but as soon as the referee declared Sharkey the win he announced all bets were

RUSH FOR SEATS.

House Sold Out by 1 O'clock and Speculators Reaped a Harvest.

The twenty round glove contest between James J. Corbett, of California, the ex-champion heavy weight boxer of the world, and Tom Sharkey, of Dundalk, Ireland, who first showed his prowess as a fighter while serving the United States as a blue jacket in the navy, drew an enormous crowd of sporting men to the Lenox Athletic club house tonight. In fact, such a representative gathering of the sporting element from all over the country was never within the city limits at one time before. The fact that the contest would certainly take place without any logal interference, induced many hundreds of followers and admurers of the art of self defense to make long journeys in order to be at the ringside when the fight took place. Nearly every city of any promincace in the United States was represented and in many instances delegations numbering over a hundred each, in charge of well known men from the different sporting circles. Weeks ago, when the tickets for seat were first put on sale, the shrewd peo who lived quite a long distance from the city either wrote or wired for seats to be reserved and hidding, so they saved themselves a lot of trouble upon their arrival here. Those who saw far enough ahead to do this ore only a comparative few, however, and for the past few days there was a lively scramble to secure good seats. Today not a seat was to be had at the club house after one o'clock and (Continued on Page &)

Philadelphia, Nov. 22,-An interesting rumor was circulated today to the effect that ex-State Treasurer Livesey was in town in pursuance of an levitation given him by John Wanamaker in one of his recent speeches, and that he would probably be called as a witness against Senator Quay.

Livesey left the state shortly after his term expired as state treasurer. and, it is said, that his whereabouts has been unknown for several years. Lavesey is named in one of the bills presented by the grand jury yesterday as one of the persons with whom Quay conspired, but he is not named as a defendant. The rumor further had it that District Attorney Graham knew of his presence in the city, and that Livesey was being kept in the back ground for a sensational production at the trial. find out, I would like very much to know of it. I would like to see Mr. Livesey, if he is in the city, and I get knowledge of it, I will take steps to have him arrested." Mr. Wanamaker, when told of the story, said:

"I did invite Mr. Livesey to come back to the state in one of my late specches. I think it was in the last one made at Lewistown, or the one before that. I cannot recall which just I have not heard that Livesey is to the city and know nothing and have heard nothing of him."

Washington, Nov. 22.-Rear Admiral Joseph M. Miller, recently detached from command of the Pacific station, was placed on the retired list today on account of age. The vacancy thus created in the highest grade of the navy will be filled by the promotion of Commodore H. L. Howison, now commanding the Boston navy yard. Captain H. F. Admiral Bunce is commandant of the New York navy yard, generally regarded as the most important shore command in the navy. Rear Admiral George Dewcy will be the ranking admiral in the navy upon the retirement of Admiral Bunce next month. It is understood that the president will recommend to congress the recreation of the office of admiral or vice admiral for the special benefit of Admiral Dewey, and there is not much doubt that congress will enact the necessary legislation. Commodore J. W. Philip, now in temporary command of the North Atlantic station, is mentioned as likely to receive the assignment to either the command of the New York navy vard or the Boston navy yard, both of which are shortly to be vacated by the retirement of the incumbent.

San Francisco, Nov. 22.-Don Mexmo Cortez and his brother, Don Angel Cortez, representing one of the most vealthy and distinguished families in Manila, have arrived here. They are on their way to Washington to see President McKinley for two purposes, one in the interest of annexation and mother to recover, if possible, through the kindly offices of the United States, large amount of property seized some nonths ago by the Spaniards. Don Maximo Cortez has a letter which, although addressed to "Whom It May Concern," seems to have been ntended in a large degree for the Washington authorities as a basis for the consideration of Cortez's claims:

New York, Nov. 22 .- Before the war investigation commission today Rev. Henry B. Bryan, of the Garden City cathedral, spoke of the manner in which the soldiers dying in the hos pitals were buried. Mr. Bryan went to Camp Wikoff on September 2.

"My duties led me to the morgue very day and I stopped in too see who had died during the night. saw the naked bodies of roldiers placed in bare pine coffins and the name of the man and his regiment written on the lid of the cottin. Roosevelt said, "there was a condition of utter confusion. We were dumped outside, a mile away from our camp. No one knew where the camp was There was no one to tell us where to go or what to do. After waiting 24 hours I took the law into my own hands and bought food for the men and horses. Later when we found our camp, we were alright."

His own regiment was assigned to the transport Yucatan. Incidentally he had heard that the Second infantry and the Seventy-first New York volunteers were also assigned to the Yucatan. As soon as he heard that he hurried on the Rough Riders and took possession of the ship and had it against the other regiments. His men had decided to get to Cuba and they got there.

Colonel Roosevelt then told how the regiment camped out for the night. Asked about the rations he said: "We had the regulation rations of salt pork, hard tack, coffee and sugar, but the men wanted vegetables and I wanted to get some for them. The department refused to rell me beans and tomatoes unless I could certify that they were for officers' consumption. I stretched my conscience as far as I could, and then boarded a transport and purchased about five hundred pounds of beans. "The ammunition supply was excellent. The food was insufficient.

Colonel Roosevelt said other regiments at the front suffered for the lack of supplies. One man of the First Illinois regiment visited the Rough Riders' camp and offered seven dollars for seven hard tacks. Two hundred men of the regiment came into the Rough Riders' camp and ate the broken hard Paris, Nov. 22.-The Spanish peace commissioners last night telegraphed to Madrid the substance of the United States memorandum presented yesterday and late in the evening they were discussing it among themselves. As late as 1 o'clock this morning, a Spanish commissioner affirmed that he and his colleagues did not know what to do regarding the American offer.

There is a difference of opinion among unofficial people near the commissions but the prediction is made that Spain will decline the offer of money; that she will refuse to cede the Philippines, and will say to the United States;

"You may take the archipelago beause you have the power to do so. As you advise we will retire, protesting against greedy aggression. We will faithfully carry out our protocol pledges and leave Cuba and Porto Rico in your hands. You came here to engage in a discussion under the terms of the protocol but you evidently meant when drawing up that docu-ment to provide a conference in which, we differ, man to man, you though proposed to announce at the proper time what you will do, whether we agree to it or object. Such an attitude robs the conference of a negotiative character and sets up the United States as a dominant power whose first purpose is to listen but whose ultimate determination is to do its own will." REMARKS OF RIOS.

As a matter of fact Senor Monterio Rios is reported to have used virtually such language and arguments as the foregoing. He said more, even indicating a degree of exasperation at the American offer of $20,000,000. His display of feeling and utterances, however, are not wholly approved by his Spanish colleagues, who did not hesitate to say as much after yesterday's session. Utterances later by a Spaniard of mportance, whose name is withheld for the present, indicates another line of action, a treaty cession of the Philip-Last night the Spanish commissioners sent the American proposition by a special messenger to Madrid, where it will arrive tomorrow. It is felt that the Spanish government must now answer the American ultimatum; but, as it is not likely that the answer of Madrid will arrive tomorrow in time for the commissioners to formulate their reply to the Americans by the afternoon, it is probable that the joint meeting will be deferred from tomorrow till a day later in the week. It is said today that Senor Montero Rios, president of the Spanish commission, at the conference yesterday, remarked after having heard the American offer, that if the vital portion had been read the Spaniards could answer it instantly but as the memorandum was very long they would defer their answer until Wednesday, adding that it would be easily possible to make it within $4 hours. On the other hand, it is said the Spaniards cannot justify themselves before their people and others by throwing away $20,000,000, added to the inevitable loss of the Philippine Islands.

The Gaulois today says: "The commissions being divided into an equal number of voices on the subject of the cersion or retention of the archipelago. a recourse to arbitration is absolutely necessary and legal. The Americans, nevertheless, refuse to do so and attribute to themselves sovereignty over the Philippines without the consent of the conference. They therefore themselves tear up the protocol they had imposed upon the vanquished and, to keep up appearances and soften in the eyes of the world the violence of their proceedings, they offer the abused compensation of $20,000,000.

JUDGE DAY'S CABLEGRAM. Washington, Nov. 22 .- A cablegram from Judge Day read at today's cabinet meeting, said that a reply from the Spanish commissioners to the latest memorandum submitted by our commissioners was expected at tomorrow's meeting. No intimation, however, had reached here as to what the Spanish reply would be. No doubt is entertained among members of the cabinet that a treaty will be signed within the next few days. The cabinet also discussed the Cuban situation and it was developed that the Spaniards hope to be able to complete the evacuation of Havana by Dec. 20,
